A daughter of Mr. C. Watson, of New-port, fractured her right arm by falling from the porch of her father's residence on Wednesday last.

Important changes have this week been made in the time table of the Phil-adelphia and Reading railroad. Travel-ers should make a note of the changes.

Samuel Davis of Marysville, while shifting cars at Baltimore, fell on the track, the wheels passing over his left arm injuring it so badly that amputation was neccessary.

A man named George Fry, fell into a vat at the Millerstown tannery on Wednesday and received considerable injury. The vat was empty and he fell on his head, injuring the brain.

Only nineteen persons were killed on the railroad trains of the United States during the month of August, while twenty-eight were killed at home on

On Thursday morning Jas. E. Ste-phens, of Buffalo twp., was threshing, and by some means or other not known, the upright shaft of the power got out of fix, breaking all the cogs off the wheel.

Henry Reeder, of Miller twp., also broke his horse-power badly a few days ago, in a somewhat similar manner. The power is now in the hands of E. Thomas & Bro., for repairs.—Ledger.

The election proclamation in the Cumberland county papers is condensed into half a column. In this county it takes several columns. We suppose poor Cumberland county cannot afford to pay for so much printing.

A Cumberland county man was fined $35 for catching fish in a fish basket.— If the law was carried out in this county it would lessen the fun of the fisher-

The Shippensburg News celebrated the anniversary of its Thirty-seventh volume by appearing in an enlarged form and a bran new dress. It makes a marked improvement in the paper.

A business meeting of the Y. M. C. Association will meet at Amos Foulk's residence on Friday evening next. Also a regular election of officers. A full turn out of members is requested.

The Bloomfield band, have taken a new start this fall. In addition to making progress in their music they have improved their uniforms by adding plumes, belts and epauleftes, making a handsome drass. handsome dress.

A subscriber from Juniata Co., writes us in renewing his subscription, that he has a copy of every issue of The Times since the paper was started, including the monthly editions. We think few can say that.

About half-past ten o'clock Thursday night a man named Charles Smith, a married man, who resided on Wallace street near Cumberland, was almost instantly killed in the yards of the Pennsylvania railroad above the round houses, at Harrisburg.

On Tuesday last, Constables Sailor of Newport and McConnell of Buffalo twp., had an exciting hunt and chase after Jessie and Sam. Johnson for whom warrants had been issued. They however did not succeed in catching their birds, but will probably have better success next time.

A Japanese that works at Mullin's paper mill in Mt. Holly has applied for naturalization papers. After a hearing in the matter, Judge Herman granted the application, and the applicant, Takaha-she-kichi-Taro, is now an American citizen of "Japanese descent."

G. W. Baughman writing from Sac county, Iowa, says "times out there are good, crops excellent and work plenty.— There are quite a number of Perry Co. people in that vicinity, and room for many more. Wages from 15 to $20 per month.

A correspondent says "there are four-teen fish baskets in the Juniata between Newport and Millerstown dam, and wants to know why the proper official does not take notice of this violation of the law." Suppose the correspondent makes his complaint direct to the au-ities instead of through a newspaper?

Mr. Chas. S. Kitner, of this borough, has two pumpkins in his lot on High street, which we opine are hard to beat. One of the pumpkins weigh 60 pounds and is 5 feet 7 inches in circumference; the other one weighs 52 pounds and measures 4 feet 4 inches in circumference. The pumpkins both grew on one vine.

For some days past Mr. P. L. Sheets has been engaged in repairing different sewing machines in this town. He does his work to the satisfaction of all who have employed him. Having done in this place, he now proposes to visit other portions of the county, and ladies may entrust their sewing machines to him with the expectation of having them put in perfect order.

Severely Injured. - On last Monday, Mr. Wm. Kepner, residing in Centre tp., was injured by falling from an apple tree on his father's farm in Juniata township. He was standing on a ladder which rested upon a limb of the tree, and the limb breaking, he was precipitated to the ground, receiving severe internal injuries.

Fine Wheat .- Mr. Frank A. Van Camp brought about three bushels of wheat (measured) to the Messrs. Jones Bros. & Co.'s warehouse, in this place, in exchange for cloverseed, which, when weighed, aggregated twenty-eight pounds more than the standard requirement .-The wheat was grown by Mr. Van Camp on Mr. Wm. Evans' farm, in Miller township,-News,

Run Over. - On Wednesday a little three-year son of H. L. Hohenshildt, Esq., of this borough, while playing in the street, was knocked down by a horse attached to a spring wagon loaded with apples and cider. The driver, W. H. Brunner, saw the child in time to stop as the wheel was on the little fellow's bowels, and then backed off before the hind wheel passed over him. For some hours it seemed as though the boy's injuries were dangerous, but we are pleased to be able to state that he is out again, though he may for some time feel the effects of the internal injury.

