Brief Items.

Correspondents who wish their articles published must have them in not later than Saturday. Letters received Monday morning scarcely ever get published.

Nathan Keely, of the firm of Keely & Wickersham, Thompsontown, died late on Tuesday night, after a brief illness.

Over six inches of snow fell on Sunday last. The ground however had become so warm that it melted rapidly.

A few days ago some person set fire to the woods back of J. W. Klinepeters, and considerable damage was done before it was extinguished.

Mr. John Weaver, of Wheatfield tp., was unfortunate enough to break an axle on his spring wagon as he was turning around in front of the Times office on Tuesday last.

A correspondent from the upper end thinks a new currency has been put in circulation as a 'squire up there recently married a couple and received pigs as pay.

A thunder shower on Thursday morning was followed by a regular May day. Such weather for the season is rarely seen. Never mind, we'll 'catch it' yet.

The Juniata Conference of the Synod of Central Pennsylvania, will meet in the Lutheran church at Millintown, on Monday evening, March 8th. The Conference will last until Wednesday evening.

To know as much as possible about a horse is the duty of every one who owns one of these noble animals. Kendall's Horse Book will give very full information. Mailed on receipt of 25 cents. Address, TIMES, New Bloomfield, Pa.

On Saturday evening a week there was a very interesting meeting of the Newport Union. Addresses were made by Rev. J. L. Kretzing and Rev. N. W. Colburn, and some signatures obtained. We are working with a will. E.

A car load of Chinese, on their way from San Francisco to Philadelphia and New York, passed over the P. R. R., on Monday last. They were neat in appearance, and looked clean and respectable, and appeared to have plenty of money. They stated that four or five hundred more were on their way from the Pacific slope, and would pass through within the next three or four days.

Rev. H. Dobbs in company with a few workers of Newport, went down to Losh's Run on the evening of the 25th ultimo, and held a temperance meeting. A Union was organized with twenty-nine members, embracing the best citizens of the vicinity. The officers elected were, President, W. H. Freeburn; Vice-Pres., H. B. Cumbler and Jacob Peterman; Sec'y, L. E. Metzgar; Cor. Sec'y, Jos. M. Acker; Treasurer, Mrs. Freeburn.

It is said that the Arabs in mentioning their valuable possessions always class the wife second, the children third, and the horse first. Many persons in this county who know the value of the horse have provided themselves with a copy of Kendall's Horse Book for further information. You can do so too. Sent by mail for 25 cents. Address TIMES office, New Bloomfield, Pa.

One evening last week a knock was heard at the door of Uriah B. Garman, in Harrisburg. His wife raised the window and asked what was wanted, the answer came that they had a present for Mr. G., she went down and a covered basket was pushed into the door, and the party hurriedly left, when the covering of the basket was removed, there lay a beautiful little baby. She had to take in, and the next day a letter came, containing $50, with the name and age of the babe saying, further that if well cared for, the child should receive frequent help. The letter was signed "Its Father." They will adopt the child.—Juniata Tribune.

Church Notices.

Presbyterian Church.—Preaching at 11 A. M., and 7 P. M. Sabbath School at 9.30 A. M.

Prayer meeting on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

Not Our Agents.—Weaver & Co., of Pittsburgh, are not authorized to receive advertisements for this paper.

Will You Do It?—In changing your Post-Office address, we desire the old address as well as the new one. Will those desiring a change please remember this.

Library of Universal Knowledge.—We have received the fifth volume of this valuable work. It is one of the wonders of the age, how the American Book Exchange is able to furnish the works they publish at the price they do. They now make the offer of the entire 20 volumes for $10, and they are a firm that will carry out their promises. Address, for any of their publications, American Book Exchange, New York.

Death of Dr. Ard.—On Wednesday last, a despatch brought information of the death of Dr. Ard. His death occurred at the home of his father in Juniata county, and as he has been in poor health for some time, the news was not unexpected. The deceased was a good physician, and a very worthy man, and his death will be regretted by a large circle of friends. His remains were buried in the cemetery at this place on Friday.

