KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE

Is a sure cure for spavin, splint, curb, callous, sprain, swellings and all enlargements of the joints of limbs. It will completely remove a bone spavin without blistering or causing a sore.

Statement Made Under Oath. To Whom It May Concern:—In the year 1875 I treated with Kendall's Spavin Cure a bone spavin of several months' growth, nearly half as large as a hen's egg, and completely stopped the lameness and removed the enlargement.

JOHN G. JENNE, Justice of the Peace. Office U. S. Marshall, Western Dist. of Mich., Kalamazoo, Apr. 14th, 1876.

B. J. Kendall, Enosburg Falls, Vt.—Dear Sir:—I received the two bottles of your spavin cure forwarded by express in January last. I am happy to state that it performed all your advertised merit called for. In three weeks after I commenced using it, the spavin was entirely removed and a valuable horse restored to usefulness.

Send address for Illustrated Circular, which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. It remedies has ever met with such unqualified success, to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

HOSTETTER'S BITTERS

A stout backbone is essential to physical health as to political consistency. For weakness of the back and disorder of the liver and kidneys, the tonic and moderate dietetic action of the Bitters is the one thing needful.

THE SUN FOR 1880. THE SUN will deal with the events of the year 1880 in its own fashion, now pretty well understood by every body.

As a newspaper, THE SUN believes in getting all the news of the country, and presenting it in the most intelligent and accurate manner possible.

In its comments on men and affairs, THE SUN believes in the only standard which should be common to all, inspired by justice, patriotism and honesty.

These are the principles upon which THE SUN will be conducted during the year to come.

The year 1880 will be one in which patriotic Americans are called to close their eyes to public affairs.

These men are now intruding to restore their leader and themselves to places from which they were driven by the indignation of the people.

These, with a habit of philosophical good humor in looking at the minor affairs of life, and in great things a steadfast purpose to maintain the rights of the people and to execute the duties of citizenship.

The coming year will bring the answers to these momentous questions. The Sun will be on hand to chronicle the facts as they are developed, and to exhibit them clearly and fearlessly in their relations to expediency and right.

The price of the Sun is 10 cents a copy, or $3.00 a year in advance. Single copies are 10 cents.

A Troubled Dutchman.

A gentleman of Teutonic extraction came into our office the other day and inquired if we were in. We replied we were.

Said he, "I vaudt to haf my wife put in de paper."

"How?" we benignly inquired. "I vaudt to haf my wife put in de paper," he repeated.

"O! you wish your wife advertised," we considerably returned. "Yaas," he retorted.

"You see," he explained, "we haf lots drooble about dot poy Yawcob, he vas me wife's son by his own fater, und I vas toldt her, who vas dot fater! und zhe say 'dote not soon of your biness,' und she vas gedt maid und dis morning she vendt auf mit her fater's house.

Now I vaudt it in de paper dot zhe not idrusht any peeples on my ackoundt." "Has she left your bed and board without any cause or provocation?" we sympathetically asked.

"Val," he said, "zhe dakes no pedts mit her und no lumper too."

"You don't understand, I mean has she gone away without any reason," we said.

"Oh val I don't know if she stay dere midout soon reason oder not, aber I wandt her in de paber so zhe' doudt vas coom back," said he. "How long zhe vas in de paber before I can get marriet again?"

"You can't get married again without first obtaining a divorce," we explained. "Deforce! vat ish dot?" he asked.

"Why, you must bring her into court and have a lawsuit; then if the judge thinks she ought not to be your wife any longer and says so, then you are at liberty to marry again," we replied.

"Got to haf a lawsuit," cried he terrified. "Py a tam zight no! I vaudt no more lawsuit; she haf a lawsuit on me ven ve vas marriet, und if I dondt vas marriet her she vas cosht me more ash twenty tollars. No py cracious I vaudt no more lawsuit. I run away mit my pruder-in law's wife und cosht me nothing. Goot pye." And he was gone.

Lawyer Turned Carpenter.

The lawyer who "filed a bill, shaved a note, cut an acquaintance, split a hair, made an entry, raised a hail, got up a case, framed an indictment, empanelled a jury, put them in a box, named a witness, hammered a judge, chiseled a client, and bored the whole court," all in one day—has since "laid down the law," and turned carpenter.

An old Scotch lady, who had no relish for modern church music, was expressing her dislike for the singing of an anthem in her own church one day, when a neighbor said, "Why that is a very old anthem; David sang that anthem to Saul." To this the old lady replied: "Weel, weel, I noo for the first time understand why Saul threw his javelin at David when the lad sang to him."

A little boy was told by his grandmother to turn down a leaf in the family Bible every time he told a lie. At the end of the week the old lady asked him how many lies he had told during the seven days. He silently handed her the holy book. She turned over page after page, and at length said angrily: "Why you little brat, you've lied all the way from Genesis to Revelations, and half way through the Psalms."

A shirt has two arms, the same as pantaloons have two legs. Yet one is called a pair, and the other is only one. Isn't it about time that we let up on politics and pay a little more attention to the every day trifles that vex the clearest minds?

"Come, doctor, it's ten o'clock; I think we had better be going, for it's time honest folks were at home?" "Well yes," was the reply, "I must be off, but you needn't go on that account."

You never saw my hands as dirty as that," said a petulant mother to her little girl. "No, but your ma did," was the reply.

An ignorant old lady was asked by a minister visiting her if she had religion. She replied: "I have slight touches of it occasionally."

Why is a chicken sitting on a fence like a cent? Because the head is on one side and the tail on the other!

There is no necessity of "keeping your powder dry," when you are loading a squirt-gun.
