THE BRIBERS who were bailed for their appearance at Harrisburg on Monday the 26th ult., all made their appearance.

THE DEMOCRATS of this State met in Convention on Wednesday last. It was expected that a split would be the result of the quarrel between the Wallace and Randal factions.

THE old proverb should now be changed to read, "The way of the transgressor is made easy by the pardon board."

Forging License Bonds.

PHILADELPHIA, April 27.—Great excitement arose to-day about the office of the District Attorney in consequence of the discovery that the bonds filed by tavern keepers during the current year as security for their obeying the laws,

More Storm Doings.

MERIDIAN, Miss., April 26.—A heavy storm passed over Macon, Miss., last night, blowing away twenty-two houses, including the Mobile and Ohio Railroad machine shops, round-house, depot, and telegraph office.

Astonishing Newspaper Men.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 25.—To-day, for the first time in years, the Sunday law prohibiting work of any kind was enforced.

every person doing work, for presentation to the Grand Jury. The list includes all classes—editors, composers, pressmen, newsboys, saloon-keepers and hackmen.

Sudden Death.

Tuesday morning at 10:30, Wm. Saxton, a man about 70 years of age, while sitting on the east end of the Court House portico, and in conversation with one or two other persons, was noticed to sink down and threaten to fall upon the pavement.

Horse Stolen.

Last Friday night the stable of Robert Cornman, at Trindle Spring, a short distance west of Mechanicsburgh was broken open and one of his fine black horses stolen therefrom, also a fine set of harness was taken at the same time.

A Leper.

It may be startling intelligence to the large majority of our readers to learn that there is a clearly defined case of leprosy existing in the pleasant village of New Oxford, Adams county.

Phenomenon in Virginia.

The Tappahannock, Va., special says: "Quite an excitement has been created in some portions of this county by the appearance of vast quantities of a liquid resembling honey in taste, in the forest; the pine forest are laden with it and it is falling in showers from the boughs.

A Lucky Trackman.

Several years ago the daughter of Rev. Thomas Guard, while traveling on the Erie railroad, in throwing a piece of orange peel out of the car window, dropped a $300-diamond ring. It was recently found by a trackman among cinders, where it had lain ever since.

A Bad Lot of Ministers.

I. M. Kalloch, who murdered Charles De Young, is an ordained Baptist minister. Both his father and grandfather were ministers.

One of the most urgent demands of our time is a system of education which shall train the young to apply their school learning. At the Pennsylvania State College practical instruction in Agriculture, Horticulture, Botany, Zoology, Mechanics, Chemistry, etc., is given, and thus theory in the class room is applied and enforced by experience in the field and laboratory.

Miss Susan, daughter of C. D. Schenk, of White Mills, N. Y., has become insane from melancholy on account of the supposed loss of her lover. He had started from the south to marry her, but was killed on the way, and her parents kept the news from her, fearing the result. She soon supposed that she had been deserted, and now she has lost her reason.

A well-to-do farmer named Savage, living at West Florence, eleven miles southeast of Richmond, Ind., shot his daughter through the head with a revolver, and then tried to blow his own brains out. Both are injured beyond recovery, and there is no explanation of the affair.

The invalid finds in "Dr. Lindsey's Blood Searcher" nature's great restorer. It is wonderful.

Miscellaneous News Items.

Pittston, April 27.—During a fight at an early hour this morning William Tate, mate of the steamer I. N. Phillips, was struck down and killed by Jacob C. Merriman, engineer of a tug.

Dr. Sieling, of Ephrata, is winning a great deal of glory for saving a woman who had brain spasms and had ceased to breathe. He kept up artificial respiration for two hours and a half, and at last she was able to breathe again.

As Mr. Hiram Beckley, of South Lebanon, was driving to Lebanon, last week, with his wife and child in the carriage, the collar choked the horse, and he fell to the ground, and the vehicle went down an embankment. The child was somewhat injured.

On last Saturday evening, Mrs. Mowery, of near Idaville, Adams Co., whilst visiting at a neighbors and feeling unwell, took a dose of tincture of camphor, and then started home with her little boy. When about half way home she fell to the ground and within a few moments, life was entirely extinct.

A news' special from Austin, Texas, says Mrs. Houston, living in the country, last week in a fit of insanity, attempted to murder her five children by driving knitting needles into their brain through their ears. One was killed, and two others are seriously injured.

Joel Eby, a well-to-do farmer, residing about a mile and a half from Mannheim, on the road to Litz, intending to go out, reached for his overcoat and while in the act of doing so, fell to the floor and expired instantly. He was sixty years old and leaves a family to mourn his loss. Heart disease is supposed to have caused his death.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., April 27.—A freight train on the Chesapeake and Ohio road ran into the rear of a freight train going west last night, at Waynesboro', badly wrecked the engine and fifteen cars, killing the fireman, Mark Wood, and dangerously wounding the engineer, Lorenzo Smith. The west bound express was delayed seven hours.

During the severe wind storm which prevailed in Indiana county on Friday last, the barn of W. D. Somers, of Brush Valley township, was blown down. A little son of Mr. S., aged eight years, who had taken refuge in the building, was killed by falling timbers. The mother was also present and made a very narrow escape.

