A Pleasant Likeness. They were looking at the hippopotamus at the aquarium. Said she, "Augustus, dear, did you say that was a horse?" "Yes duckie, I did; a river horse." "Well, isn't he made up wrong, or deformed, or something of that sort?" "Oh, no; that's the only model of blood stock they have in Africa; he isn't very pretty, is he?" "Well no, not very; but do you know he reminds me of you sometimes, Augustus, dear?" "How, dearie?" "When he shuts his eyes and drifts into those delicious phases of review?" "No, you old blessing, it's when he yawns."

What Nancy Jane Said. Nancy Jane Pratt lives with her husband on a farm in Iroquois county, Illinois. The other day she saw a man near the house with a gun and dog, and conceivably requested him to "git." He answered: "Oh, you ain't in any danger; I ain't huntin' old maids." She went and got a gun too, and shot his dog dead. The man, somewhat intimidated, said: "Do you mean to murder me?" She answered: "Oh, you ain't in any danger, I ain't huntin' for old fools." Just then her husband came in, and the other man left in double-quick time.

"No man shall ever kiss me except my future husband," she said, as he was about leaving her at the gate. "Suppose I agree to be your future—" "Why, then I'll kiss you," she replied eagerly, and she did. Her mother was informed that he had proposed, and the old lady called the next day to settle matters, and before he knew it, he was eternally hooked. It was a mean advantage; but a bird in the hand is worth two on the front gate.

An enterprising superintendent at one of the Sunday Schools in St. Albans, Vt., was engaged one Sunday in catechising the scholars, varying the usual form by beginning at the end of the catechism. After asking what were the prerequisites of the holy communion and confirmation, and receiving satisfactory replies, he asked, "And now, boys, tell me what must precede baptism?" Whereupon a lively urchin shouted out, "A baby, sir."

Baptist minister fishing near Cape Cod catches a strange fish, and asks of the skipper: "What manner of fish is this, my good man? It has a curious appearance." "Yass! Only been round this year." "What do you call it?" "We call 'em Baptist." "Why so?" "Cause they spile so quick arter they come out of the water?"

At a legal investigation of a liquor seizure the Judge asked an unwilling witness: "What was in the barrel that you had?" The reply was: "Well, your Honor, it was marked 'whiskey' on one end of the barrel and 'Pat Duffy' on the other end, so that I can't say whether it was whiskey or Pat Duffy was in the barrel, being as I am on my oath."

After trying in vain to start a balky mare the driver touched her flank with his lighted cigar, saying: "I've tried all means to start her; now I'll try to back her."—Boston Com. Bulletin. The coroner's verdict was death from reaction.

Boy: "What are you crying for Sally?" Girl: "Cos I got the toothache." Boy: You go around to my grandmother. She'll show yer what to do; she knows how to take hers out an' put 'em' back whenever she wants.

Says the McGregor (Iowa) News: "The weather is not only unreliable but unprincipled. Last Sunday it rained all day on a camp-meeting and shone all day Monday on a circus."

"I had no time to stuff the chicken, apologized the landlady to her boarders. "Never mind, madam; it's tough enough as it is," replied one of them.

"If there's no moonlight will you meet me by gaslight, dearest Juliana?" "No, Augustus, I won't," replied she; "I'm no gas meter."

It is a mean man who would fool a fish by wearing a white choker and clerical coat when strolling along the banks of a brook on Sunday.
