

A Remarkable Meteor.

MACON, Ga., June 30. — Last night, near 12 o'clock, there occurred in this region a phenomenon which for grandeur has not been equaled since the great meteoric showers of 1863. It might be called a meteoric solitaire of the first water. The night was very dark but the sky was perfectly cloudless and the stars were brilliant. Suddenly an intense light lit the city as if by magic. The buildings around the trees, and even the leaves, sprang out of the gloom and quivered in the weird radiance that shone upon us. The glow was different from any artificial light we have ever seen. It was not the light of the sun or the moon, nor yet was it gas light yet whiter and a thousand times more powerful. In an instant the trees around were pictured on the ground, and slowly their black shadows moved past our feet and lengthened behind us.

Involuntarily every face was turned upward, and a most striking apparition met our view. Not a star was left, but directly above, at the zenith, a great mass of fire as large as a barrel whirled in the air. It revolved in the centre of radiance incomparable, and moved slowly down the north-eastern sky with majestic grandeur. At 45° elevation the light changed to a brilliant red, poled into saffron, and then into all shades of green. As it began to change it has emitted particles or balls of fire that followed or lingered in its wake. — Surrounding it, also, in this stage, was a dense vapor or smoke that reflected all the colors through which the ball had gone. — At 30° elevation the light went out, and we stood on the street, blinded and awed. Three minutes glided away. Exclamations of wonder and admiration had been made, and fright had passed away, when there burst upon our ears a deep-toned boom that rose and fell in reverberations for thirty seconds. This noise was similar to that produced by the firing of a 100-ton gun ten miles at sea, with the echoes breaking irregularly along the coast. The sound, however, had mixed with it a metallic ring not heard in thunder or explosions.

So brilliant was the light that people were awakened in their houses and sprang from bed terrified. In this city it produced much fright among the negroes, who filled the air with prayers and loud lamentations. On the plantations the effect was the same. Many who witnessed the phenomenon felt the earth shake just previous to the explosion. At Hawkinsville, 40 miles south of here, the meteor was observed, the rumbling was heard and the shock was felt. The meteor was observed for 40 miles north and south of Macon. The following special was received from Eatonton, 50 miles north of Macon: — "Meteor fell between two places; meteor observed, but did not strike here; appeared to go in a southern direction."

He Wanted Matches.

The Rev. Lloyd Morgan, a young Baptist minister of Western Pennsylvania, is in trouble from his habit of roaming around the houses where he sleeps at night, after everybody else has gone to bed. He boarded at Deacon Snyder's of Logansport, and one night wandered into the room where Snyder's daughter and a visiting young friend of their's, Miss Eva Connor, were in bed, if not asleep. The girls ordered him out, and he went. The Snyder girls told their mother, and Snyder interviewed Morgan about the affair the next day. He said his light had gone out and he was hunting matches, and pleaded that the little affair be kept quiet. The Snyders agreed for the good of the church to say nothing; but Eva Connor, when she went home, talked, and the incident she told made a noise. The elder Snyders kept a watch on Morgan after his match-hunting expedition.

Soon they heard him roaming again one night. Snyder got up, found Morgan's chamber door open and Morgan kneeling down beside the Snyder girl's bed. He lifted him up and bounced him out, and went and got a pistol to shoot the preacher on the spot; but Mother Snyder begged her husband not to shed blood, and Morgan prayed not to be sent to his account all unprepared as he was. The prayers prevailed, and Snyder put up his pistol, but told Morgan to leave his house the next day. Morgan prayed not to be exposed, but he was permitted to remain, and Snyder agreed to keep him on condition that he was to be locked in his room every night—the deacon to carry the key. Morgan accepted the situation, and for some time he has been the deacon's prisoner when not preaching. But the affair finally got out, and now the Homeward Baptist Church at Logansport is investigating it. Deacon Snyder brought the charges and Parson Morgan is making a bold defense.

A dispatch from Victoria says: — "On Saturday last a large crowd assembled at Wellington to perform a series of athletic sports. During the day Thomas Hall, boatswain of ship Maggie E. Zed, created a disturbance, and was chained to a post in the stable of the Wellington Hotel. About six P. M., the stable was discovered on fire. A rush was made to rescue Hall, but before the chain could be removed the flames drove the rescuers back, with scorched hands and faces, and the victim was burned alive before their eyes."

Dr. B. has been engaged in an extensive practice for over 28 years. He has also served his country in the capacity of Surgeon to the 5th Pa. Vol. Infantry during the late Rebellion, holding his Commission from the then Governor of this Commonwealth. His credentials are from one of the best Medical Colleges in America. His success as a practitioner of medicine is acknowledged by recommendations from former patrons, which are free for inspection at all times.

IN THE TREATMENT OF

he has had very extensive experience, and has cured many hopeless cases, after years of suffering, and expense incurred in seeking relief elsewhere.

Among the many chronic complaints treated successfully are Asthma, Bronchitis, Laryngitis, Hemorrhage of the Lungs, Consumption, (first and second stages,) Heart Disease, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Melancholia, Scrofula or King's Evil, Skin Diseases, Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, or enlargement of the Glands of the neck, Dropsy, Piles, chronic Diarrhoea, Constipation of the Bowels, Sick and Nervous Headache, Neuralgia, Diseases of Females, Tumors, Kidney Diseases, Enlarged Spleen, Aneurysm, Deafness, Chronic Chills and Ague, Diabetes Mellitus, old running sores, Tapeworms removed.

Dr. B. does not confine himself to any one particular system of medicine. He uses all the late improved methods and remedies, as also Magneto-Electric, or which is so successfully used at the present day in many forms of nervous complaints. In the treatment of the Lungs and air passages he uses which carries the medicine direct to the diseased parts.

When an incurable case presents itself he is free and candid in telling the patient that he cannot cure him, thus avoiding further expense.

In chronic ailments it is always best for patients to call at his office for personal examination and treatment, when that is practicable.