A four-year-old girl lately made the journey across the continent to San Francisco alone. She was a self-reliant little traveller, and was inclined to resent any intimation that she could not care for herself. She was, however, taken in charge by the conductors, in accordance with a request written on her ticket. Her mother had died in the east, and she sought her father.

WATERBURG, Vt., April 27.—Almun Meeker, twenty years old, confessed to the murder of his niece, Miss Meeker, who has been missing since Friday. Meeker says they wished to rid themselves of the girl, and he and his mother gave her strichnine, after which they buried her in a swamp, after tying a handkerchief over her mouth. Meeker accompanied the officers and found the body, and to day physicians are making an examination.

A novel quilt is being constructed by the ladies of the Cardington M. E. church, O. The Republican says it is of the patchwork variety, but in the squares names of persons are inserted with indelible ink, and all it costs is ten cents per name. After the quilt is finished it is to be sold to the highest bidder, and will thus pass down to posterity, bearing with it the names of the people who invested ten cents in the enterprise. The proceeds are to go towards liquidating the church debt.

The queer spectacle of a hen catching and killing a mouse, was witnessed by a number of persons on Washington street (Huntingdon) one day last week. "Mousey" approached where the hen was eating to partake of a morsel, but its feathery friend not taking kindly to the sleek, sneaking rodent, picked it up with her bill, gave it a shake, clawed it, struck it with her wing, and finally put an end to its useless and troublesome life.

BERWICK, Pa., April 28.—A shocking accident occurred at the rolling mills of the Jackson & Woodin manufacturing company, at this place, on Monday. By some means a young man named Fennell, an employee of the works, became entangled in the machinery and was drawn through the rolls, his body being rolled as flat as a bar of iron. Death was instantaneous.

A Bradford, Pa., special dispatch says: John Tully and Luke Kane, of Olean, went last night to the house of John Smith, who lives three miles out of town. They picked a quarrel with Smith, who is a very old man, and beat him terribly. While the affray was at its height Smith's son, a lad of 13, came to his father's rescue armed with a shot gun. He fired and shot Kane dead. Tully fled from the scene, but soon returned with a constable who arrested the boy.

While plowing in a Springfield, Sussex, Ct., garden recently James Rust came across a section of mason work. Digging down he found bricked up in a hole about three feet square an iron box, rusty with age. The box was full of written documents, illegible from rust and age. The bricks were very old, one bearing the inscription: "Weymouth, 1638." Perhaps Whaley, the fugitive judge from whom Whaleyville was named, had something to do with the box. Whaley's flight from England was in the seventeenth century, after the execution of King Charles, and he settled in Sussex.

While stopping at the depot at Williamsport a few days ago an Oil City Derrick reporter's attention was called by the depot-master to a sparrow's nest built inside the large gong at the depot and which is sounded for the departure of trains. The gong is about eighteen inches in diameter, and when struck by its large hammer it has a deafening sound. Notwithstanding the racket made by the gong, a pair of sparrows have built their nests right over the knocker, and let it ring loud as it may one of the sparrows will remain on the nest, and the other has been frequently observed to sit upon the iron of the knocker while it is striking, apparently not in the least disconcerted by the din.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 28, 1880. There was something very much like an exciting debate in the Senate on Monday on the Spofford-Kellogg contest. Senators Blaine, Jonas, Bayard, Edmunds and others took part. Yesterday the subject was laid aside, and the Indian Appropriation bill considered, but not disposed of. The Senate also passed the House bill to equip Captain Howgate's Polar expedition. Capt. Howgate is now preparing his vessel at Alexandria, and expects it to sail about the middle of May. It will carry a colony to some accessible point on the Coast of Greenland. The colonists will remain there and make such discoveries as may be possible. The vessel will return, to go back again with supplies at the proper time.

The House yesterday passed the District Appropriation bill, and will now go on with other necessary measures. There are no "riders" on any of the appropriation bills yet to be considered, and it is believed they can all be disposed of at an early day.

There are stories that the President will, and that he will not, veto the "Immediate Deficiency" bill. The ground for the expected veto is the limitation put on the services and authority and manner of appointing the special deputy or election marshals. It is almost certain that, if the bill is vetoed, the Democratic majority in House and Senate will pass identically the same bill, only leaving out all reference to the special or election marshals.—The army appropriation bill, which has a "rider" forbidding payment of troops for services at the polls, will probably be approved by the President.

Secretary Sherman expects a surplus of over ten million of dollars for April. The receipts from Customs and Internal Revenue, are larger than anticipated by any one.

Congress will undoubtedly make suitable provision for the reception of the King of Siam, who will arrive here during the summer. His time away from New York and Washington, will be principally spent in the South, as he desires to learn all that he can of our methods of raising rice and the sugar cane.

The Sherman Bureau here continues to congratulate itself on the fact that Mr. Blaine has not captured Ohio. The best characteristic of Sherman and his bureau is their hearty appreciation of small favors. Now that the favorite son has a grip on the tail of his own State, his cup of bliss fairly stops over. But there is one fact that bothers our Secretary of the Treasury is that all the sure Republican counties of the State have selected Blaine Delegates to Chicago.

To know as much as possible about a horse is the duty of every one who owns one of these noble animals. Kendall's Horse Book will give very full information. Mailed on receipt of 25 cents Address, TIMES, New Bloomfield, Pa.
