A DESPATCH received just as we go to press says a collision has occurred on the Baltimore & Potomac R. R., in which several persons were injured, among whom is Ex-President Hayes.

ON SUNDAY night a week an orphan asylum at Hyde Park, near Soranton was burned and seventeen little ones were suffocated by the smoke. Three of the deceased were girls and fourteen boys. A defective flue was the supposed cause of the disaster.

THE inauguration passed off in a manner entirely satisfactory. The storm kept away many persons, and made it very disagreeable for those who did reach the city in time. The snow was not very deep there and the streets were in a passable condition. An extra session was called which convened, immediately after the inauguration.

PRESIDENT GARFIELD has appointed the following as his Cabinet:

- Sec. of State, Senator Blaine, of Maine.
" Treas'y, Sen. Windom, of Minn.
" War, Robert Lincoln, of Ill.
" Navy, Judge Hunt, of Louisiana.
" Interior, Senator Kirkwood, of Iowa.

Att'y Gen., Wayne MacVeagh, of Pa. Post Master General, James, of N. Y. The Senate confirmed the appointments.

A BILL has been introduced into the Legislature to punish by whipping, all persons convicted of beating their wives or other females. One exchange objects to this kind of punishment as it has a tendency to lower a man's manhood and self respect.

We believe that such a law ought to pass. There are other crimes that might with much benefit to the community be punished in the same way.

BY SOME OVERSIGHT Congress failed to make any appropriation for the Little Juniata Creek in this county, and also over looked the "Widow's Run." Nearly every other stream in the United States has had some attention paid to it, but Perry county probably had no friend in Congress.

THE STORM of Sunday a week, was very severe in some portions of the west. At Chicago and vicinity the obstructions to the railroads were greater than at any other time during the winter.

A VETO of the Funding bill was one of the last official acts of Mr. Hayes. His reason for objecting to the bill was the fifth section which made it obligatory on the part of the banks to use only the new three per cent bonds as a basis of currency issued.

Illinois has always been in the advance in the adoption of measures to improve her system of education, and is about to test the benefit of a compulsory education. A bill to that effect was adopted by the legislature recently, which provides that every child between the ages of eight and fourteen years shall attend a public school at least twelve weeks in each school year, at least six weeks of which shall be consecutive.

Recently Mr. Noble, of Rutherford county, N. C., employed a negro man to help him kill hogs. That night the negro stole one hog, and had gotten some distance on his way home, when, coming to a fence, he laid the hog upon the top rail, balancing it until he got over. Afterward, in attempting to shoulder the hog, it fell on the opposite side of the fence, and the gammon stick, which the negro had neglected to take out, caught him around the neck and fastened him. Yesterday morning he was found dead, the hog on one side and the negro on the other side of the fence.

The Monticello, Fla., Constitution reports that a negro woman, during services in one of the colored churches of that place last week was convulsed by religious (?) enthusiasm, and while in said condition seized a young woman false sentimentality. It is said eight of the jury were favorably impressed with this plea and were for acquittal. The judge had charged very strongly in favor of conviction.

Where the Money Goes.

"We hear," says the Lancaster Intelligencer, "of a big six-footer who is loafing around Harrisburg borne on the pay-rolls of the House as a page at $2 per day, employing a little boy at 50 per cent to do his work and pocketing the $1.50 daily profits of the fraud upon the State. His case is not much worse, however, than that of the pastors and folders, who get $6 a day for 150 days and never go near Harrisburg except to sign the pay-roll and settle with the fellow whom they employ to do their work for $100 a session."

A Land Slide.

Between nine and ten o'clock Monday morning a land slide occurred near Elizabethtown, on the Pennsylvania railroad, at what is known as the tunnel cut. When the slide occurred the track watchman was in its way, and was partially buried beneath the dirt and rocks, and is believed to have been seriously injured. He resides at Elizabethtown, where he was at once removed. The accident caused a delay of several hours to the mail train, the tracks only being cleared about one o'clock in the afternoon. The Niagara and Chicago Express was sent West on the river road.

A Horrible Story.

From a small village twelve miles from Augusta, Maine, comes this story: A young man named Charles Merrill killed his mother in a barn near her house by striking her on the head with a hammer. Then he concealed the body in a hay-mow until it had frozen, afterwards cutting it in pieces, burning a portion and concealing it as well as possible in a manure heap. The remainder he buried in the snow. The disappearance of the woman aroused suspicion, the young man was arrested and coolly confessed his crime, detailing the smallest particulars. No motive assigned.

A Peculiar Accident.

A singular accident occurred to a young man in Penixville on Saturday. He was assisting to unload a barrel of cider from a wagon, by sliding it down a board, when the board broke, throwing both the man and the barrel on to the pavement. In the fall the chime of the barrel struck the man's wrist, completely cutting his hand from the arm. It was done so quickly he did not know it, until his attention was drawn to his severed hand lying on the ground.

An Earnest Young Man.

A citizen of Hudson N. Y., said to the young man who visited his daughter that he couldn't afford to have so much wood burned in the parlor stove evenings; that he must come less often or quit earlier, or furnish his own wood. The next day two cords of good hard wood were purchased by the young man and piled into the citizen's yard, with a big sign over the pile, reading: "For use nights only."

A Foolish Girl.

The effect of the general circulation of the idiotic jingle called Mother Shipton's prophecy has been shown in one instance at least. A young German girl in Ohio, who read it in a paper, became so excited that she lost her reason, and cries night and day. She insists that she had a vision in which it was revealed to her that the prophecy would be fulfilled.

