GEN. JAMES B. WEAVER, of Iowa, had the honor to receive the nomination for President on the Greenback ticket, in the Convention held by that party last week. Gen. Chambers of T exas was named for Vice President.

THE REPUBLICAN National Convention after a seven day's fight succeeded in making a nomination on the 36th ballot. The candidate for President is General James A. Garfield, of Ohio. The vote on the ballot that nominated, was Blaine, 42; Sherman, 3; Washburne, 5; Garfield, 399; Grant, 306. The first ballot had by the Convention we give below, showing not only the vote each candidate had, but from what states his supporters came.

Whole number of votes, 756; necessary to a It will be noticed that the nomination vas made without the 307 vot had been cast for Grant. The final ballot is thus described by a correspondent of The Times: Finally, at about 1 o'clock, the call for the thirty-sixth ballot began. Connecti-cut was the first State to break for Gar-field, Alabama, Arkansas, California and Colorado having stood by their former votes. Connecticut gave Gar-field 11; Georgia followed with 1 for him, Illinois with 7, her first break, and Indiana increased her 27 of the proceed-ing ballot to 29. Iowa gave him her 22 ing ballot to 29. Iowa gave him her 22 solid. It was her first break from Blaine solid. It was her hist break from Blaine and she broke entirely. Kansas next threw over the 6 she had given Blaine from the start to Garfield. Kentucky followed with the 3 Sherman had held from the start and Louisiana with 8 which Blaine and Sherman had shared

So far, with few exceptions, Blaine, Sherman, Edmunds and Washburne had all gone to Garfield. Maine then gave up the contest by casting for him also her 14 votes. It was some time after Mr. Hales's announcement to this effect that the call could be resumed, for the that the call could be resumed, for the excitement over it was intense. Senator Conkling gave a derisive laugh and, turning to his colleagues, exclaimed:

"Now we've got them!"

Then he went over to labor with Virginia, and exclaimed to her delegation:

"Stand by Grant—we shall certainly nominate him on the next ballot!"

Massachusetts threw 10 votes for Ger

Massachusetts threw 10 votes for Gar-field, and Mr. Boutwell's head went down into his coat collar. At Mary-land's announcement of 6 for Grant and 10 for Garfield, Mr. Creswell disputed the report and a poll was taken which gave him the satisfaction of showing that he was still true to Grant. So the call went on, interrupted frequently with applause and shouting, the Blaine with applause and shouting, the Blaine and Sherman forces uniting on Garfield. In New Jersey it was 18 solid for him; In New York, 20 for him against 50 for Grant, and in Ohio 43 out of 44 for Garfield There was a long and noisy demonstration after the Ohio announcement, as there was also when Vermont's Edmunds force fell into line for Garfield. Mr. Grier was joined by 20 other belated but enthusiastic Pennsylvanians in this ballot, and Wisconsin increased her 16 to 18. That gave Garfield 372 votes and Grant 305.

The votes that were to follow making

Garfield's nomination certain, Wiscon-

Garfield's nomination certain, Wisconsin's announcement became the occasion for a triumphant demonstration. Everything preceding it in the way of enthusiasm was belittled into comparative insignificance. After the demonstration had been going on a while the band struck up "Rally round the flag" and the audience sang it. The only delegates who did not give themselves up to the occasion were Conkling and his forty-nine followers. From the beginning to the end they kept their seats, glum and long-faced, in striking contrast with their surroundings.

The call having been resumed after about twenty minutes of confusion, Garfield received 27 more votes, making 399, 20 more than was necessary for a choice, and Grant I more, making 306. The vote was then reported by the clerk by States that the record might be correct, and Mr. Hoar declared Mr. Garfield the nominee. His declaration of the result brought out another demonstration similar to the one after the Wisconsin amendment, in which the whistles of the steamboats at the lake piers and a half dozen locomotives outside, as well as the battery joined.

Mr. Garfield all this time kept his seat with the Ohio delegation, where his friends crowded around him with their with the Ohio delegation, where his friends crowded around him with their congratulations, which he received with rare modesty. There was really no order after that, although Mr. Conkling tried to make a speech congratulating the convention on its harmony and its

The first break for Garfield was made by Wisconsin on the 35th ballot, when Gen. Garfield rose and stated he was not a candidate, but his protest was disregarded, as is seen by the result of the final ballot. In 1861 Garfield entered the army as Colonel of the 42nd Ohio Volunteers. On January 10, 1862, he was promoted to a Major-Generalship.

He was elected to the Thirty-eighth Congress, and to each succeeding Congress up to the present time. A few weeks since he was elected United States Senator to succeed Thurman whose term expires the 4th of next March.

