THE town elections that were held in Connecticut last week, resulted in a manner satisfactory to the Republicans. Eighty-nine towns were carried by the Republicans and fifty-nine by the Democrats, while fifteen were divided.

THE Supreme Court has restored Messrs. Steinman & Hensel, editors of the Lancaster Intelligencer, to the bar. They were disbarred by Judge Patterson, of Lancaster, for criticizing the action of the court in their paper. The decision meets general approval.

A Bad Report from Kansas.

According to a letter from Frank Wilkeson in the New York Sun, 16,000 people in Western Kansas are now starving owing to the failure of their crops on railroad land sold to them as fertile, but in fact barren wastes on which no crops can be grown, the representations of the railroads to the contrary notwithstanding.

Copper Ore Near Waynesboro.

The Waynesboro Record of last week says: On Saturday last our attention was called to a quartz copper specimen taken from the shaft on the copper farm of D. B. Russell, Esq., on the South Mountain, last week at a depth of forty-six feet, which for richness surpasses anything in that line we have yet seen. The fissure vein in width in this shaft is nine feet from wall to wall, and we are told the percentage of copper increases gradually as they descend with the shaft. This completely explodes the theory of one who claimed to be an expert on the ore question, and who gave it as his opinion that the ore found in that region was washed there and therefore confined to the surface, and in such quantities as would not justify mining.

How it was Done.

Some persons will remember the attempt to levy blackmail on Rev. Dr. Beckly, and it was ingeniously circumvented through the skill of a well-known expert, A. W. Mead, Esq. The blackmailing letter was submitted to Mr. Mead, and after a careful study of it, he announced that it was written by a lady with a gloved hand, possibly for the purpose of better effecting a disguise. The suspected lady was introduced in court, and caused to write copies of a portion of the letter, first without and then with a gloved hand. It became manifest that she was the writer of the letter, and she afterward admitted it, and that she had written it with a glove on, not to facilitate disguise, but because she had a glove on and was in too much haste to take it off.

"Frizzes" and "Bangs."

It may interest some young girls to know that a bishop in an Eastern State, while confirming, refused to lay his hand on any "frizzed" or "banged" heads, and that "frizzes" and "bangs" were forbidden in his diocese. An exchange, commenting on this action, says: This is a move in the right direction. It was about time something was done towards rescuing our young girls from the frightful demon of "bangs" and "frizzes." When a maiden acquires a taste for this soul-destroying fashion her head first appears with a couple of modest little curls fondly clinging to her temple; but pretty soon her downward career becomes more marked. The blood is poisoned, the whole system permeated with a vitiated taste for bangs and frizzes, and she boldly promenades the streets with her forehead garnished with the corrupting bangs from one ear to the other, and reaching down to her eyebrows! And if this terrible passion is not checked in its first stages, before it seizes hold of the girl with such a vise-like grip that she cannot shake it off, the victim is carried to a "banged" and "frizzed" grave with all her perfections upon her forehead, and her parents are plunged in a sorrow that will not be comforted. Girls, look not upon the bang when it curlth over the brow like a viper! Shun the first friz as you would a hoppergrass at a plo-nic! for at last it stingeth like a steel-blue wasp and keepeth the sensible man afar off! Mother, where is your daughter to-night? Is she in her chamber preparing the baneful quince seed juice with which to fresco her fair forehead with the demoralizing bangs in the morning? Speak to her—plead with her—apply the slipper where it will do the most good before it is everlastingly too late!

A Terrible Domestic Tragedy.

CHICAGO, October 8.—A despatch from Quincy, Illinois, says about 5 o'clock last evening a young man named Sellers, living with a family named Baker, six miles from New Canton, during Mr. Baker's absence from home, insisted that the daughter, 15 years of age, to whom he had become attached, should promise to marry him. This was refused, whereupon he drew a revolver, and after shooting the dog, immediately shot the mother, then the girl whose hand he sought. He next placed the pistol to his own temple and fired. Every shot proved fatal. A younger daughter witnessed the tragedy and gave the above facts in her testimony before the coroner's jury.

