

THE TIMES.

New Bloomfield, May 25, 1880.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS.

No Out or Eternity will be inserted in this paper unless light face and on metal base.

GRANT has secured the delegates to the National Convention, from the state of Illinois, but it was a close shave.

THE HARRISBURG PATRIOT not satisfied with putting on a new dress and printing a good paper six days in a week, will hereafter print one each day in the year.

EDENBURG, Charlton county was nearly destroyed by fire on Saturday night. The fire broke out in the U. S. Hotel, and before it was extinguished had burned seventy houses.

A GREAT EXCITEMENT was raised on Friday by the announcement of the suspension of the Reading Coal and Iron Co. This report, which proved true, was soon followed by the suspension of the Reading R. R. Co.

What is Needed.

The secretary of the Milton Relief Association states that shovels, picks and anything that can be used toward clearing away the debris and helping to build up, are needed as soon as possible.

TAKING THE CENSUS.

Questions to be Asked by the Enumerators.

The supervisors of the census have information that the following are in substance the questions to be put by the enumerators when they set about their work, and the information they are to secure is to embrace the name of street, house number, the name of each person in the family on the 1st of June, 1880; color, sex, and age at last birthday; the month of birth if with the census month; relationship of each person to the head of the family, whether wife, son, daughter, servant, boarder or other; whether single, married, widowed, divorced, or married during the census year; health of each person, whether maimed, crippled or otherwise disabled; education of each person, whether he or she can write, or has attended school within the census year; nativity of each person and of his or her father and mother.

Another Town Burned.

COUDERSPORT, May 18.—This town, the county seat of Potter county, which contains about 1,500 inhabitants, was visited this afternoon by a fire which destroyed most of the buildings and completely devastated that portion devoted to business.

The Coudersport hotel, P. A. Stebbins' store; all the buildings in that block, including the post office, E. A. Reese's store, C. H. Armstrong's store, Olmstead and Larrabee's law offices, the Enterprise building, Mrs. Havens, dwelling house, Z. J. Thompson's wagonshop, all the blacksmith shops, French's drug store, Foster's grocery, Jones & Sons' bank, Gressel's harness store, Jones & Co.'s dry goods store, Andrew & Olmsted grocery store, Olmsted & Son's hardware store, E. N. Stebbin's dry goods store, M. S. Thompson's drug store, Norton & Doane's hardware store, Charles Reinman's dwelling house.

Two Fires at York.

YORK, Pa., May 21.—This morning at a quarter before two o'clock an alarm was sounded, and the extensive car shops of Michael Schall, known as the Empire car works, on North Beaver street, near the railroad, and opposite the Variety iron works, were found to be ablaze.

It. Mr. Schall was heard to say fifteen minutes ago, his loss is easy $50,000. It is supposed that the insurance will amount to $30,000, while the loss is $20,000 over and above all insurance. The insurance is principally in New York companies. The agent for one of the companies is out of town, and his clerk declines to give any particulars. About one hundred and fifty hands are thrown out of employment.

During the burning of the car shops the bakery buildings in the rear of Michael West's, in the Ninth ward, was burned. The origin of this fire is not definitely known. It is supposed to have caught from the oven during the absence of the bakers at the other fire.

A Strange Case of Desertion.

Lewis C. Moore, of Allentown, several years ago married Miss Ellen, a daughter of Wm. Kern, one of the three owners of the Blumer Bank, since bankrupt. The family was then thought to be wealthy. When the crash came Mr. Moore seemed to be just as well satisfied with a poor man's daughter. After the father-in-law had been sold out Moore went to housekeeping in a plain way and got along well. Ellen was pretty, neat and tidy, and a good housekeeper, and this was all the husband cared for. They were mutually happy, and which happiness was, if possible, heightened by the coming in the course of time of a little girl baby, beautiful and lovely.—Mr. Moore, as a boss roller at Ferndale, was making big wages, and as a dutiful husband he, whenever pay day came around, brought all his earnings to his wife, making her his treasurer. Her father and some other relatives, who had gone West, returned and made their homes with Moore. All went well until a few days ago, when Moore came home and found his house locked up and deserted. The Democrat says the wife and her friends had gone away never to return again. The wife took the child together with about $100 of their savings. She left no note of explanation.

Speedy Justice.

NEW YORK, May 18.—Jas. M'Mahon, Joseph Lynch, James Marion and Tom Reilly, the four river pirates who yesterday morning boarded the schooner Victor in Flushing bay, off College Point, and who were arrested afterwards, were indicted by the grand jury this morning for felonious assault and also burglary in the third degree. They were then arraigned in the general sessions court and plead guilty to both indictments, when they were sentenced by Recorder Smyth to the State prison for ten years each.

Fatal Accidents Near Mifflin.

MIFFLIN, Pa., May 20.—Emanuel Wood was killed to-day in an ore mine by the falling in of the slate roof. When found there were two feet of slate and dirt on him. He lived only one hour. A Mr. Stine was also severely but not dangerously hurt by the same accident. Mrs. Andrew Boesinger, who lives about five miles from this town, while getting a bucket of water from a run close to her house, fell into the water and was drowned.

The Famine in Hungary.

PESTH, May 19.—The famine in North Hungary is increasing. Fourteen hundred persons at Szinna, Comital and Zemplin have no other food but grass, nettles and mushrooms. Troops of emigrants are leaving the country. The government has ordered the authorities to stop the emigration and the police have arrested some emigrants.

Miscellaneous News Items.