Ignorance Not Wanted.

Illinois has always been in the advance in the adoption of measures to improve her system of education, and is about to test the benefit of a compulsory education. A bill to that effect was adopted by the legislature recently, which provides that every child between the ages of eight and fourteen years shall attend a public school at least twelve weeks in each school year, at least six weeks of which shall be consecutive.

Recently Mr. Noble, of Rutherford county, N. C., employed a negro man to help him kill hogs. That night the negro stole one hog, and had gotten some distance on his way home, when, coming to a fence, he laid the hog upon the top rail, balancing it until he got over. Afterward, in attempting to shoulder the hog, it fell on the opposite side of the fence, and the gammon stick, which the negro had neglected to take out, caught him around the neck and fastened him. Yesterday morning he was found dead, the hog on one side and the negro on the other side of the fence.

The Monticello, Fla., Constitution reports that a negro woman, during services in one of the colored churches of that place last week was convulsed by religious (?) enthusiasm, and while in said condition seized a young woman and dashing her against the organ, knocked her senseless.

A few days since Mr. Cornelius Westervelt of Chestnut Ridge, Bergen county N. J., went to his hen house to gather the eggs. He put his hand in one of the boxes, and brought out an opossum, which was taking a comfortable nap in the nest, but had not yet laid any eggs.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 2, 1881.

Gen. Garfield arrived in the city yesterday morning, and will remain at a hotel until he takes possession of the White House on Friday morning. Gen. Garfield received a hearty ovation at the depot. But the enthusiasm came more from the citizens than from the numerous Committees appointed to receive him, that committee having through some misunderstanding wholly their own, arrived at the depot before daylight and had to wait till nine o'clock before the Presidential train arrived. Mrs. Garfield, the General's mother, who came with her son went immediately to the Executive Mansion to superintend the placing of Gen. Garfield's property therein. Gen. Garfield when he stepped from the train onto the crowded platform, looked as much the unostentatious citizen as when he used to be seen daily during the sessions of Congress walking to and from the Capitol. He will be a President of the people, for the people, and by the people.

I don't believe the city ever, even in the stirring times of '61, filled up with strangers so rapidly as it has since Sunday. Though many arrived last week and week before, this week the influx has been such that hotels and boarding houses are full and private families are moved to extend hospitalities to the strangers who would otherwise fare sadly. Every train brings crowds more. The visiting organizations have not begun to arrive, they always wait till the last moment, and then, as when General Grant was last inaugurated, arrive here in a bunch, overflow the depots and streets adjacent and line the railroad tracks for some miles outside the city. Of the parade itself the English language is too poor to express what those here are expecting it to be. Big and Brilliant are about the best words to think of in connection with it. In fact there is so much of it that only the first two divisions are to be at the Capitol, the other two forming on the Avenue and falling behind the others as they return from the Capitol, the whole passing in review before the President. Our District Militia is in high feather. Each small company has upon its hands, to entertain and honor, one or two regiments of the visitors, and they are preparing to do it in grand style. This District Militia of ours is, by the way rather a motley gathering of men. One company have white coats, another blue, another red, and two others gray. We had quite a respectable regiment here at one time, but the strong companies eat up the weaker ones, and so the regiment was disbanded.

The decorations are beginning to repay in beauty for the time and money bestowed upon them by our nearly exhausted Inaugural Committee. Many of the private residences along the line of march, are being handsomely festooned with national emblems, and the "Avenue," that beautiful stretch of wide concrete, designed especially for the advantageous display of immense bodies of men, looks as one flag, from the number of decorations upon it. There are no colors, that when blended give such a brilliantly beautiful effect as the colors of the Union, and this effect is seen to splendid advantage in looking down Pennsylvania Avenue.

A CARD.

A new enterprise has been started in Mechanicsburg, Cumberland county, by J. W. Ringrose & Co., and that is the making of a new style of Leather Fly Nets. These nets are said to be a great improvement over any style yet made, while the price they will be sold at, is no greater than is asked for the poorer article. Store keepers, before supplying themselves should see these nets and learn prices, and farmers should ask the merchant with whom they deal to get at least a sample to show them. For price list, etc., address J. W. RINGROSE & Co., Mechanicsburg, Pa., or KENNEDY, WILLING & Co., 100 and 102 North 3rd Street, Philadelphia. 51f.

Who can tell what has become of the old military bounty land warrants? There is outstanding nearly twenty-five thousand of 100, 120, 80 and 40 acres each where issued to soldiers or their heirs for services rendered in the Revolutionary war, Florida war, 1812 war, Mexican war, Aroostook war, and Indian wars. They amount in the aggregate to over two million and five hundred thousand acres. They must be among the old papers left by your grandfather, your father or your mother, and not thought to be of value. Let the reader of this article see if he or she cannot find one or more of them; when found, write Charles D. Gilmore, of Washington city, D. C., 629 F street, and you will be informed what to do to make it available to you.

Mammoth Pearl Potatoes.

I have a lot of this excellent variety of potatoes—a seedling of the Victor—raised from seed purchased of A. C. Ashald, of the original stock, which I will sell at $1.25 per bushel, 65 cents half bushel, 35 cents per peck, and 20 cents half peck. This potato is free from rot, never hollow, skin and flesh pure, pearly white. Eyes few and even with the surface. Ripens in August, and yields better than any other variety I have ever raised.