For Vice President General Arthur of New York was nominated. This was done to conciliate the Conklin faction, and to secure the vote of New York next fall.

Another Western Blow.

MANKATO, June 8 .- A severe rain storm that raged over Southern Minnesota on three consecutive days, culminated on Saturday morning in a terrific hurricane. Total destruction resulted to everything in its path. Over a hundred houses were unroofed. Churches, rallroad bridges, telegraph wires, trees and all kinds of movable property are scatin every direction. The hurricane was followed by a heavy rain, which augmented the terrible damage sustained to buildings and stock. The rain poured in torrents through unroofed buildings and over unprotected mercantile goods. The estimated damage will be about $100. 000. The sidewalks in many places were taken up bodily and carried across the streets. Shade trees of which there are thousands, are torn to pieces. Several houses occupied as dwellings, were blown down over the heads of the families, but strange to say no one was seriously injured. The destruction of timber in the forest is unprecedented, acres of the best wood in the vicinity are levelled to the ground and the trees torn and twisted in every conceivable way .-The growing crops, as far as reports have been received, are not badly damaged. The school house in Lime township was blown down. All the wire connections with Chicago and the East were interruped until late last night .-The railroads centering at this place are all heavy sufferers. Bridges, in as yet unknown numbers, were carried away and the road bed in numerous places badly washed. The first train over the Northwestern railroad since Saturday morning arrived here to-night at Lake Crystal. The storm took away about two-thirds of the grain elevator.

Tremendous Conflagration Caused by Lightning.

BRADFORD, Pa., June 11.-This morning at seven o'clock lightning struck a 20,000-barrel iron tank of oil of the Tidioute Pipe Company, located on an eminence above Titusville. The oil immediately took fire, and later the fire communicated to another tank of the same size, owned by the same company. At one o'clock the burning oil overflowed and ran down the hillside, consuming everything in its course. The Octave refinery and Acme Oil Works, one of the largest refineries in the world, is now burning. The oil ran into Oil creek and threatened destruction to a large amount of property in this city. Persons residing in the neighborhood have left their household goods and gone to places of safety. At seven o'clock the buildings along both sides of Breed street were burning and about 100,000 barrels of oil. There is great excitement in the city, but the business portion at this time is believed to be safe, being mostly composed of brick buildings. 10 o'clock.-Another iron tank has burst and set fire to the Franklin-street bridge. The Octave Refinery, on the north side is now in flames, which are spreading rapidly.

MORE TROUBLE FOR FARMERS.

The Army Worm.

The army worm that has appeared this year is about an inch long, and a slate color, and looks like a dark grub of the caterpillar species. Its back is covered with a rough fur, or coating of bristly hair, which protects it to a great extent from the wild birds, though the hard-throated hens eat it up with a relish. Its eyes are plainly visible, and from its head project feelers. The fore port of the body is furnished with unnumbered legs, while the hind part lies flat on the ground. Its motion is something between a walk and a crawl, and it gets over the ground at an astonishing rate. Its appetite seems never to be satisfled. Unlike the potato bug, they care nothing for the succulent root on which the latter feeds, and confine their ravages to grass, timothy, wheat and corn. The tomato does not tempt them, nor do they seem to relish the grain of the corn. Were the season a little further advanced this crop would be safe from them, but, unfortunately, the harvest is late this year, and they devour the young leaves ravenously. Even the full-grown bearded corn is attacked, but the grain beneath is seldom touched.

NO DEFENSE AGAINST THEIR RAYAGES.

In fighting the army worm with Paris green the poison was used in the way that had proved most successful to the potato bug-mixed with earth plaster and thrown over the invaders; but the hair on the creatures' backs received the mixture, which was too consistent to penetrate, and the worms shook it off and suffered no injury. The Paris green mixed with water was tried, and, so far as primary intention was concerned, it was successful. It killed the army worm but it also destroyed the crops as surely as the grub itself could have done, so it was abandoned, and the farmers fell back on trenches, coal tar and fire. This fire is applied by simply setting a match to the dry grass around the fields, and it may or may not (for the result is doubtful) kill those worms that come beneath its immediate influence; but the mere destruction of a certain number of the grubs in a given spot is like an attempt to drain the ocean with a tea-cup, and is attributable rather to a not unnatural desire on the part of the farmer for revenge than to a reasonable attempt to stay the plague.

THE PESTS IN LANCASTER COUNTY.