Fatal Accident at the Steel Works.

About 10 o'clock Tuesday morning a man named Alexander Hill, of Columbia, who was employed as a hod carrier at the new building at the steel works, fell from a scaffold, a distance of 25 feet to the ground, breaking his back. He received immediate attention at the hands of a Steelton physician, after which he was taken to the hospital, where at a late hour Tuesday evening he was reported to be in a precarious condition, with no possible hope of recovery. His age is about 55 years and has a wife and children residing at Columbia.

Two Persons Killed and Several Wounded.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 7.—An accident is reported to have happened on the Fitchburg railroad to the Tunnel express about 9 o'clock this evening, at or near Littleton, Mass. Few particulars are at hand, but it is stated that Enos Varney, the master car builder, and Mr. Faulkner, a stone cutter residing in Ayer, were killed and several others injured. The train left the track. The cause of the accident has not yet been ascertained.

Heavy Diamond Robbery.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The police were notified to-day of an extensive robbery of diamond jewelry at the boarding school at No. 17 West Thirty-eighth street. The value of the articles stolen is between $2,000 and $4,000. Suspicion is directed to a servant girl, whose arrest is expected.

Some malicious scoundrel entered a stable the other night, belonging to a Mrs. Maguire, residing near Orange City, Sioux county, and taking two mules out of their stalls, tied their tails together. When found next morning one of the mules had almost pulled his tail off, and both were terribly kicked up.

According to the New York papers Dr. Tanner does not find his notoriety as a starvationist very profitable. The receipts from his second lecture were but $2.75. There were only twenty-two people in the hall at 25 cents a head, and half these were dead-heads. The public cares more to know what to eat, and how to get it, than how to starve.

DENVER, October 7.—Dick Allen, who had just arrived here from the south, reports that warrants were issued for the arrest of Agent Berry, Captain Kline and Hoyt on the charge of murdering young Jackson and that officers have gone to the reservation to make the arrests. He further states that the citizens and freighters are thoroughly aroused and should the men be taken they will likely be lynched before they can be conveyed to Gunnison City.

James Brown is the name of a man at Centerville, N. J., who though at one time was a New York broker, is now employed as a hod carrier. The other day, as he was about to ascend the ladder with his hod, a letter was handed to him announcing that he had fallen heir to $54,000, by the death of his father. He told the news to his fellow workmen, but continued his employment, and was promptly on hand the next day, as usual. Seven women applied to him for the position of house-keeper.

Miss Annie Fisher while at work in her kitchen in Johnstown, Cambria Co., recently, found a paper of strange looking black powder, and regarding it as worthless, threw it on the fire of a coal stove. A powerful flash followed instantly, and the lady was severely burned about the face and neck, while her right forearm was also badly scorched. Her clothing likewise caught fire, but the flames were speedily quenched by Mrs. Fisher, who was fortunately close at hand.

While two young ladies of Wilson College were walking on the board walk near that institution, on Saturday last, one of them dropped her pocket book containing twenty-five dollars. They saw a man pick it up and walk on down the pike. They informed the Lady Principal who proceeded in a carriage with a colored man in the direction the man had taken. He was overtaken but denied having the pocket book. He finally acknowledged he had the money and was willing to give it up on receipt of one dollar. This was given him, and the young lady was glad to part with it for the sake of twenty-four.

Miscellaneous News Items.

A valuable mare belonging to William C. Scott, living near Emmittsburg, Md., fell into a well recently, and had to be killed before she could be removed.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 7.—President Hayes and party arrived at Dallas last evening and received a cordial welcome from the citizens. The party left during the evening for Cascades.

The Rev. A. A. Hoskin, who had been deposed by the Methodists for herodoxy, was denied permission to perform a marriage ceremony in his former church at Milwaukee.

