THE SUN FOR 1880.

THE SUN FOR 1880.

THE SUN will deal with the events of the year issue in its own fashion, now pretty well understood by overybedy. From January I until December 31, it will be conducted as a newspaper, written in the English language, and printed for the people.

As a newspaper, THE SUN believes in petiting all the news of the world promptly, and presenting it in the most intelligent shape—the shape that will enable its readers to keep well alreads of the are with the least unproductive expenditure of time. The greatest interdiction of the same with the least unproductive expenditure of time. The greatest interdiction is readers to keep well alreads of the are with the least unproductive expenditure of time. The greatest interdiction is not be supported to spend interded and productive as all times controlling daily an income which it is at all times prospered to spend liberally for the benefit of its readers. People of all conditions of life and all ways of thinking buy and read THE SUN and they all derive satisfaction of some surf trom its columns, for they keep on buying and reading it.

In its comments on men and affairs, THE SUN believes that the only guide of policy should be common sense, inspired by genuine American principles and backed by honesty of purpose. For this reason it is and will continue to be, absolutely independent to party, class, clique, organization, or interest. It is for all, but of none. It will continue to praise what is good and reprobate what is evil, taking care that its sunders is to the point and plain, beyond the possibility of being misunderstood. It is uninfluenced by motives that do not appear on the surface; it has no opinion to sell, save those which may be had by any purchaser with two cents. It hates injustice and reaching event whose than it hates undecessary words, it abhors frauda, pities fusia, and depictore minompropose of every species. It will continue throughout the year 1886 to chamber to first the first class, and depictores minompropose of every species. It clearly and fearlessly in their relations to expediency and right.

Thus, with a habit of philosophical good humor in looking at the minor affairs of life, and in great things a steadfast purpose to maintain the rights of the people and the principles of the Constitution against all aggressors. The Sun is prepared to write a truthful, instructive, and at the same time entertaining history of 180.

The Hoosler and the Yankee.

"Wal, now, stranger," said the Yankee, "suppose you tell us about your own country; you're the only man I ever seen from the West, that didn't die of fever n'agur."

"Well, old Yankee, I'll just tell you all about it. If a farmer in our country plants his ground with corn and takes first-rate care on it, he'll get a hundred bushels to the acre; if he takes middlin' care of it, he'll get seventy-five bushels to the acre; and if he don't plant it all he'll git fifty."

The beets grow so large that it takes three yoke of oxen to pull a full sized one; and then it leaves a hole so large, that I once knew a family of five of children, who all tumbled into a beet hole once before it got filled up, and the earth caved in upon them and they all perished. The trees grow so large that I once knew a man, who commenced cutting one down, and when he had cut away on one side for about ten days, he thought he'd just take a look round the tree : and when he got round on t'other side, he found a man there who had been cutting at it for three weeks-and they never heard one other's axes.

I have heard tell, yet somewhat doubt that story, that the Ohio parsnips have sometimes grown clean through the earth, and have been pulled by the people on t'other side."

"Wal, now," says the Yankee, "I rather guess as how you've told enough, stranger, for the present. How'd you like to trade for some clocks to sell out West ?"

" Never use 'em-with keep time altogether with pumpkin-vines. You know they grow just five feet an hour, and that an inch a minute. Don't use clocks at all. It's no use, old Yankee, we can't trade, no how."

The Yankee gave up beat, and suddenly cleared out.

Cost of the "Know How."

There was much gumption evinced by that particular darkey whose master was a surgeon, who had performed on another darkey an operation requiring a high degree of skill. This latter darkey was well-to-do, and the surgeon charged him twenty-five dollars for the operation. Meeting the doctor's servant afterwards this dialogue occured; "Dat was a mighty steep charge of the doctor's for cutting on me tudder day."

"How much did de boss charge?" "Well Julius, he charged me twentyfive dollars."

"Go 'long, niggah, dat aint much charge." "Well, he wasn't more dan three or four minutes doin' it, and I tink five dollars was all he oughter took." 'Look-a-heah Sam; you don't un'stan bout dat ting. You see de boss have to spend a great many years larnin' how to use dat knife, an' it cost him heaps o' money. Now de fact am dat he only charge you five dollars for de operation; de tudder twenty he charge for de know

The Sharp Nosed Gentleman.

The Little Rock, Arkansas, Gazette states, that during the great struggle in the last presidential canvass, a young man whose face nature had formed a little on the pick-axe style, was one public day surrounded by a number of hearers attentively listening to his efforts in electioneering, amongst whom was a plain old farmer who was afflicted with stammering, who thus accosted the said gentleman ; "T-tell me my friend didididn't you came from a rich na-ha bourhood?" "Yes the people are most all well pro-tion?" "Because the scriptures say that the rich grind the faces of the poor, and I see they have g-got yours down -to a ppoint!" The sharp nosed gentleman