LANCASTER, June 11 .- Farmers in this county report that the army worm, cut worm, Colorado beetle, grasshopper, and all the other pests have made their appearance and are committing fearful ravages in the different crops. Mr. L. Landis, of Catfish twp., says that on Monday a horde of army worms attacked his cornfield, destroyed every vestage of the growing crop before Tuesday morning, and then attacked his wheat

CHESTER INVADED BY THE PESTS.

WEST CHESTER, June 11 .- Worms varying in length from one inch to one and a quarter inches, have made their appearance in Londongrove twp., this county. They are supposed to be of the specie of army worms that are now devastating the farms of Long Island.

A Sad Suicide.

PHILADELPHIA, June 11. - Annie Coppen, aged seventeen years, committed suicide by cutting her throat with a razor. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon Annie went to the third story of the house, and an hour later, not making her appearance at the supper table, a young child was sent to call her. On the latter entering the bed room occupled by Annie, she found the latter lying on the floor in a pool of blood, with her throat cut in several places and a razor grasped in her right hand. The child called for assistance, and every effort was made to save the girl's life, but she expired in about five minutes It now appears that Annie had been criminally intimate with a man named Conden, who is about thirty-five years old, and has a wife and three children. He was arrested late yesterday afternoon and has been held in $1,500 bail.

Weather Reports.

It has been a quite general belief that extremely cold winters exert a powerful effect in reducing the numbers of insects but observations during the last two years, show that cold produces little or no result as an insect destroyer.

During last winter, whenever a zone of high barometric pressure covered France, it was found to be warmer at the mountain station of the Puy-de-Dome observatory than at the Clermont station, which is 3,500 feet lower. This remarkable fact is attracting much attention from meteorologists.

Recent discoveries have shown that the acient Chaldeans and Babylonians attributed changes in the weather to lunar influence, and kept up a system of regular observations of the moon for practical purposes.

Beheaded in a Railroad Car.

Martin Gregory, an express agent, of Elmira, met with a horrible death on Tuesday night of last week, while on his way to Jersey City in a train of the New York, Lake Erie and Western Railroad. As the train was dashing through the tunnel at Jersey City, Gregory leaned out of a window. His head struck against a post at the side of the track, and was almost completely knocked off. His body fell back upon the seat of the car. The passengers, terrified at the ghastly spectacle, were seized with a panie, and it was not until the train had emerged from the tunnel that they recovered from their fright. Gregory was 29 years of age. He leaves a wife and family in Elmira.

Many Dollars.

On Monday last it was announced that one million silver dollars are to be coined at the mint during the present month. To accomplish this, it will be necessary for the entire force , to work until 10 o'clock each evening. The silver coins now lying in the vaults of the mint weigh about 32 tons, and in connection with the gold on hand, the total value is $24,201,603.06. The order for many dollars in gold $2.50, and $5 pieces is now about two-thirds filled, and the remaining ten millions will be coined when the order for the one million silver dollars is filled.

A Serious Railroad Accident.

The sleeping cars attached to fast line east, Thursday morning met with a serious accident while running over the Pan Handle road. A freight train was backing on a siding when the engine of the passenger train ran into it. The passenger engine was rolled down the bank and the front mashed out of the postal car. Both the engineer and fireman were injured, the former probably fatally. None of the passenger cars left the track.

Curious Hanging Accident.

Albert Hager who lives several miles from Salem, Indiana, went into his stable loft to sleep off his potions. He slipped off the hay and down through a lot of harness hanging on the walls of the stable, one of the lines noosing itself around his neck and hanging him. He would have died in this condition but for the fortunate arrival of a neighbor at the barn, who cut him down.

Garfield Congratulated.

TOLEDO, June 9 .- Garfield arrived here this evening and was met at the depot by a large crowd. A committee of republicans waited upon him to express their congratulations. After a speech from Governor Foster, Garfield expressed his thanks for the reception. All along the route crowds with flags, cannon, bands, &c., greeted him.

Tricks of a Tornado.

LIMA, O., June 6.-During a terrific wind-storm that prevailed to-day in this part of the state, a church near Mount Corey, Hancock county, was completely wrecked. The roof falling on the congregation, twenty people were more or less injured, three of them fatally.

EF Lightning struck a wagon load of people near Neola, Iowa, the other evening, completely tearing John Lynch's hat rim from the crown, thence passing down his neck, severing his clothes into innumerable pieces. The bolt followed his back, burning it and passing off his hips into the buggy seat which Mr. Lynch and Miss Johnson were occupying, One horse was instantly killed, and, strange to say, no other occupant of the buggy was injured.

Miscellaneous News Items.

WASHINGTON, June 10 .- Curtin and Yocum will each get from $8,000 to $10,000 for expenses in their contest, if the report of the election committee, to be made to that effect, is sustained by the House.
