HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. An Irish gentleman, while playing cards finding the pool deficient, exclaimed: "Here's a shilling short—who put it in?" A shrewd little fellow, who had begun to read Latin, astonished his master by the following translation: Vir, a man—gin, a trap—Virgin, a mantrap. An English traveler in the Holy Land, it is said, has discovered Jacob's Well. We are delighted to hear it. There has been a rumor afloat that Jacob was dead. A Kentuckian went west not long since without any especial purpose, but merely as he said, "to get the hang of frontier life." He got it, and the horse was restored to its rightful owner. Two ladies presented themselves at the door of a fancy ball; and on being asked by the usher what characters they personated, they replied that they were not in special costume. Whereupon he bawled out: "Two ladies without any characters!" A German newspaper contains an obituary in which occurs the following: "Our dear son Gustav lost his life by falling from the spire of the Lutheran church. Only those who know the exact height of the steeple can measure the depth of our grief." An abundance of guests and limited lodging-rooms caused Jimmy to be "slept out" at a neighbor's. On arising in the morning he was invited to breakfast. "Well, I guess not," he replied, "we have mighty good breakfast at our house when we have company." At the Yorktown celebrations the other day an Englishman, after surveying the situation and surroundings said; "I well understand now why Lord Cornwallis surrendered Yorktown. If I owned such a place I would give it up myself." The author of "Grandfather's Clock" is at last meeting his punishment. One of his daughters not able to stand the tick any longer, recently stopped short before a clergyman with a runaway young man, promised never to go single any more, and the old man nearly died. "I can't get coin for greenbacks!" yelled a stump orator, while denouncing John Sherman. "I know the reason," said a small boy. "Why?" asked the orator. "Because ye hev'n't got the greenbacks, was the answer. "Why do we say in the Lord's Prayer, 'who art in heaven,' since God is everywhere?" asked a clergyman of some children. For a while no one answered. At last, seeing a little drummer boy who looked as if he could give an answer, the clergyman said: "Well, little soldier, what say you?" "Because it's his head-quarters," replied the drummer. A Godly parson complained to an elderly lady of his congregation, that her daughter appeared to be wholly taken up with trifles or worldly finery, instead of fixing her mind on things above. "You are certainly mistaken, sir," said she. "I know that the girl appears to an observer to be taken up with worldly things; but you cannot judge correctly of the direction her mind really takes, as she is a little cross-eyed." Where He Left Him. Meeting at court one day, Rochester, with mock politeness thus accosted Dr. Barrow, the witty divine: "Doctor, I am yours to my shoe tie;" to which Barrow rejoined, "My Lord I am yours to the ground;" followed by Rochester with "Doctor, I am yours to the centre;" to which the doctor retorted, "My Lord, I am yours to the antipodes." Rochester scorning to be foiled by a piece of musty divinity, as he termed Barrow, replied, "Doctor, I am yours to the bottomless pit," whereupon Barrow turning on his heel, quietly observed, "There, my Lord I leave you!" Rather too Hasty. A Columbus (Miss.) paper says; a colored man who had contracted a debt some years ago with one of our merchants came to town yesterday and called on his old creditor. "Didn't you 'splain to me dat if I settled up dat account you would give me a 'lowance?" said the darkey to the merchant. "Yes I did say so, Sam, and if you are ready to settle your bill now I will make a good allowance," said the merchant, waiting for the colored individual to pull out his pocketbook. "Well sir, I hasn't got de money just now but I thought I'd come in and get de 'lowance; my wife wants a shawl."

THE SUN FOR 1880. THE SUN will deal with the events of the year 1880 in its own fashion, now pretty well understood by everybody. From January 1 until December 31, it will be conducted as a newspaper, written in the English language, and printed for the people. As a newspaper, THE SUN believes in getting all the news of the world promptly, and presenting it in the most intelligent shape—the shape that will enable its readers to keep abreast of the age with the least unproductive expenditure of time. The greatest interest to the greatest number—that is, the law controlling the destinies of the human race—is the subject of THE SUN; and they all derive satisfaction of some sort from its columns, or they keep on buying and reading it. In its comments on men and affairs, THE SUN believes that the only guide to policy should be common sense, inspired by genuine American principles and backed by honest purpose. For this reason it is, and will continue to be, absolutely independent of party, class, clique, organization, or interest. It is for all, but of none. It will continue to praise what is good and reprobate what is evil, taking care that its language is to the point and plain, beyond the possibility of being misunderstood by the general reader. It does not appear on the surface; it has no opinions to sell, save those which may be had by any purchaser with two cents. It has no influence and no authority even more than it has unnecessary words, it shuns frauds, piques, foils, and deplores nincompoops of every species. It will continue to be independent of the political parties, and will continue to be independent of the political parties, and will continue to be independent of the political parties. These are the principles upon which THE SUN will be conducted during the year to come. The year 1880 will be one in which no patriotic American can afford to close his eyes to public affairs. It is impossible to exaggerate the importance of the political events which it has in store, or the necessity of resolute vigilance on the part of every citizen who desires to preserve the Government that the founders gave us. The debates and acts of Congress, the utterances of the press, the exciting contents of the Republican and Democrat parties, will be nearly equal in strength throughout the country, the various drift of public sentiment, will all bear directly and effectively upon the twenty-fourth Presidential election, to be held in November. Four years ago next November the will of the nation, as expressed by the people, was thwarted by an abominable conspiracy, the promoters and beneficiaries of which still hold the offices they stole. Will the crime of 1876 be repeated in 1880? The question is one of the most important that the people have to consider. THE SUN will be on hand to chronicle the facts as they develop, and to exhibit them clearly and fearlessly in their relations to expediency and right. With a habit of philosophical good humor in looking at the minor affairs of life, and in great things a stern determination to maintain the rights of the people and the principles of the Constitution against all aggressions, and at the same time a cheerful and unflinching history of 1880. Our rates of subscription remain unchanged. For the Daily Sun, a four-page paper of 28 columns, the price, postage paid, is $3 a month, or $24 00 a year, or, including the Sunday paper, an 8-page sheet of 56 columns, the price is 65 cents a month, or $7 70 a year, postage paid. The Sunday edition of The Sun is also furnished separately at $1 20 a year, postage paid. The price of the Daily Sun, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free. J. W. ENGLAND, Publisher of THE SUN, New York City.