A Railroad Offer.—In another column we reprint from the Democrat an article on the subject of a railroad. Since that was in type, we have received a letter from responsible railroad contractors offering if a R. R. company is formed, that the company may retain all funds in their own hands, not paying the contractors a dollar till the road is graded and bridged. With such an offer, where is the necessity of longer dragging through the mud of the Narrows and climbing the ridge between this place and Newport.

Weather Report.—B. McIntire, Esq., hands us the following report of the weather for the month of February, 1880. Average of Thermometer at 8 o'clock, A. M., 30°-31°, and of Barometer, 30 inches minus 6-tenths. Average of greatest heat 32°-6' and of cold 22°-26'. There fell 13 inches of snow and 2 and 9-tenths inches of rain. Saturday the 28th was the warmest day, the Thermometer running up to 58°, and Thursday the 5th the coldest, the mercury sinking to 1° below zero. The average of this February was 6° higher than any February for 21 years.

Accident and Death.—About 11 o'clock Saturday afternoon a week, David Geib, freight and passenger agent of the Pennsylvania and Northern Central railroad at Marysville, this county, was so terribly injured as to cause death in about one hour. Mr. Geib, according to the Harrisburg "Telegraph," was attending to some duties on the Northern Central track when a Mr. Fessler attempted to drive over the crossing. His horse taking fright, Mr. Geib, in attempting to get out of the way of the horse, was caught by a train shifting down the track.

Plundered in Broad Daylight.—Mr. Wm. A. Adams resides in the frame row on Louthier street, east of the spring, and attends our market as a trucker to obtain a livelihood. It is the custom of the family to close up the house while market is progressing, no danger of robbery appearing, as both houses adjoining were constantly occupied. A woman and child had been boarding with the Adamses, and had also been in the habit of attending market. It had been the custom to lock up the whole house, except the back windows, and on Wednesday, Mr. Adams told his guest to close them, too, when she left for market. Market over, Mr. and Mrs. Adams returned home, intending to go to Philip Hommon's sale, but it being noon, concluded to eat dinner first. While preparing dinner Mrs. Adams noticed that some plant boxes on the window had been moved, and expressed a fear that the house had been robbed, her husband scouted the idea, as the house and alley were locked and neighbors could see the back windows, which quieted her fears, but did not dispel them. The sale was attended and the party returned home in the evening. Mrs. Adams, in preparing supper, discovered her purse out of its usual place, and an examination showed that the money it had contained, $1.35, was missing. This instituted a further search. A ptecher on an upper shelf in the cupboard was used as a receptacle for money, and, in the morning, contained $22, which, also, was gone. Proceeding up stairs, a bureau was found ransacked—one drawer being turned topsy-turvy. There was nothing of value in the bureau except a half-dozen silver forks, belonging to a friend of Mrs. Adams, and these were gone, a gold breastpin and some other trinkets lying on the bureau were left undisturbed. A summer lap robe had been taken from a bureau drawer, thrown on the floor and spit into, to convey the impression that a tobacco chewer had committed the robbery; but all who examined it are of the opinion that the dark saliva was the product of coffee essence. There was other money in the house, but Mrs. Adams had a secure hiding place for it, and her foresight saved it.—Carlisle Mirror.

Shall We Have It?—The following article which we copy from the Democrat of last week is one of interest to every person in the county, and it so fully meets our views that we ask our readers to give it their attention.

"We would like to hear from more of our upper end farmers in regard to the construction of a railroad to Newport. Surely they are very sick and tired of the last five miles of mud through which they have to drag their heavy loads and which consumes all of a day, including return to this borough on their way home. It would pay them to help build a road. If made this far, they may reasonably expect to see it sooner or later extended up the valley. It must have a beginning and they would find it to their great advantage to assist in making the first five miles of it. It would pay them in saving of time, trouble, and tear and wear of teams and wagons, to help this enterprise. From the day the first five miles are completed they will be the gainers to as great an extent as any of the citizens of this place. If they will, they can have control of it, manage it and fix the rates of all the freight carried over it. They have the means to build it and, if enough of them take hold of it, would never miss the money they put into it. With their assistance the work could be put under contract this Spring and by Fall and the return of mud, the iron horse would relieve them of five miles of the worst part of the road to market. It will be "nominated in the bond" that not a dollar of the money can be expended until a sufficient amount has been subscribed to grade every foot of the road to this place. There need be no fear of the funds being uselessly squandered. Not a spade or a pick will go into the ground until the success of the enterprise is assured. Let us hear from some of the enterprising men of the valley to the west of us."

