The corn crop in this section now seems to promise to be one of the best ever harvested.

Many persons in Millerstown are af-nicted with malaria fever. Several houses have nearly the whole family ill.

A mule belonging to J. B. Hartzell of Newport was found dead in the stable on Sunday morning a week.

The hotel at the Warm Springs will soon close for the season, and parties intending to visit that place should bear that in mind.

Potatoes seem to have beat the bugs this year. We had some vines that the bugs eat nearly up, but the potatoes turned out well.

Trade must be dull in the city judging from the number of salesmen who can be spared from there. There were thir-teen drummers in this place last week.

On the night of the 16th inst., a large barn on the farm of Denny Findly, near Burnt Cabins, was burned with all its contents. The fire was incendiary.

The chap who prophesied a hot time between the 18th and 24th, hit it exact-ly. We hope he will not give us any more such this year.

woods, near the Church, four and a half miles east of Newport. All are invited to attend. No huckstering will be al-lowed, as there will be a table kept for the benefit of the school. By order of the Committee

A buggy driven by a young man named Brown, turned the corner at Darlington's at too rapid a rate, on Sun-day, and consequently the wheel went down and the buggy turned over. No uerson injured person injured.

"Boozer" McClelland and "Hey" Kitner, graduates of this office, are at present working at Colorado Springs, Colorado. "Goodey" Waggoner, a graduate of the Freeman office, is also there. Linn McKee another compositor of this place, is at Cheyenne, Dakota.— All appear to be getting along well and like the country.

The Little Germany and Adams Glen Sabbath Schools will hold their Centen-nial services in the Bethel church in Little Germany on Sunday the 5th of September, commencing at two o'clock P. M. Services will be conducted by Elder Meixel of Landisburg, assisted by Elder Meixel of Landisburg, assisted by Rev. Weidler of Eshcol and Rev. Con-rad of Elliottsburg. Sunday school workers are invited. workers are invited.

A lad named George Miller, aged about 11 years, son of Davis Miller of Millers-town fell from a load of wood on Satur-day morning, breaking his shoulder.— The loaded wagon also passed over his hips. His injuries were attended to by Dr. Dean, and on Saturday evening the lad seamed to be catting along as wall as lad seemed to be getting along as well as could be expected.

A buggy belonging to Mr. Oliver Rice collided with the hack which ran from town to the camp, on Sunday evening. The damage consisted of a wrecked hind wheel to the buggy. The horse did not get away and no one was hurt. The accident happened near Sheaffer's farm, and was caused by Mr. Rice stopping in the middle of the road.

There will be a basket Picnic near Pleasant Grove Church on the 11th of Sep. Three Sunday Schools will take part ; Schools of Snyders Church, Fair-view and St. Davids. All who wish to be present, are invited. Should Saturday be a bad day the plenic will be postponed till Monday the 18th at 10 A. M.

The M. E. Camp meeting held in the woods two and a half miles west of Bloomfield was largely attended on Sun-day. About 1500 vehicles were on the ground, and not less than 5000 persons. The camp is pleasantly situated, but the ground around and the approach to it, is exceedingly bad.

Bloomfield Schools. - The borough schools except the Primary, are to be opened on the 13th of September. The High School is to be taught by Mr. George R. Barnett, the Grammar School by Mr. J. Wesley Soule, the Secondary by Samuel Shaver and the Primary, to open about close of month, by Miss Ella Burn ; all primary scholars meanwhile to enter the Secondary school.

Fatal Accident.-Last week while Jacob Grim, a lad about four years of age, residing in Conewago township, York county, was sitting on a wheelbarrow, with an open pocket knife in his hand, he fell to the ground, the blade penetrating his abdomen below the lower rib. He was picked up, the knife drawn and Dr. A. V. Gross of Manchester summoned. Despite all medical skill, the lad died.

Pugilism in lekesburg .- On Saturday a very discreditable encounter took place in Ickesburg, between Rev. J. J. Hamilton and James Irvine. An eye witness gives the following account of the affair : While Mr. Irvine was up stairs over Hench's store and Mr. Hench was gone to his supper, Mr. Hamilton came there and insisted upon Irvine coming down. It was evident from Mr. Hamilton's manner that he had lost his temper, (we hope no one, unless a very peacable man, will find it,) and was bent on having trouble. Mr. Irvine declined at first to come down and then Mr. H. called him a liar, and coward, using other in-sulting language, till finally Mr. I. came down and told him he wanted no fight with an old man and a preacher. Mr. H. told him to waive all that and he would clear him of the law. Continued bad language seemed to render some action necessary on Mr. Irvine's part and he consequently knocked Mr. Hamilton down and proceeded to punish him, Mr. H. in the meantime getting in a blow with his cane. Some blood was drawn on both sides and then the bystanders interfered and separated the men. The origin of the trouble we believe was some communications that were published in one of the county papers.