A little girl named Kennedy picked up a piece of bologna which had been prepared to poison a dog in the Thirty-sixth ward, Pittsburg, on Sunday afternoon and died from the effects of it.

Diphtheria of a most malignant type is said to prevail to an alarming extent in Derry township, Westmoreland county, and likewise at Connellsville, Fayette county. There seems to be no abatement of the disease in the latter town.

Kansas cattle raisers, in order to hinder competition, had a law passed forbidding the passage through the State of herds from Texas, but a United States Court has declared the act unconstitutional.

Albert Gray of Dallas, Texas, had lately been converted to Christianity, and therefore when William Young swore profanely in his presence, he was dreadfully shocked. He drew a revolver, implored the blasphemer to stop, and then shot him dead.

Dr. McMahon's attentions to a young lady at Columbian, Ohio, did not please her friends among the young men of the village, because they knew that he had a wife at Alliance, and they pelted him with raw eggs one night.

A bill collector returned to Memphis on horseback, with a bag full of gold and silver coin. The horse ran away, the bag burst, and a great crowd followed for a mile, picking up the money, none of which has been recovered.

Susan Gladden of Unionville, Ohio, being very angry at Forest Morfet, told him she would shoot him or his horse with the gun she carried, whichever he chose.—He said "Neither," and she mercifully decided on the beast, sending a bullet through its heart.

The Board of Supervisors at Buffalo N. Y., has come to a dead lock, two republicans having gone over to the Democrats, and one Democrat to the Republicans. After adjournment Tuesday, a disgraceful row took place at a neighboring saloon.

At Milwaukee, Wednesday, Mrs. F. Crocker, a frequent disturber of Women's Rights meetings, attempted to shoot her step-mother, Mrs. J. B. Smith. She failed however, to do any other harm than shoot off one of her own fingers. She was arrested.

BRADFORD, Pa., October 7.—By a fall of scaffolding on R. B. Stone's new building this morning, Charles Roedell and Charles F. Freeman, painters, were precipitated twenty-five feet into the area. Roedell was instantly killed and Freeman probably fatally injured.

RICHMOND HILL, Ont., October 4.—This afternoon two brothers named Fahey, residing in the township of Martham, quarreled, when the elder struck the younger on the forehead with a mug inflicting a ghastly and probably fatal wound. Their father on seeing the wound fell dead.

At Sacramento, Cal., recently Mrs. George Hamilton sent a note asking an interview with her husband, from whom she had been separated. He called on her and during their conversation she shot him dead. The act was prompted by jealousy. Last winter she shot and severely wounded a young girl who had excited her jealousy.

The Hazelton Sentinel says that a peculiar fever has attacked the people of Beaver Brook and gives the names of eighteen persons who are now down with the disease. There are various theories as to the cause of the sickness, one of which is that the plague was taken to Beaver by the filthy Hungarians who recently visited the place.

BUFFALO, N. Y., October 3.—While Max Walter was going down into a well to clean it out his foot slipped and he fell to the bottom and was impaled by a large stick, which went completely through his body coming out at his back. The injured man got out without assistance and was removed to the hospital and was alive at last accounts.

PITTSBURG, Pa., October 5.—James Loughery, eighteen years old, was accidentally shot and killed this afternoon. He was on his way home from a hunting excursion with a companion named Pat Clipper, when the latter's gun caught in the branches of a tree and was discharged, the contents lodging in Loughery's brain, causing death in a few minutes afterwards.

The boy Gerke, of Fort Wayne, who was struck in the stomach by a glancing stone, thrown by Lou Beuric, Jr., and died soon after, proves to have been afflicted with gall-stones, and it is the opinion of the doctors he would have died of natural causes in a few days. Two stones about the size of pigeon eggs were found in the peritoneal cavity.

