

THE TIMES.

Local Department.

PENNSYLVANIA R. E.—MIDDLE DIVISION.

On and after Monday, Jan. 17th, 1881, Passenger Trains will run as follows:

Table with columns for WESTWARD and EASTWARD, listing stations like Philadelphia, Harrisburg, and Pittsburg with arrival and departure times.

Express West will stop at Duncannon at 4:30 and Newport at 5:15 a.m., when it leaves for the West. The other trains daily except Sunday.

Brief Items.

A number of houses in this borough are now being painted and put in good order.

Mr. Thos. Sutch of this place mourns the death of his horse, caused by lock jaw.

Mr. Benj. Fickes of Juniata twp., also lost a horse last week. It died from the effects of a kick from another horse.

Mr. Samuel Brown, of Centre twp., also lost a fine mare last week, in foaling.

The strike among the miners in Franklin county has ended, and the men have gone to work.

Johnny, a little son of James Minich, residing at Loyeville, fell from a horse on Tuesday last and broke his leg.

Last Tuesday was the first real spring day we have had. Straw hats were brought to light and seemed to be seasonable.

Twenty fine horses were taken though here on the way to Harrisburg on Friday last. They belonged to Mr. John Minich.

On Thursday last, Mr. D. M. Rine-smith shipped forty-four head of fine cattle, the entire lot averaging over one thousand pounds each.

A young man named Kissell, residing at Shade Gap, Huntingdon county, who was subject to fits, was taken with one the other day and broke a blood vessel, dying in a few minutes.

Michael Johns, an old man residing in Wheatfield twp., died on Saturday night. It is stated that an insurance of $65,000 was on his life, mostly held in Duncannon.

A lad named Dougherty, fell under a freight train at Harrisburg on Thursday, and had both legs so badly crushed that they had to be amputated. Another warning to the boys.

We notice many of our exchanges are swindled by the "Pad" advertisers. We tried to save them this loss by cautioning them six months ago, as from information we had we were confident the concern was a swindle.

The house occupied by Mr. A. H. Glen, in Carroll twp., near Shermansdale, took fire and was burned to the ground on Thursday last. Much of the furniture was also destroyed. We did not learn how the fire originated.

The hotel in Millerstown kept by Shuman Miller was on fire in the garret on Sunday a week, but fortunately the flame was extinguished before much damage was done. The fire caught from a stove pipe which passed up through the floor, coming apart.

A family named Hart, residing near Lisburn, in Cumberland co., were last week poisoned by the glazing from an earthen crock coming off into the apple butter, of which they had eaten. The sick persons all recovered, but one had a close call.

Mr. J. W. Rice, though over 60 years of age, walked from Sandy Hill to Bloomfield, and back home again, remaining two hours in this place, and did it all before 1 o'clock. This made a distance of 32 miles and over muddy roads, which we call a pretty good forenoon's walk.

On the morning of the 15th inst., Daniel Kessler, of Middlecreek twp., Snyder co., hanged himself in his barn with a halter strap. He had gone to the barn to feed his stock; and his grandson, after finishing breakfast, went out to assist him, but going into the stable found him hanging at the hay-rack, dead.—Post.

Our good friend Emanuel Troutman, of Pfouts's Valley, had four of his stock cattle so badly lacerated on the belly, recently, that the entrails protruded. He thinks that some of the neighbors' dogs tore them, but the belief is that the cattle were running in a clearing of Mr. T's, and were injured by snags. The latter seems to be the most plausible, although the former may be the cause.—Ledger.

Three citizens of Reading, Pa., were last week accused for a murder alleged to have been committed fifteen years ago. The names of the accused are George Gottschall, Samuel Butterwick and William Eller. Gottschall was the proprietor of a resort on Cedar street, in Reading, known as Buck Hall, which during the war was frequented by soldiers passing through Reading. The murdered man was a soldier. The arrest was made in consequence of the information made by Mrs. Gottschall the wife of one of the accused. The accused were subsequently discharged for lack of evidence.

Personal.—John Humes, Esq., a former resident of this borough, died at Altoona, on the 19th inst., after a few days illness. Mr. H. was a wagon-maker by trade, and at one time carried on business in this town in the shop now occupied by S. H. Beck & Bro.

Mr. Henry Cooper, who we stated last week was very ill, died on Saturday last. Mr. Cooper was one of the most enterprising farmers in Tyrone twp., and leaves a large circle of friends and relatives to mourn his death. Funeral to take place on Wednesday at 10 A. M.

We regret to have to record the death of Mr. Wm. Everhart, of Millerstown. He was a worthy citizen and his death will remove one of the best business men of that place.

Duncannon Items.—From the Record we copy the following:

While working at the rolls in the mill the other day Robert Clark almost had an eye burned out by a hot flash.

