Albright not Seen .- The following letter explains itself.

New Buffalo, January 28, 1880. MR. MORTIMER.—Mr. James Wright says that article in the Patriot which you copied in The Times is all a mistake. He never said he seen Albright, the only man he seen was a man by the name of Hammaker, from Watts township.

IIt seems to us strange that if Albright's friends know he is dead, that they take the trouble to contradict any stories that seem to show that he is alive.-Ed.]

Distressing Accident .- On Monday evening of last week a very sad accident occurred in the family of Mr. T.P. Hoover, residing in Spring twp., this county, by which Mrs. Hoover lost her life. Mr. H. was loading his gun to shoot a hawk, and the nipple being filled up it would not prime. He then drew the shot and fixed the priming, and again loaded it. After so doing he was in the act of hanging the gun on hooks he kept for the purpose, when by some means the gun was discharged, the entire load entering the side of Mrs H. The accident happened about 2 P. M., and at about 8 P. M., death relieved her from further suffering. Doctors Ellerman and Conrad were present but medical aid was of no avail. Mr. Hoover was almost crazed by the terrible accident, but no blame can be attached to him. There was no cap on the gun, nor had there been any for some weeks, and its discharge is a mystery.

Mrs H. was burried at the Frankfort Church yard in Cumberland Co.

Her age was 28 years 7 months and 21, days. She leaves two small children.

A Coal Thief Shot .- Early Saturday morning as the Cumberland Valley Railroad watchman at Martinsburg was patrolling his beat, he discovered two negroes at work on one of the company's coal bins. He called to them and asked them what they were doing. They replied that it was none of his business. They had been already to one bin and finding it empty, were trying to force the lock off of a second when they were discovered. The watchman had a heavy artillery revolver, and firing it in the air twice, he yelled to them to dust. They thought he had a double barreled shot gun, and made for him, when he fired at the foremost. He gave a yell of pain and both of the coal thieves ran. At daylight, the trail of blood was followed to a negro cabin where Dick Taylor was found with a bullet hole clear through him. The bullet entering his chest, passed through the right lung and came out of his back.

Show Cases Cheap .- I have three show cases which I will sell cheap. F. Mon-TIMER, New Bloomfield, Pa.

Killed on the Rallroad .- Two tramps, named Joseph Rickenberer of York Pa., and Matthias Minster, a cigarmaker from Gallion, Ohio, started away from Massillon, in company-the York man promising to procure work for Minster in York county at his trade when they arrived there. Rickenberger was quite friendly to the Ohloan, and shared with him cheerfully what he had. Thursday when they came down the Penn. railroad track, Rickenberger left his com-panion and was proceeding across the track to board an eastward bound freight train which had entered a slding and was coming on down the track to the Penn. railroad yard. Just as Ricken-berger got upon the main track, engine No. 55 tugging the Johnstown express east, came thundering down the line (whistling for a clear track), but before the unfortunate man could collect his wits, or pay attention to the signal, he was struck by the engine and hurled out of the way a distance of twenty yards or more, killing him almost instantly .-When the train stopped and Rickenberger was picked up, his skull was crushed in on the back part of his head, the back and body fearfully bruised, and both legs were broken. The train which killed him took him to the dead house in the Pennsylvania railroad depot, where after being notified, Coroner Shindler summoned a jury and held an inquest. A telegram was sent to York to acquaint the friends of Rickenberger of his death, and if heard from the remains, properly coffined, will be forwarded. Rickenberger, was about 22 years of age. His companion was affected to tears by the sudden loss of his friend, and seemed sorely distressed at his helpless condition, being out of funds and a stranger in a strange place. The railroad authorities kindly attended to his immediate wants, and will doubtless assist him to return to his home in Ohio.-Patriot.

> For THE TIMES. A Railroad Wanted.

Mr. EDITOR.—Will you allow me to ask through the columns of your paper, why it is that when the demand for iron ore is so great that means are not taken to bring the splendid ore that abounds to bring the splendid ore that abounds in Spring and Center townships within reach of the furnaces. Perhaps all your readers do not know how many veins of ore have been opened that can be made "mines of wealth," when ever there is railroad facilities for hauling it away. The ore is abundant in quantity and excellent in quality. Now a few words as to a railroad! It seems to be considered that the distance and expense of a road to Duncannon is too great for our people here to surmount. The distance to Newport is but little if any over five miles if the proper route is taken, and the shortest route is also a feasible one. Starting from a point near the Academy and passing over the ridge beyond the residence of S. Wiggins, would bring us to the other side with light grade and by taking the hill side an easy route is found to the Little Buffalo, and then to Newport by an almost direct line. That this route is feasible can be easily demonstrated, and that it is the shortest none can dispute. A road bnilt to Newport would be built at less than balf the cost can dispute. A road built to Newport would be built at less than half the cost of one to Duncannon, would carry all that could be carried over the long road, would cost less to keep in repair, and would be a feeder that would be acceptable to the Pennsylvania R. R. Co., while the Duncannon terminus, they are tagonistic to. I offer these suggestions and trust you will give them place, and perhaps they will bring out further discussion. If Newport and Bloomfield would join hands in this matter, there is no doubt it could be made a success to the great advantage of both towns and still greater advantage of the county.

Juniata County .- We copy the following from the Juniata county papers of last week.

On Tuesday, Mr. Jacob Sulouff, while out on his farm was severely hurt, by a log rolling over him. The extent of his injuries at time of writing are unknown but he is bruised about the chest and legs, so as to binder his removal to his residence in town.

On Wednesday evening of last week, Clarence Towsey, son of Joseph Towsey of Turbett twp., whilst handling a pis-tol, accidentally shot himself, the ball entering the palm of the left hand, and passing through the wrist, lodged in the passing through the wrist, longed in the forearm. Dr. Shelley was summoned, and probed the wound, but failed to discover the ball. The next day Drs. Shelley and Graham etherized the lad and probed the wound but were unsuccessful in finding the ball.

Cumberland County .- We copy the following from the Cumberland papers of last week:

On Friday morning last Miss Edmond who resides on West South street, and is one of the teachers in our public schools fell in the yard at her residence, and broke her wrist. We are pleased to learn that she is recovering rapidly.

A box filled with sawdust and used as a spittoon in the post office, almost caused a fire on Saturday evening. It is presumed that some thoughtless person threw a lighted "snipe" into the box carly in the evening, for about 10 e'clock the box was discovered to contain a mass of living coals, and the fire cannot be accounted for in any other way. Its timely discovery no doubt prevented a conflagration.—Carlisle Volunteer.

Capt. Pratt has selected Mr. Amos Miller, of Middlesex, to instruct the In-dians at the training school in farming. About twelve acres of good farm land pear the school have been secured. Mr. Miller will receive a salary of $60 per month.

A. L. Bughman was chopping down trees in the mountain a few days ago, and laid his coat and vest down near the tree he was chopping at. When the tree fell it struck the clothing, the result being a first-class watch amashed in to places.

Mrs. Philip Tayloy, of Southampton township, after retiring a few nights ago heard a noise in the kitchen, and making an investigation, she discovered the kitchen in a flame of fire, the lamp she had left burning having exploded. She was alone in the house with six small children. Had she not discovered the fire when she did, the house would have burned down, with its inmates.

The family of J. Funston, on West Main Street, one night last week, made a narrow escape from coal gas. The children commenced crying in the night, when the mother awoke in a semi-unconscious condition. The doors and windows were speedily thrown open, and on the admission of fresh air the occupants obtained relief, but only after the most violent spells of vomiting. The escape from death was almost remarkable.—Shippensburg News.
