THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE and the reports of the heads of the departments were sent to Congress on Monday of last week. The message is long and yet contains little that is really of interest. Most persons who care to read such a document, have already read it in the daily papers, we therefore make no extracts from it. The report of the Secretary of the Treasury however is very interesting. By his showing, the receipts from customs have exceeded the estimates by fifty-five millions, the internal revenue receipts by nine millions, and the total ordinary receipts by almost seventy millions. On the other hand, despite the payment of almost twenty millions for arrears of pensions, the total disbursements are only eight millions greater than were estimated .-Out of this vast surplus of income over seventy-three millions has gone to the sinking fund, through whose operations almost as large a part of the funded debt or more than three and a half per cent of the total, has been paid off. The reports shows the financial condition of the United States to be better than that of any of the great nations of the world.

Daring Robbery.

Early Wednesday evening last, while John A. Lehman, a jeweler at 109 south Thirteenth street, was alone in his store he was startled by a crash of glass, and turning found that one of his window panes had been broken. A man reached in and seized a tray of rings, with which he proceeded to walk away. Mr. Lehman jumped the counter and made a rush for the door, but to his surprise found it securely fastened with a rope, and by the time he succeeded in opening it the thief had escaped with his plunder, the total value of which is between $450 and $500. The fellow in his flight dropped a small mallet, which had evidently been used to shatter the glass. Several of the rings were afterward found on the west side of Thirteenth street, near Sansom, showing that the thief took that direction. Thirteenth street in that vicinity is generally crowded about the hour the robbery was committed, but no one appears to have seen the man at work or heard the sound of the breaking glass.-Philadelphia North American,

Another Mine Explosion.

CARDIFF, December 10 .- A great explosion occurred this morning at the Penygraig new colliery, in the Rhondda Valley, Wales. It is believed that eighty-seven persons have perished. An exploring party has just discovered sixteen corpses. The search is impeded by after damp and debris. The pit is about a mile from the scene of the great explosion in the Dinas colliery, in the same valley on January 13th, 1879, when about sixty persons lost their lives.

A later London dispatch says of the explosion in the colliery of Penygraig, Wales, this morning: The shock of the explosion was felt for miles around the earth shaking as if there were an carthquake. There are also eighteen horses in the pit, which is 450 yards in depth. Eighty-seven men are known to be dead.

A Red Hot Collar.

A thrilling accident occurred at the American Iron Works, on South Side, Pittsburgh, Thursday afternoon. While Robert Moore was at work at his rolls his catcher failed to seize with his tongs a bar of white-hot iron which had been placed between the rolls. The iron twisted itself thrice around the roll, forming a "collar." The catcher struck the iron, when there blew off a piece in shape of a ring with a stem twenty inches long. Running off at right angles to the circle the band flew back and fell around Moore's head, resting on his shoulders. Quick as thought he grabbed the long stem with his tongs and the white-hot ring with his hand, and with steady nerve and gentle movement lifted the flery thing from his shoulders. His face was badly burned by the heat emitted from the iron, and the flesh of his hand was cut in to the bone. Afterward he put the ring over his head. It was but two inches larger in diameter than his head,

A Disgusting Sight.

Yesterday a young lady scarcely out of her teens and a young man came to this city with the intention of being married to-day. Last evening they concluded to walk around for a while and see the sights. While doing so the gallant wanted a drink of whiskey, and when he took it, after much persuasion, prevailed on the lady to do likewise, although she strongly objected. It is said that the single drink made her dead drunk, she never having taken any before. At any rate she was found lying down and unable to move by the police, and was hauled to the lockup in a cart, to stay there until she sobered off. Her escort was also captured and locked up. -Altoona Tribune of the 9th inst.

Tricky Gloves.

On Friday afternoon a brakeman whose name we did not learn had a narrow escape at the Fourth street crossing. He had on a pair of heavy buckskin gloves and was standing by a train. In some way his hand was caught and held fast by the cars, which were moving slowly. Another train came slowly along the next track in the opposite direction, when he put his gloved hand on it. This also stuck fast and the fellow received a severe stretching before one hand pulled loose. The gloves were torn to pieces .- Altoona Tribune.

Hard on the Saloon Men.

MONTPELIER, Vt., December 7 .- The nuisance bill, one of the most stringent liquor prohibitory bills ever passed in this state has passed both branches of the legislature. This bill makes any place of resort where liquor is sold or given away, or where gambling is allowed, a nuisance, and the place shut up, the keeper being fined $20 to $200 and imprisonment for three months.

