ladians in Town.-Ten of the Indians came over from the Springs on Sunday and were present morning and afternoon at the Presbyterian church. In the afternoon some remarks were made by three of the Indian boys, and Capt. Pratt gave the audience his ideas of the right way to civilize the Indians, and related some interesting incidents in this connection that have come under his observation during his term of service in the army. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity, many persons having come quite a distunce to be present at this meeting.

The names of the Indian boys and their tribes are as follows: John D. Downing, Cherokee; Henry C. Romannose and Walker Matches, Cheyennes; Geo. A Terrible Accident. - A young man named Reese, from Harrisburg, was run over, by the H o'clock passenger train east, at Duncannon on Sunday morning, the 18th inst. He tried to run across the track in front of the incoming train when the locomotive caught his heel and threw him on the rails and the train passed over him cutting him in two in the region of the thigh. A special car was sent for to convey him to Harrisburg. He was alive a half hour after the accident, but, both legs being off, it is not thought that he can live. His father lives at Harrisburg and is said to be well off. The young man is probably thirty-five years of age and reported as being married.

Our Officers Charged with Apathy .- Of .. ficer Best, assisted by Deputy Over, arrested an individual on Thursday afternoon, answering to a description sent from Perry county, accompanying which was a reward of $75 for his detention. He was traced to the farm of W. Lehman below town, and when the officers arrived they found him on a grain stack assisting in the work. When it became known that they were after him he at once showed symptoms of alarm and got very pale. He was brought to town and lodged in the lock-up for the night. Officer Best proceeded to Perry county to learn what should be done in the premises. Owing to an apathy on the part of the Perry authorities he was let go .- Newville Star.

St. Swithin's Day .- Thursday was Saint Swithin's day, and many persons are interested in the weather of that day. According to tradition the condition of the weather on that day is the meterological index for the following forty days. In this connection the following adage will prove of interest:

St. Swithin's Day if thou dost rain, For forty days it will remain; St. Swithin's Day, if thou be fair For forty days 'twill rain use mair.

But observations for the past forty years show that St. Swithin cannot always be relied on. St. Swithin's Day was wet in 1841, and there was only 28 rainy days during the 40; 1845 there were 26 rainy days. In 1842 St. Swithin was dry and yet there were 12 rainy days. In fact, there were more ralny days when St. Swithin was dry than when he was wet.

Cumberland County .- We copy the following from the Cumberland papers of last week :

Some one had left two scythes lying on the shelf under the awning, and as Mr. Comerer was about stepping off the pavement to enter his buggy his forehead struck the edge of the scythes, and two ugly gashes were inflicted. Mr. Comerer had not observed them. He is about again as usual.

During the thunder storm last Thursday morning, a thunderbolt struck the residence of J. W. Huston, Esq., about a mile east of town, the effects of which on the house were visible in six places. Mr. Huston's daughter Sallie, aged five years, who was standing on the porch, was struck by the current and thrown to the ground insensible. She was taken into the house, where she came to, and was cared for until the arrival of Dr. Bixler, the family physician, who had been sent for immediately after the cell was taken up.

She was found to be severely burned on the right arm and side, and her body was all covered with purple spots. She suffered intensely, but about noon the pain subsided and the child began to move about. Her clothing were much torn by the current and a strong smell of sulphur pervaded the remnant. A post in one corner of the house was post in one corner of the house was charred and the cellar filled with smoke. No serious damage was done and no fears are entertained for the child. Mr. Huston was in town at the time the house was struck. None of the rest of the family who were in the house were

Ma. Editor: Thinking that a few lines from here might not be out of the way. I will write a short account of matters.

The farmers about here are mostly done harvesting, except the oats. The crops are much better than was expected. All except the oats were remarkably good.

J. L. M'Caskey, M. E., commenced his second term of school with a fair number of students. Mr. M'Caskey is a young man of rare abilities, and stands at the head of his profession. Perry would be benefitted could she secure his service.

Well Mr. Editor, it would amuse you could you see some of our young men, at gatherings. They seem to imagine the ladies are "just dying" for their company, judging by the way they force themselves into their company, and if the gentlemen only knew bow glad the ladies are when they "tear" themselves away, they would not bother them any more. If any of them to the fortunate possessor of a tin watch, he must look several times to see what time it is, and a person would suppose them to be very far sighted, as they often hold them out the length of the chain, and they are not short chains either. Then they will look around screenely upon the ladies, then with a flourish lay them carefully away in their little pockets.

There is very little excitement about politics around here. Every one has made up his mind how he will vote and that is all about it.