A curious sight was seen the other day on the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad. When a train arrived at Council Bluffs, Iowa, one car axle was loaded with icicles several inches long, although the thermometer was at eighty-six degrees. The car contained gasoline and leaked.—Gasoline being extremely volatile, of course evaporated very fast as every volatile liquid does, a diminution of temperature, a principle made use of in all ice machines.

The prisoners in a jail at Grenada, Miss., resolved to set fire to the building, and trust to the chance of getting out before being burned to death. As soon as the flames had gained a headway they set up a tremendous yell, which awakened the keeper. He unlocked the cells, and the inmates escaped; but some were singed, and one was suffocated almost to death.

Wm. Ludwig's conduct was so despicable that his fellow operatives in a mill at East Dedham, Mass., treated him to a coat of tar and feathers. He returned to his work the next day, but he was met with jeers and taunts. After enduring this a few hours he went out and committed suicide.

Michael Decker, an aged citizen of Milflin county, died at his home near Longfellow on Friday last. Deceased was a native of this county, and was born and raised within a few miles of our borough. He was the father of Rev. A. W. Decker, now of Concord, Franklin county, and was aged 86 years, 8 months and 18 days. He was father of 12 children, 7 of whom survive him, 48 grandchildren and 18 great grandchildren, and was the last of his own family except one sister.—Huntingdon News.

There are thousands of respectable and virtuous family dogs who go to church but a dog belonging to a gentleman of St. Thomas, Ont., scorns to belong to the common herd of dogs who go to the same church as their masters. This dog is an independent kind of animal. He is active, playful and companionable on week days, but when Sunday comes he refuses to have any fun or to encourage company. His master's family are Presbyterians, and he gravely escorts them to the Presbyterian Church every Sunday, and then quietly goes off to the Methodist Church, near-by where he occupies a retired corner and pays strict attention to the service.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 6, 1880.

The Washington friends of General Grant, and they are many, are all glad that he has so promptly taken occasion to correct the erroneous statements of some one who attempted to convey his ideas of General Hancock as a soldier and gentleman. General Grant was always fair in his treatment of officers, and, though now out of the army, does not, of course, wish to be otherwise than fair. The General denies saying anything which could be construed as showing that Hancock allowed Presidential aspirations to interfere with the discharge of his duties as an officer.

The opening day of the National Fair, in this city, owing to extremely bad weather, was not as successful as was expected, but every thing promises well for the remaining ten days. St. Julien will trot on the 8th, and her driver believes the track will be in good condition by that time. The display of various kinds of agricultural products and machinery is good.

The answer of Ex-Senator Christianity to his wife's cross bill for divorce was finally due here yesterday, but was not received by the clerk of the District Court. The venerable official can further defend the case only by indulgence of the Court. He is not supplying means for carrying on the proceedings in his own application for divorce, and out of these facts have come rumors of a probable settlement of the case by the parties. The attorneys of both, however, say they know nothing of any arrangements for settlement.

The result of the Maine election for Governor is still in doubt. The official returns will not be canvassed till January, and it is probable that General Plaislet will be found to have a small plurality. But there are 1,470 votes returned for Plaislet under different given names. If these, or a portion even, are thrown out, Davis, Republican, will be elected Governor. If the rule that Governor Garcelon and his council adopted is followed, then Davis will surely be elected; but the prospect now is that Plaislet will win. It is among the political gossip that Eugene Hale will soon leave the State and go to Michigan to attend to the estate of the late Senator Chandler, his father-in-law; that Congressman Reed will be the candidate for United States Senator, and that Frye will continue in the lower House of Congress. It is well known that Mr. Hamilton will not be a candidate for re-election. He expressed his intention quite a year ago of retiring to private life, but he was called into the campaign last year and this, but now retires without doubt.

No More Hard Times.

If you will stop expending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style, buy good healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way, and especially stop the foolish habit of employing expensive, quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, but put your trust in that simple, pure remedy, Hop Bitters; that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see good times and have good health.—Chronicle. 41 2t