Burglary and Robbery .- On Thursday night thieves pulled down a window in John Snyder's coach shop, on Water street, and entering helped themselves to a couple of cast steel chisels, a gouge and a brace. Thus armed they proceeded to Jones Brother & Co.'s warehouse, a few doors further up, and prying in a door walked in there, where they made a miserable effort, and failed, to bore holes in the safe with a small reamer. On top of the safe lay a bag containing about $10 in pennies, and from the alarm till were taken about $5 in change and defaced coin of small denominations, which were no longer legal tender, and which had been accumulating there for a long time. Closing the door by which they entered after them they departed, and hauled up at the railroad depot, to which admittance was gained through the transum of the gentlemen's waiting room, and from there through the ticket window into the ticket office. The small safe in use there was thrown on the floor, with the face up, when the dumb rascals began toying on the door with the tiny reamer again. To deaden the sound the safe was lain on the agent's and Mr.A. J. Fickes' coats. The thieves got nothing there, only a gold pen and holder, belonging to Andy, valued at about $3, although a number of express packages, in the freight house, were broken open and examined.

Struck by Lightning. - A heavy rain storm accompanied by thunder and lightning, passed over the city from a northwestern point of the compass, about 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. There were several unusually brilliant flashes of lightning noticable, accompanied by heavy peals of thunder. The lightning struck the gable end of the south front of Myers' repair shop, at the lower round house, Pennsylvania railroad, the subtle fluid tearing off the sheeting near the ventilator and knocking off some of the slate on the roof. The bolt was what is termed a "cold" flash, and did very little damage. The men employed in the shop felt the shock perceptibly, but no one was in the least injured. The blacksmith shop hands were also somewhat shocked by the flash, which appeared to have entered that department and to have spent its force there.

The lightning is reported also to have struck the conductor on the State printing office, South Third street, and passed off into the ground without doing any harm.-Harrisburg Patriot of the 25th.

FOR THE TIMES. Family Reunion.

According to arrangement, there was a family reunion at Jacob Billow, Sr., at Shermansdale, Perry Co., Pa., composed of the following persons :—Jacob Billow Sr., and wife, two sons, three daughters, three sons-in-law, one daughter-in-law, five grand-sons, ten grand-daughters, two grand sons-in-law, four great grand-daughters and two great grand-sons.— Mr. and Mrs. Billow were the recipients of a fine rocking chair each, besides other small presents, one of which was the pipe of peace, which was made of the products of the field which compos-es the staff of life. es the staff of life.

Cumberland County .-- We copy the following from the Cumberland papers of last week :

Last Monday a copperhead snake crawled into the Shippensburg Post Of-fice. The postmaster and his assistants dispatched him before he had time to inquire for his letters.

A pocket book containing a small amount of money, taken from the house of Joseph McDermond, in Mifflin twp., a few weeks ago, has been returned un-harmed.

The Newville Enterprise says, several young girls from Newville were at camp meeting on Wednesday night, so drunk that they behaved in a very disgraceful manner, and should have been "scooped" in.

On Monday we were shown a double peach, by Mr. Charles W. Reep, living on South street, which for size takes the lead. There are two large peaches grown together and they measure exactly one foot in circumference. Mr. R. informed us that he got off the same tree last year, two nearly as large — Volunicer. two nearly as large .--- Volunteer.

Jacob Ensminger, of Mifflin twp., had some cattle ranging on the North mountain, and on looking after them on Saturday, found that a large and fine steer had been struck by lightning. It doubtless was struck by the storm that went down the mountain on the Tues-day previous. The value was about twenty five dollars. day previous. The twenty-five dollars.

On Thursday afternoon, a man named William Sheaffer, living near Bolling Springe, in the employ of the Reading ore banks, was instantly killed while working in a drift, by the the top falling in upon him. No blame whatever attaches to the management of the exten-sive mines. The deceased was about 40 years of age and leaves a widow and eight children to mourn his untimely end. Coroner Smith and a jury held an inquest on Friday morning, and rendered a verdict in accordance with the above facts.

Valuable Farm At Public Sale !

J. J. Barclay, railroad agent at Newport was last week called to Bedford to attend his brothers funeral, and while there was taken ill and remains under the doctors care.

Hurrah! Let us be thankful for the good news. A fashion reporter says: "No lady now thinks of wearing a train to her dress on the street, short dresses are the style."

