His success as a practitioner of medicine is acknowledged by recommendations from former patrons, which are free for inspection at all times.

IN THE TREATMENT OF Chronic Diseases

he has had very extensive experience, and has cured many hopeless cases, after years of suffering, and expense incurred in seeking relief elsewhere.

Among the many chronic complaints treated successfully are Asthma, Bronchitis, Laryngitis, Hemorrhage of the Lungs, Consumption, (first and second stages,) Heart Disease, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Melancholia, Scrofula or King's Evil, Skin Diseases, Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, or enlargement of the Glands of the neck, Dropsy, Piles, chronic Diarrhoea, Constipation of the Bowels, Sick and Nervous Headache, Neuralgia, Diseases of Females, Tumors, Kidney Diseases, Enlarged Spleen, Epilepsy, Deafness, Chronic Chills and Ague, Diabetes Mellitus, old running sores. INHALATIONS, which carries the medicine direct to the diseased parts. When an incurable case presents itself he is free and candid in telling the patient that he cannot cure him, thus avoiding further expense.

In chronic ailments it is always best for patients to call at his office for personal examination and treatment, when that is practicable.

MANHOOD

How Lost, How Restored! Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of Spermatorrhoea or Seminal weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, post-paid, on receipt of six cents or two postage stamps. The Dutchman's Note.

Hans purchased a horse of a neighbor one day, And lacking a part of the Geld—as they say, Made a call upon Fritz to solicit a loan To help him to pay for his beautiful roan.

Fritz kindly consented the money to lend, And gave the required amount to his friend; "Remember,"—his own simple language to quote— "Perhaps it was better we make us a note."

The note was drawn up in their primitive way; "I, Hans gets from Fritz ten feeble tollars to-day."

When the question arose, the note being made, "Vieh von holds dot baper until it was bald?"

"You geepe dot," says Fritz, and den you vill know You owes me dot money." Says Hans, "Dot ish so;

Dot makes me remempers I have dot to bay, Und I prings you der note und der money some day."

A month had expired, when Hans, as agreed, Paid back the amount and from debt he was freed.

Says Fritz, "Now dot settles us." Hans replied, "Yaw; Now you dakes dot baper accordings by law?"

"I geepe dot now, ain't it?" says Fritz; "den you see I always remempers you baid dot to me."

Says Hans, "Dot ish so; it yas now shust so blain, Dot I knows vat to do ven I borrows again."

A man named Oats was arrested for beating his wife and children. On being sentenced to imprisonment, the brute remarked that it was a hard man was not allowed to thrash his own oats.

An Iowa schoolmaster knocked down a hornet's nest to use in illustrating a lecture, but if the remarks he made immediately after while kiting across the country were merely those he intended to use in the lecture relative to the hornet's nest—and they certainly referred to the nest—the discourse was one totally unfit for children to hear.

"Is your program full, Miss Bee-tlecrusher?" asked a young man of a western daniel who had just struggled out of the refreshment room with disappointment in her eye and an "order of dances" in her hand. "Program full?" said the daughter of the setting sun. "Waal, I guess not! I hain't had nothing but a piece of cake and an ice cream, and that don't go far toward filling my program, I can tell you."

A Kentucky man has two springs on his place, the waters of which, when mixed, effervesce like a seidlitz powder, and when an old mule got loose the other night and drank copiously first from one spring and then from the other, it was seventeen minutes before he could catch his breath, and then he went and kicked down four rods of fence to make sure that the disturbance wasn't caused by his swallowing his own hind legs.

An old Vermont farmer came home drunk the other night, and became the victim of an irrepressible desire to get still drunker. So he thought he would bring out his wagon and drive over to Shelburn Falls for more whisky. Just as he was about putting the finishing touches on the harnessing arrangements he said to himself, "This horse has got horns." He brought out his lantern and found he had harnessed the cow to the wagon. He muttered, "I'm drunk enough now," unhitched the beast and went into the house to sleep it off.

Archdeacon Denison was once closely pressed in an argument, but had evidently resolved to die hard. At length his antagonist lost all patience at the irregular warfare of the Archdeacon.—"Look here, sir," he exclaimed despairingly, "do you acknowledge that two and two make four?" "I am not prepared to make an admission of that importance," replied the Archdeacon, "till I have given the subject the maturest consideration. Sometimes it is supposed that they make twenty-two.

The pupils had got as far as the word "hypocrite." None of the children could explain what it meant. One guessed that it meant "big feeling," and another thought a "hypocrite" was a "big animal that wallers in the mud." So the teacher explained: "A hypocrite, children, is a person who pretends to be what he is not; such a one may be pleasant to your face, but speaks ill behind your back." "Please, marm, cried a little boy eagerly, raising his hand, "then my pa ain't a hypocrite, 'cause he said you was a confounded old maid, and he'd just 's lives tell yer so to yer face!"