Juniata County.—We copy the following from the Juniata county papers of last week.

On Friday last, Mr. John Barnard, of Pleasant View, was hauling logs with a team, down the mountain, and his feet becoming entangled in some underbrush he was thrown down, one of the wheels passing over him, dislocating one of his shoulders, besides inflicting other bodily injuries.

Jacob Sulouff, who was rolled upon by a log twelve feet long by two feet in diameter, some weeks ago, has so far recovered from the effects of the accident as to be able to go about on crutches.

W. H. Kreider lost a valuable mule on Saturday night. It seemed all right and was eating when last seen in the evening, but on Sunday morning was lying dead in its stall. This is the second mule out of his boat team that has died for him within a few weeks.

Cumberland County.—We copy the following from the Cumberland papers of last week:

On Monday afternoon an alarm of fire was given in Carlisle, which proved to be the burning of the washhouse and smoke house attached to the residence of Mr. Alex. Klink, on North Hanover street.

A son of John Negley, of Millin tp., got his right hand in a cloverseed huller on Saturday last, and two of the fingers were so badly lacerated that amputation was found necessary. Dr. S. H. Brehm performed the operation.

While Mr. John Fough was threshing on Saturday, one of the horses in the power kick, striking his son Lemuel hard enough on the right temple to knock him over. If Lem. would have been a soft head, he would not have escaped with an upset on a marked forehead.

Philip Foust, the miller at Eyster's mill, experienced quite a surprise one morning last week. In starting the mill he noticed that something was wrong in the movement of the machinery, and upon examining the water wheel (a Turbine) he found about twenty large cels, all cut in pieces from six to nine inches in length.

On Thursday last Mrs. Robert Donnelly, residing at the Reading ore banks near Boiling Springs, attempt to take her life. Standing before a looking glass she discharged the contents of a revolver into her breast. A physician was summoned, and the ball extracted, but it is feared that the wound will prove fatal. Mrs. Donnelly is a young woman, only twenty-two years of age, and it is said her attempt at suicide was the result of domestic troubles. Mr. Donnelly was absent at the time.

For THE TIMES. Temperance Meeting Proceedings.

The Temperance Union met in the Centre Union church, in Buck's Valley, on Saturday evening. President J. C. F. Stephens called the meeting to order. A selection of music, "Oh, Come to the Fountain," was sung, when Rev. J. H. Dubbs read the 24th Psalm and part of the 8th chapter of Gallatians and led in prayer. "Whiter Than Snow" was then sung, at the conclusion of which Mr. M. B. Eshleman introduced Rev. Dubbs to the audience, who gave a most spirited lecture on intemperance, and which was a rare treat. The lecturer was in earnest in his subject, holding his audience spell-bound for more than an hour. The topic was handled without gloves, the speaker leaving not a stone unturned. After "I Love Thee, my Lord," had been sung, the solicitation of new members was proceeded with. Rev. Dubbs again took the floor and advanced a few plain arguments and asked some practical questions relative to the evils of intemperance. The meeting closed by singing the long meter doxology.

J. F. GOOD, Sec'y. For THE TIMES. From Kennedy's Valley.

MR. EDITOR:—We think a few items from our Valley might be of interest to some of your readers who will sketch a few of the improvements that are being made.

Mr. Samuel Loy has built a large and commodious house, the best now in the Valley; Mr. Nathan and Daniel Drexler have each erected fine houses, Daniel Drexler, also, a barn; Mr. H. Warner is putting up a large bank barn. These buildings are all within a radius of a quarter of a mile. Coming still further down we find Eli Keck building a new house of good size, and a little further down we come to Mr. J. Nunemaker, he is also building a new house. Crossing over we find Wm. Allen's new bank barn almost completed. This gentleman has also the foundation of a new house ready, and will have his house up ere long. Leaving the Valley and going to the top of Mt. Dempsey we find that Jesse Miller has built a new barn on the site of his old one which was burned last fall. Still further on is the Leonard Silver Mines. This company is now sinking a shaft in search of the hidden treasure; the prospects are encouraging. Still onward we come to the highest point of the mountain, at which place the esign of American Liberty waves from a lofty pole erected by Wm. Leonard and Davis & Co.