The Duncannon Record says: Mr. John Seabolt, of Penn township, told us he had a cat that had three kittens and a rabbit at one litter, the other day. Where is Wheatfield now?

R. Milton Speer, Esq., of Hunting-don, received the nomination for Con-gress in this district at the Democratic Conference which met at Patterson, last week.

H. Clay Marshall, son of Jas. Marshall, (tanner) a former resident of this bor-ough, has been nominated by the Re-publicans of Huntingdon county, for Assembly.

Mr. Jerry Billow formerly of this place, now of Renovo, was on a visit here on Friday last. In driving through town he was unfortunate enough to break the spindle of his buggy, but no was hurt.

A Democrat pole was raised at Lan-disburg on Saturday. Democratic help being rather scarce some Republicans good naturedly gave a helping hand. During the operation Mr. Chas. Kell and Mr. Henry Rinesmith were both somewhat injured.

Joel Lobaugh, aged 58 years and 2 months, died at his home in Page co., Iowa, on the 13th Inst., of dropsy. He was a brother of G. W. Lobaugh, of Newport, and was born in Adams coun-ty, this State. He at one time resided near Newport, also in Raccoon Valley, this county. this county.

A young lady in Tyrone township was somewhat annoyed by a pet pig that would eat up the chicken feed be-fore the chickens had a fair show. A few days since, to drive the pig away, she threw a hammer at it, which struck so fair that the blow instantly killed it, and fresh pork was consequently put on the market rather early in the season.

The U. S. S. of the Lutheran church in Buck's Valley, will hold a basket picnic September 4th, in John Albright's Killed by a Snake.-The Dillsburg Bulletin of last week says : "One evening last week, Harry Spahr, living on Geo. P. Weavers' farm, discovered that one of his cows were missing. He went in search of her, and to his astonishment found her lying dead. Upon raising the cow's head a large black snake appeared from underneath her. The cow was found lying near some water in the field, and the supposition is that while she was drinking the snake wrapped itself around her neck and choked her.

Horse Stolen .- On Friday morning last a week, a valuable three year old sorrel mare was stolen from the stable of J. D. Walck, about five miles northwest of Greencastle. A young son of Mr. Walck tracked the mare several miles, and at last overtook her and the thief. The man finding he was pursued, dismounted and ran through the fields. Young Mr. Walck recognized him as William Stickel, and so informed his father, who made information against Stickel .--Stickel was captured in Greencastle that night, and in default of $500 bail, was committed to jail, where he now is .-Repository.

Game Laws .- A subscriber asks about the date when squirrels are legal game. Here are the dates when all game is legal. Let those interested in such matters cut it out for reference. Woodcock, July 15th to January 1st; plover, July 15th to January 1st; rail bird, September 1st to December 1st; reed bird, September 1st to December 1st; equirrel, September 1st to January 1st; wild fowl, September 1st to May 15th ; ruffed grouse, October 1st to January 1st ; pin-

These robberies occurred between twelve and one o'clock. A noise, presumed to have been made by the robbers, was heard at the depot about those hours by Mrs. Annie Ickes, which fixes the time.

There is no clew to the thieves, although a man, in whose company was a delicate-looking woman, asking alms about town earlier in the evening is suspicioned by some .- Newport News.

A Shower of Cider .- A scene of excitement was produced in the brick market house, Broad street, Thursday morning, which became one of merriment before it was over, in enjoyment of which many persons participated. A farmer had brought a barrel of cider to retail, and placed it on one of the stalls, where butter, eggs and other produce were being sold. While a crowd of men. women and boys were pressing around the stall making purchases, the bung of the cidar barrel suddenly flew out with a loud explosion, sending a stream of foaming apple juice like a miniature plug stream ten feet into the air, causing the crowd to disperse in all directions, but not until all had been saturated with the falling cider. Market Master Dubbs, who was on the ground, was driven to the nearest door by the force of the concussion, but escaped injury, while a number of hard money farmers who were near the scene never budged .-Everybody laughed who had no cider on their hats, hair or clothes .- Harrisburg Telegraph.

above facts. On Saturday evening last, a neighbor noticed Mr. John Treibler, of East Louther street, in his yard acting in a strange manner. Mr. T. had a strap, which looked like a pair of suspenders, which he fastened around his neck and mounting a stool fastened the other end to a post about three feet above his head and swung himself off. At this instant Mr. T.'s son appeared in the yard and the neighbor, by signs called his atten-tion to the scene down the yard. In a moment the son unharnessed the father after slight resistance, and in due time the lunatic was subdued, although sev-eral members of the family were bruised during the struggle. No cause is assignduring the struggle. No cause is assigned for the rash attempt.-Mirror.
