The young lady who comes out of her boudoir so sleek and cool and fresh and pink and white and sparkling thinks she is mighty nice, and the joke of it is she is right.

A punster was once thrust into a closet with the threat that he would not be released until he made a pun. Almost instantaneously he exclaimed, "O pun the door."

An unmarried lady, on the wintery side of fifty, hearing of the marriage of a young lady her friend, observed, with a deep and sentimental sigh, "Well, I suppose it is what we all must come to."

A man went to the theatre when Mrs. Blank was advertised to appear in two pieces. After the play he demanded the return of his money, for the lady had appeared whole in both performances.

A canny Scotchman inquired of a fellow-trader: "Is Colonel B. a man to be trusted?" "I think you'd find him so," was the reply. "If you trust him once you will trust him forever."

A lady stepped into a store and asked the new clerk if he had any "rock candy?" "No, madam," he replied; "I have not any rock handy, but here's a brick you're welcome to, if it will answer your purpose."

A few Sundays since a teacher in the Sunday school of an Episcopal church in Chicago said to one of her pupils: "James, what good thing are you willing to give up as a sacrifice during Lenten season?"

James meditated about ten seconds and responded: "I think I'll give up going to Sunday school."

A lady writes an indignant note to a contemporary, in which, with true rustic innocence, she expresses a belief that editors never go to heaven. We thought even country people knew that journalists never went anywhere. They don't get the chance. They just sit up nights thinking how to do good, until the tops of their heads wear holes through their hair.

Beside a straw stack sat a tramp—a jolly tramp, and wise—who while he patched his tattered coat, did thus soliloquize: "It seems so sad that my lone life doth ever downward tend, and rags me into wretchedness; but still I'll on the mend. And when I needle little cash, I make no loud laments, but by a straw-stack sit me down, and gather in my rents."

Early in the present century Mr. Sampson Levy was a prominent member of the Philadelphia bar. A client called on him one day and stated his case with considerable prolixity, concluding with the question: "Now, Mr. Levy, what do you think I had better do?"

"If I were you," he replied, "I would go home and put a ten-dollar note in my pocket-book and go to some lawyer of my acquaintance and ask his advice about the matter."

The client's pocket-book immediately appeared. When one of his clients died Mr. Levy was accustomed to say: "There goes a groundrent."

She Took Sugar in Her'n. The coach stopped to change horses at a hotel in one of the Western States, when one of the guards, a big, red-faced droll man, came bustling up to the window to see if the "insides" wanted anything.

"Guard," whispered an old lady, "Well, ma'am, what can I do for you?" "Could you"—in a faint voice—could you get me a glass of water?"

"To be sure, ma'am; with all the pleasure in life!" "And, guard,"—still fainter—"I'd-hem I'd—a like it hot."

"Hot water! Oh, all right ma'am. Why not, if it is pleasing to you?" "With a lump of sugar, guard, if you please."

"By all manner of means, ma'am." "And—and—guard, dear,—a small squeeze of lemon, and a little, just a thimbleful of—of spirits through it."

"Och, isn't that punch?" shouted the guard. "Where was the use of you beating about the bush? Couldn't you have asked out for a tumbler of punch at once, ma'am, like a man?"

Statement Made Under Oath. To Whom it May Concern:—In the year 1875 I treated with Kendall's Spavin Cure a bone spavin of several months' growth, nearly half as large as a hen's egg, and completely stopped the lameness and removed the enlargement. I have worked the horse ever since very hard, and he never has been lame, nor could I ever see any difference in the size of the hock joints since I treated him with Kendall's Spavin Cure. H. A. GAINES, Enosburg Falls, Vt., Feb. 25, 1879. Sworn and subscribed to before me this 24th day February A. D. 1879. JOHN G. JENNE, Justice of the Peace. Office U. S. Marshal, Western Dist. of Mich., Kalamazoo, Apr. 14th, 1879. B. J. Kendall, Enosburg Falls, Vt.—Dear Sir:—I received the two bottles of your spavin cure forwarded by express in January last. I am happy to state that it performed all your advertisement called for. In three weeks after I commenced using it, the spavin was entirely removed and a valuable horse restored to usefulness. Very truly yours, JOHN PARKER. Send address for Illustrated Circular, which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. Our remedy has ever met with such unqualified success, to our knowledge, for best as well as man. Price $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All Druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors. DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Enosburg Falls, Vermont. "Kendall's Spavin Cure" is now sold by all the leading wholesale druggists and a large number of prominent retail druggists. F. MORTIMER, New Bloomfield, agent for Perry Co., Pa.