March 3, 1880. R. A. For THE TIMES. From Henry's Valley.

MR. EDITOR:—Thinking a few items from this source might prove acceptable, I send the following:

This unfrequented and sequestered vale is the upper end of what your correspondent, "G. F.," termed the Switzerland of Perry county. This valley I am told, was named in honor of a Mr. Henry; he having erected the first house in it. Of this house no trace remains.

We have a Tannery, two Sawmills, one Gristmill and one School House. The one sawmill, owned by P. A. Ahl, is sawing several large bills of lumber for the manufacture of cars.

The Tannery had the misfortune of having its funnel blown down during a storm of wind last week. Happily no one was near it at the time.

The school house serves as a church and school house, and we have preaching in it once in four weeks, by Rev. Diehl of Blosserville, Cumberland county. We do our marketing in Newville, which requires a journey of ten miles.

Some few weeks ago a twelve year old son of Mr. Jesse Shaeffer, in company with another boy of about the same age, shot and killed a large fox. The wild turkeys were scarce during the last season than for several preceding years. Only six or seven turkeys having been shot.

February 28, 1880. For THE TIMES. District Sunday School Convention.

MR. EDITOR:—The Third Quarterly Meeting of the Second District Sunday School Convention was held in this place on Friday, Feb. 27th, the sessions commencing in the morning and continuing through the evening. The region covered by this Convention includes Spring and Tyrone townships, and Landisburg borough. The attendance during the day sessions was fair and during the evening exercises was very large. The President, Rev. McPherson opened with an appropriate address as to the purpose of our meeting, in the morning and was followed by Rev. Herbert, on "The Word, what it is and how it should be studied." The latter gentleman dwelt on the importance of the Scriptures as a means of evangelization in distinction from any merely human and different instrumentalities. He spoke also of the origin and purpose of the Bible and deprecated any thing that in reality or seemingly detracted from a proper high regard for God's Word, such as irreverence and absencing especially the children from the services of the sanctuary because they had already attended the Sabbath School. He was followed by several speakers on the same subject.

In the afternoon Mr. Jas. L. Diven conducted a half hour Bible reading on the subject of Consolation. A Children's meeting was then held for about an hour and a half and addressed by Messrs. Bernheisel, Brickley, and Shumaker. The children were led in singing by Mr. Joseph Wagoner. After this the discussion of hindrances and discouragements and how they could be removed, occupied the remainder of the afternoon. Mr. Smith of Germany, Mr. Geo. Hoobough of Green Park and Mr. S. A. Kast of Landisburg, leading off on these three topics. It got a little dull and monotonous until near the end, when a little livelier discussion arose as to how to remove difficulties and clouds from the Sunday School horizon, and also from the heavens of our Convention. The evening session was opened by answers to a half dozen or more queries which had been handed in during the afternoon. In the absence of Rev. McDonald, Mr. S. A. Kast opened the first question of the evening, "Whose special call and duty is it to encourage and promote the cause of S. S. instruction?"

The second and last subject was opened by your correspondent on the question, "Can the church of Christ in its individual membership conscientiously withhold its active support from the work?" He answered the question negatively on the ground of the age and approval human and divine which the Sunday School had on its side, on the ground of its efficiency as a means of instructing children, and the importance socially and religiously of this as one means of instructing and saving the children, who are most important, if not the most important factors in modern civilized and enlightened society.

The celebration of the one hundred anniversary of the Sunday School as an organization to be held in England this year was alluded to and other points of interest brought out. The President followed on the same subject and the exercises came to a close. Elliottsburg, Lutheran church, was chosen as the next place of meeting. The choir sang very ably during all the exercises, and friends near and from afar who were in attendance seemed to enjoy this part of the programme at least, whatever may have been the case with the literary features of the exercises, very much.

S. A. D. Landisburg, March 3, 1880.
