HOUSE, FARM AND GARDEN.

Cattle Raising in Wyoming.

A correspondent of a Chicago paper, writing from Cheyenne, Wyoming, gives an interesting statement of the cost and profit of stock raising in that Territory.

Five men, including the foreman of the ranch, are sufficient to take care of 4,000 cattle. A good foreman can command $75 per month. An ordinary herder receives $35 per month.

How to Make Hens Lay.

A correspondent informs us that while on a visit in the fall to a friend, he was surprised to see the number of eggs he daily obtained. He had but sixteen hens and the product per day averaged thirteen eggs.

Measuring the Height of a Tree.

When a tree stands so that the length of its shadow can be measured, its height can be readily ascertained as follows:—Set a stick upright—let it be perpendicular by the plumb-line.

To Get Rid of Mould in Cellars.

A correspondent recently asked us for a simple and effectual remedy for fungus and mould in cellars. A German agricultural journal gives the following:—Put some roll-brimstone into a pan and set fire to it; close the doors, making the cellar as nearly air-tight as possible.

As there is much controversy in the agricultural papers at present as to how to make and save manure, I will give my plan in as few words as possible. First, I keep my horses and cows in the same stable; I bed my horses with good wheat or oats straw; and when they have stood on it one night, I clean all the straw and manure out of the stall and put in under the cows.

Maine News.

Hop Bitters, which are advertised in our columns, are a sure cure for ague, biliousness and kidney complaints. Those who use them say they cannot be too highly recommended.