The Town Council have decided to erect a building for an engine house, having in it a room for council meetings, school board meetings, &c. The place they propose to put it is the eastern corner of the lot adjoining the bank, and to this some objection is made by some citizens. Consequently an injunction was asked for to prevent their using the lot for that purpose. A temporary injunction was granted, and Saturday was set as the day for a hearing in the

On Saturday Judge Junkin declined to hear argument or to decide the case, as he was an interested party. On Monday another Judge will be pr cide the matter. Judge Junkin however seems to think that the lot can only be used by the public, and that no building can be put on it.

Burglary.-On Thursday night some midnight mechanics entered the Mansion House in this borough, and made a general inspection of the dining room, cellar, barroom etc., in each of which place, marks of the visit were left.

In the barroom the money drawer was broken open and the lock of the desk was forced off, and about three or four dollars in change was taken. Entrance to the barroom was made by forcing open the shutter with a wheel gouge which had been stolen from the wagon shop of Stouffer & Crist. This shop had been entered by removing the window fastening through a broken pane of glass, and several burnt matches dropped around showed they had lelsurely hunted around their building. The work was evidently done by some person well acquainted with the premises entered, and it behoves our citizens to "look a leetle oud" for visits the scamps may make to other places, and be ready to give a warm reception. Upon further examination, Stouffer & Crist find several other tools were taken.

The nail factory is running on full force this week with a raise of ten per cent. on the wages, which looks very encouraging.

The river is so low that it would not be a difficlut job to go over on the rocks in some places.

From a letter received from Wm. E. S. Baker, Esq., Sec. and Asst. Treasurer of the Duncannon Iron Co., of Philadelphia, says: "The iron business is in a very peculiar state; the advances began with the raw materials, which are very scarce, there being almost a famine in forge pig iron. It has advanced over 100 per cent., while bar iron, nails, etc., have not risen over 60 per cent. That makes it rough for the mills, as they always have orders to fill at low prices." -Duncannon Record.

Strangled in its Cradle. - The wife of Ell Books, who resides about two miles northeast of Harrisburg, while temporarily absent from her house placed the baby in a cradle. A light cord had been placed across the top of the cradle in order to keep the clother on it, while the mother was attending to some domestic duties in the yard. In her absence the baby by some means got its head through the cord and strangled itself to death .- Telegraph.

Bitten by Snakes .- The Waynesboro' Gazette is responsible for the following: "Last week two gentlemen visiting Penmar were bitten by snakes, one a garter,' and the other a rattlesnake. The latter mentioned had killed the rattlesnake, and put it in his pocket. On reaching his hand into his pocket to show his game to a friend, he was bitten in the fore finger. Knowing that he had killed the snake he was somewhat surprised at this, but still more surprised when upon examination of the pocket, he discovered several small rattlesnakes, which the old one had evidently swallowed. Free use of whiskey counteracted the poisonous bite.

Indians at Carlisle .- First Lieutenant R. H. Pratt of the 10th United States Cavalry arrived at Carlisle Barracks last week with eighty-four Indians - sixtyone boys and twenty-three girls. Eightytwo belong to the Sloux tribe, eighteen of this number (twelve boys and six girls) coming from the old Red Cloud (now Pine Ridge) Agency on White Earth creek, Dakota, now in charge of Agent Major V. McGlleuddy. Among these are children of such noted chiefs as American Horse, High Wolf and Black Bear. Sixty-four-forty-seven boys and seventeen girls-come from the old Spotted Tail (now Rose Bud) Agency in Dakota, now in charge of Agent Maj. C. Newell. Among these are five children, four boys and one girl, of the noted chief Spotted Tail, one boy of White Thunder, one boy and one girl of Two Strike, one boy and one girl of Black Crow, one boy and one girl of Good Voice, one girl of Brave Bull, one boy of Standing Cloud, etc.

The remaining two boys are from Menominee tribe of Wisconsin. At present they are clad in their native dress, but it is the intention of Lieutenant Pratt to have them adopt our habits in dress as fast as practicable. An inter-preter accompanied the party from Dakota.