A Premium on Widows.

The late James E. Brown, the Kittanning millionaire, in his will makes a distribution of $2,000,000, and bequeaths $25 to every widow in Kittanning, and an equal amount to every wife who shall become a widow. A large portion of the estate goes to Presbyterian church

Dr. Bliecter, of Fort Scott, Kansas, sold a farm for $9,575 cash. He started for Eureka Springs and met an old friend at Joplin, and stayed there a day. This was a fortunate circumstance, as the coach he was booked for was stopped and worked by highwaymen.

John Eller, of Alden, Hardin county, Iowa, while riding along the road on horseback, saw a ball of fire drop directly upon him from the sky. Rendered unconscious by the shock, he found, with returning sense, that the bolt had seared his horse's head as with a hot iron, killing it.

A convict was taken before the Mayor of Bordeaux to be married. He wore handcuffs and had for groomsmen three policemen, but was permitted to doff for once the prison attire. His mother and sisters were present. The happy pair were permitted to be together alone for just five minutes.

A young Australian whose affianced broke off their engagement wrote for "that lock of hair" she had given him. In a day or two she got a bundle of locks and a note saying that he really could not remember which was hers, but hoped she would choose for herself and send back the reremainder.

NEW YORK, December 3 .- The Grand Jury in General Sessions to-day presented indictments against Samuel Sullivan Morey for perjury and against Joseph Hart, Louis A. Post, Kenward Philp and Charles A. Byrne for publishing in the paper called Truth a criminal libel upon General Garfield. If convicted the penalty is one year in the penitentiary and a fine of $2,500.

The Rev. Mr. Shokey was preaching at Carson, Nevada, on the swallowing of Jonah by a whale. There were some sporting men in the congregation, and their faces expressed doubt of the story. Seeing this, the minister said : "I'll bet $100. coin up that I can prove every word of it. Does anybody respond?" Nobody answered, and he went on with his discourse.

A new officer at Vineland played a bright trick the other day. An inoffensive citizen was running to catch a train, and the officer stopped and arrested him for violating a new borough ordinance. He was about to lock him up or make him pay fifty cents, when a Councilman told him there was no ordinance against running on foot through the streets. The officer apologized and released his prisoner, saying some one had told him that was the new

In an action for divorce commenced at Minneapolis the plaintiff alleges that in the year 1876, in the State of Vermont, he married a young lady at the instigation of a deputy sheriff, who read to him a warrant for arrest, and threatened him with imprisonment for non-compliance. Since that time he has not lived with his wife, and alleges that he had not lived with her before, had never proposed marriage to her, and that there was no reason why he should marry her. He further alleges that since that time be has ascertained that the officer purporting to be a deputy sheriff was not an official of any kind, and had no warrant

CHICAGO, December 7 .- While the accomodation train of the Michigan Southern railroad was stopping at the Thirtyfifth street station to-night, William F. Mackey, police officer, stepped off on the sideway from the station when the rear car of a freight train on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, which was backing on a parallel track, without lights, caught him and crushed him to death .-Mangled portions of his body were jammed into a space between the planks of the street crossings and rails, and threw the rear car of the freight train off the track. It was overturned into a culvert and other cars were piled on top of it. Switch Conductor Robert Beaubin, in charge of the train, was carried over with the rear car and instantly killed and buried in the wrecked cars which piled upon him.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 8, 1880. The Winter season here was inaugurated Monday by the convening of the last session of the 46th Congress. The season just opened promises to be one of unusual galety and splendor. One reason for which is that it is the last of President Hayes' Administration, and another is that no great political questions are likely to arise in Congress to draw the attention of Senators and members from social duties, as in the past two sessions. In fact, people here are anticipating the enjoyment of a Winter in which politics will take a back seat, and Republicans and Democrats will meet in the briliant parlors of our fashionable quarter, and enjoy an intercourse unrestrained by the rememberance of Congressional abuse. The President's message was read in Congress Monday. Without entering into any elaborate description, the general opinion is that it's recommendation of new legislation, and changes in existing laws are all good, and if acted on can not do other than benefit the country. The growth of stalwart Republicanism in the Presidential mind crops out early in the message, in his advice to the House to seat no member who came by such seat at the expense of free suffrage, and a fair count. I am glad the President recognizes the necessity of increasing our merchant marine service, and recommends that Congress subsidize lines of mail steamships to South American ports, and the West Indies. He rightly says that the large increase in our products and consequent exports, demand that immediate measures be taken to increase our Merchant Marine. He also recommends, the laying of a Cable across the Pacific Ocean. Congress will be asked within a few days to incorporate an inter-oceanic company. This company proposes to construct a canal via the Nicaragulan route. The act of incorporation is now ready. The list of incorporators embraces many of the most wealthy and prominent gentlemen in the United States. The De Lesseps scheme will not in the least interfere with the American project. It is stated that all the money necessary for the work has been assured.