Heavy rains fell Wednesday night, and the forest fires in Cumberland, Atlanta, Burlington, Ocean and Monmouth counties, N. J., are reported extinguished.

A Soranton dispatch says: "The abandoned Oxford mine in Hyde Park caved in on Tuesday night. Three fine stores and private dwellings were badly shaken."

When the village of Stayvest was burning the other day, up on the Hudson, the crowd were talking about lynching the incendiary tramp whom they had caught. Donovan, the big prize-fighter, stepped up and said, "Be careful; this man may be innocent." The mob cried, "Hang them both;" but Donovan said coolly, "All right, come on. You can't mob this man without putting me out of the way." They didn't dare "come on," and the tramp was safely taken to jail.

A Chicago paper says: Emma West, a beautiful young lady of Bloomington, was engaged to J. J. Wood, a young man who essayed to study medicine, but occupies his time in smoking cigars. The youth put the fair Emma off from time to time, cooling the very ardor of her love by telling her that his mother would not allow him to wed. Finally Miss West called upon the old lady to learn the reason of her refusal and was told that there was no objection to her whatever. So the damsel sued him for breach of promise, and has recovered $2,000.

The barn of George B. Porter, of the firm of Cresswell & Porter, of Petersburg, Huntingdon county, situated on Warrior ridge, two miles from Petersburg, together with its contents, consisting of three hundred bushels of wheat, a lot of rye and oats, wagons, buggies, horse gears and farm machinery, was totally consumed by fire on Monday night. Six head of valuable horses and ten head of cows and cattle perished in the flames. The fire occurred about 11 or 12 o'clock and is supposed to have been the act of some person or persons in pursuit of plunder, as Mr. Porter had all his cured meats for summer use stored away in the barn. The loss is estimated at $3,000, on which there was no insurance.

Prior to her marriage with Mr. Archibald Rogers, of New York, Miss Annie C. Coleman, of Cornwall, filed a conveyance of all her real estate and iron interests, excepting personal property, jewelry, cash in hand, horses, carriages and furniture, to her brother, Robert Coleman, in trust to pay her certain amounts as the income of her share in the estate, to distribute the property in case of her death with heirs, and in case of her death without issue the whole to revert to the trustee. The bridegroom's signature is appended to the deed as agreeing never to attempt any change in its terms.

On Monday of last week the grave of William Blanford, buried in the Philanthropic cemetery, Philadelphia, was opened for the purpose of removing the remains to another cemetery. The body was petrified, and in an almost perfect state of preservation. The clothing was somewhat mouldy, and what was once flesh had changed to a hard, stony substance, resembling yellowish marble. The eyes were gone, the lips had partly disappeared and there was no hair on the head, but otherwise the body was perfect. It weighed almost five hundred pounds. Mrs. Blanford died in February last, and was buried near her husband, who was interred in June, 1874. Her body was undergoing the natural process of decay.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19, 1880.

Politically, Washington was never so much of a National centre as to-day. We here are more fully informed than residents of any other place of what is done politically, in all parts of the country. It seems to be generally believed that on the Republican side, ex-President Grant has improved his chances in the last week, and on the Democratic side, that Mr. Tilden will have at Cincinnati more votes on the first ballot than any other candidate. There is also a notable improvement of late in the spirits of the third party politicians. But while we note an improvement in the chances of General Grant, I cannot but notice that the hostility against him in his party is growing more bitter. What he has gained in other states does not repair the damage done him in New York and Pennsylvania, and the split and want of unanimity in his own State, make his nomination at Chicago impossible. The question now is, where will his strength go? It is now concluded that Blaine and Sherman will get the bulk of it, and what they don't get Edmunds will. Washburne is virtually out of the contest, even as a dark horse. The Grant men dislike him because of the damage done to them by his leaders in Illinois, and he is in reality now, turning his attention to securing the second place with Blaine or Edmunds.

There is little doubt of adjournment by the 31st. The Senate will adopt the House resolution, the appropriation bills will be passed rapidly, and a few other measures, such as the bill approving the Ute agreement, and Congress will adjourn. The Republican members generally will go to Chicago, and the Democrats go to their homes. I don't think the public interests will suffer much from an early adjournment. Legislation in the midst of an exciting Presidential campaign, like that now before us, is not likely to be of the most desirable sort.

A hundred thousand people will witness the Haulan-Courtney boat race at 4:30 this afternoon on the Potomac opposite this city. The city is almost literally full of strangers. So far the betting is in favor of Haulan, but Courtney has made many friends while here. It is said that 3000 Canadians are here. Washington has had no such excitement since 1865. In the excitement of the boat race, politics are forgotten. Illinois State Convention meets to-day, but it caused but little flutter in political circles, for at this hour politicians and sports, alike are vending their way to the River front, and your correspondent will follow their example. By the way, the press reports will be more interesting than the race itself.

OLIVE.

Lippincott's Magazine.

Lippincott's Magazine for June presents an unusual rich and varied table of contents. The poetry of the number deserves especial mention. "Old St. David's at Radnor," by Longfellow, is in his happiest manner, pensive in tone, limpid in flow, and striking in imagery. Paul Hayne has a fine sonnet entitled "Spiritual Illumination," and Mrs. Caroline A. Mason one almost equally good, called "An Open Secret." "Adam and Eve," grows in interest, and there are several good stories, while the "Gossip" contains some anecdotes about Carlyle, and other readable matter. This issue closes the twenty-fifth volume.