What a Newport Boat Caused. - While Mrs. Ream and daughter, of Rockville, were coming down the road from that place, along the canal, to this city, with a load of produce for the West Harrisburg market, Saturday, they urged the horse they were driving to step over a rope stretched from the canal boat stock yards with a load of baled hay, to the fence, in order to hold the craft still until the load was removed. The horse refused to obey the driver, and began to balk, moving backwards, until finally it tipped the wagon over the canal bank into seven feet of water, upsetting the load and occupants. The hands engaged in taking the hay out ran to the assistance of the women, and after much difficulty succeeded in rescuing them. Miss Ream was for a while in a perilous situation, having been fastened down by the wagon, and was with great difficulty rescued. The ladies were taken to the Stock Yard hotel and were promptly the Stock Yard hotel and were promptly attended to. The horse was also removed from the canal in a half-drowned condition, but the wagon was considerably damagad. Mr. Ream, who is a miller and a man of means, will, it is reported, bring suit against the captain of the boat for obstructing the public highway and for loss of the produce and breaking of his wagon. — Harrisburg Patriot of the 7th inst.

This beautiful little vale with its improve-This beautiful little vale with its improvements is moving along lively. Though it has been unjustly styled by the "vulgar," a dreary, desolate place, yet we can boast of being industrious enough to raise the best wheat that was on exhibition at the State Fair. So much for the Valley. Should not Mr. Esterline feel rejoiced on account of raising this very, very heavy wheat?

The dwelling house of Mrs. David Banks, in Fermanagh township, took fire in some unknown way last Saturday morning about nine o'clock, and was burned to the ground. The fire may have orininated from a spark from the chimney, as the flames were first seen near the chimney; or it may have originated from a spark from a pile of rubbish that was being burned in the yard. The household goods were all saved. No insurance. The value of the house ranged between $700 and $1,200.— Sentinel.

Wednesday of last week Mr. Benjamin Jacobs, of Turbett twp., was engaged in cutting cloverseed in his orchard, with a mower, to which several horses were attached. He stopped the horses and got off the mower and walked around to the side the cutter bar was on, and while in the act of picking up an apple the team started off at a lively rate of speed toward the barn. On their way thither the mower come in contact with an apple tree, and, uot being as easily cut off as cloverseed, the mower was demolished, breaking it to such an extent as to render it entirely useless. In the afternoon Mr. Jacobs hitched the same team to a road wagon and drove to a team to a road wagon and drove to a saw mill some distance from his farm. While there the horses took fright and ran away. In their flight they threw one of the horses down, dragging it quite a distance over a rough road, using up the poor brute pretty badly.—Port Royal Times.

FOR THE BLOOMFIELD TIMES. The Other Side of the Question.

The Other Side of the Question.

Mr. Editor :—I notice in your last issue an article on the The Newport Bridge, now being built under contract with the country, in which palpable injustice is done the contractor. The Commissioners never objected to the placing of any particular kind of stone in the work; but, on the contrary, the contractor did object to the commissioners having the masons put stone in the wing walls that were intended for the face of the abutments, and he so notified the Commissioners. And further, that if they insisted on having those kind of stone put into the wing walls, he would abandon the work, for such was no part of the contract nor included in the specifications.

The Commissioners falled to give a satisfactory reply to this request, the contractor then notified the masons to stop work, and take a measurement of what they had done, and he would pay them. The Commissioners then replied, that they would not insist on having such stone put in the wing, walls, but they wanted a good job, and wanted placed in the wing-walls a large stone here and there among the small ones, which the contractor did not object to, although the specifications made no provision for any particular size of stones to be used in the wing-walls.

In regard to the charge that a demand hand been made on the contractor for wages due them is not the fact, as there was no demand made upon him for money by any workman upon the contractor received his from the Commissioners, and It was so done, and entirely satisfactory to them, until the commissioners were to pay the contractor he second payment when the work was half done, but refused to do it, when the contractor has econd payment when the work was half done, but refused to do it, when the contractor has soon that when the commissioners were to pay the contractor the second payment when the work was half done, but refused to do it, when the contractor made a demand upon them. The work has progressed ever since the first pick was struck in the foundations, and will be

By giving this a place in your widely read paper, you will not only be doing justice to a misrepresented and lied about gentleman, but favor a reader of The Times.