In the absence of Chairman Atkins, Representative Blout, of Georgia, presided at the meeting of the House Committee an appropriations to-day. Reports were received from the sub-committees in charge of the pensions, military academy, fortifications and consular and diplomatic appropriations bills, all of which were fairly advanced. It is thought three, if not all four of these bills will be ready to be reported to the House on Thursday. The sub-committee on the consular and diplomatic bill will hold a conference with Secretary Everts to-day, and expect to perfect the bill in a few days.

Admonished by the fact that a fire had its own way recently, all night in one of the cloak rooms leading to the hall of the House of Representatives, a fire extinguisher, on wheels, has been purchased for use at the Capitol. It is not known whether it is to be used to put out fires or wake up the watchman.

OLIVB.

A New Paying Occupation for Ladies and Gentlemen.

The Handsome Nickle Plated New Home Lamp being introduced to the public this Season is the most meritorious article ever offered Agents to make money with, is safer, and more convenient than the Student Lamp, which has heretofore had the reputation of being the safest lamp made, it has a clamp to firmly attache it to the Sewing Machine, Piano, Organ, Desk, etc. The fear of the ordinary lamp being accidently upset or thrown from the table, is entirely relieved by this simple clamp contrivance. It can be adjusted to throw the light just where it is wanted to suit the eyes, and can be converted into a handsome wall lamp. It has the best argand burner, a filling indicator, and conveni-ent match box, and its price is within the reach of every one. It has been fully tested, and editorially endorsed by the "Western Christian Advocate," "Am. Christian Review," "Heraid and Presbyter," "Journal and Messenger," and "Christian Standard," the leading Religious papers of Cincinnati, and is endorsed by the Mayor and Post-Master of Cincinnati, the Agent of the American Express Company and Presidents of Insurance Companies, as being the safest most convenient and best lamp made.

There are three reasons why Agents should seek such an article to canvass for-first for its absolute safety and great convenience, it is needed in every home-second its low price makes its sale immense,—third it will be a credit to handle such an article. One southren Agent writes, it sells faster than Gen. Lee's Portrait sold right after the war, another writes it beats the palmy days of the Sewing Machine, its rapid sale, low price, and liberal terms surprise old Agents. Address Home Lamp Co., Cincinnati, Ohio. mentioning our paper and they will give you full particulars and exclusive territory to canvass in .

THE SUN FOR 1881.

Every body reads The Sun. In the editions of this newspaper throughout the year to come every body will find:

I. All the world's news, so presented that the reader will get the greatest amount of information with the least unprofitable expenditure of time and eye sight. The Sun long ago discovered the golden mean between redundant fullness and unsatisfactory brevity.

II. Much of that sort of news which depends less upon its recognized importance than upon its interest to mankind. From morning to morning Tax Susprints a continued story of the lives of real near and women, and of their deeds, plans, loves hates, and trubbles. This story is more varied and more interesting than any remainer that was ever devised.

III. Good writing in every column, and freshness, catchnality, accuracy, and decorate in the treatment of IV. Housest comment. The Sux's habit is to speak out fearlessly about men and things.

V. Equal candor in dealing with each political party and equal vestimes to commend what is praiseworthy or to rebuke what is biamable in Democratic or Republican.

VI. Absolute independence of partisan organizations but unwavering loyalty to true Democratic principles. The Stox's believes that the Government which the Constitution gives as is a good one to keep. Its notion of duty is to resist to its utmos power the efforts of men in the Republican party to set up another form of Government in the place of that which exists. The year issi and the years immediately following will probably decide this supremely imperiant contest. The Suze believes that the victory will be with the people as against the Ribest for momentary in the Hops for momenty, the Ring for plunder, and the Rings for imperial power.

For the Dally Sux, a four page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post, paid as 55 cents a month, or 85.50 a year, postage paid.

The Sunday edition of Tuz Sux is also furnished acquired the Ribest of the weaking of the sending $10 and $100 and $10