While Mr. Light, Dr. Swartz's farmer, was crossing the railroad the other day with his team, the saddle horse became fast between the rail and the plank and fell. Fortunately no train was passing at the time.

Mr. Jacob Keel, a nailer in the nail works, while repairing one of his machines on Wednesday was struck by a scrap, which cut a deep gash over the left eye.

The Amateur Dramatic Troupe of this place, will appear before the footlights in Pennell's Hall, about the 12th of May, in a very entertaining drama. Be prepared to see it.

Badly Hurt.—Benjamin Lightner, residing in Sheaffers Valley, received a terrible injury on Wednesday last in a singular manner. He was on the mow and jumped down on to a door below which was partly open striking the door with one leg on each side causing such injury as is feared will prove fatal.

A Boy Shot.—On Sunday morning last, Eddie, a son of Wm. Burns, of Duncannon, was accidentally shot in the neck by a pistol. His father had the pistol under his pillow and the lad had found it and while playing with it the accident happened. Dr. Dunott, of Harrisburg, was sent for but was not able to find the ball, and it is yet uncertain what the result of the injury will be.

Swan Killed.—The Franklin Repository says a swan was shot on Small's mill dam, in Quincy township, on Monday of last week, by Mr. Clay of Gelwicks. It was brought to town for the purpose of having it stuffed, but as their is no taxidermist here, the feathers were taken off and the body thrown away. It measured nine feet from tip to tip of wings and weighed twelve pounds.—There were three on the dam but the other two flew away. It was on exhibition at the Indian Queen Hotel in this place, and many called to see it.

Over a Precipice.—Near Clark's Ferry the railroad, wagon road and canal run side by side. The side of the road towards the canal is supported by a stone wall. The water lies eighteen feet below the road. On Saturday George W. Felix, one of Mr. Daniel Bacon's salesmen, was returning from a trip up the river. When about three-fourths of a mile below the Clark's Ferry bridge the puffing of a passing freight train frightened the horse and he began to back toward the canal. Before the edge was reached Mr. Felix sprang out, just in time to see the horse and wagon go over the precipice into the canal. The animal managed to keep his head above water with the vehicle attached to him, while Mr. Felix ran to a bridge three-fourths of a mile distant, crossed, secured assistance and rescued him. The animal was uninjured, but the wagon was badly damaged and a number of boxes of goods were lost. The loss will amount to about fifty dollars.—Patriot.

Juniata County.—We copy the following from the Juniata county papers of last week:

An aged lady, Mrs. Zeiders, died near Richfield, last week, whose life was insured for $200,000, so report says.

Luke Davis of Walker twp., received a dispatch on Wednesday that his brother-in-law, J. T. McAlister, of Philadelphia, was not expected to live.

Three of four children of Wm. Kauffman, who lives in Millford twp., are down with scarlet fever and but little hope is entertained for their recovery.

McClellan Foltz, of Beale township, went to Nebraska about the 20th of March, to make that State his future home. After five days' residence in his adopted State he became disgusted with the west and returned to Juniata county on Tuesday of last week. It took him twelve days to get back.

A stable on the farm of Wm. Puffenberger, in Fermanagh twp., was set on fire about 3 o'clock the other morning and burned. The mow of the stable had several tons of hay in it, and in the under part of the stable were stored a horse hay rake, a reaper and mower, cultivators, and other farming implements.

Last Friday a three-year-old son of H. A. Stambaugh, of Fermanagh twp., took up a corn-stalk and delivered a blow on the body of the family dog. The dog sprang at the child, threw him down, and proceeded to bite the boy in the arm, along from the wrist to the elbow. The child was clad in thick goods, and the teeth of the animal failed to reach the flesh, excepting at the wrist. The arm, however, was severely bruised. Afterwards an older son of Mr. Stambaugh, while in the act of tying the dog was also bitten. The dog was not suffering from hydrophobia.

Cumberland County.—We copy the following from the Cumberland papers of last week:

Red Saxe, the notorious robber, who was convicted in our Court last week of being the ringleader in the Eckert and McKeehan robberies was taken to the Eastern Penitentiary by Deputy-sheriff Wallace, on Thursday morning last. His time will expire ten years hence.

Our townsman, Mr. John Zimmerman, was "suebred" on Saturday afternoon, on North street. He attempted to drive a fractions cot, but before he had seated himself securely in the buggy the cot started, and although John is an old and experienced horseman, and struggled hard to prevent a run-off, the cot succeeded in getting away from him, and demolished the buggy and harness.

James E. Holliday, a well-known colored citizen of this Borough, died at his residence, on West Main Street, on last Sunday night. He had been afflicted for sometime past with rheumatism, but not confined to the house, and was able to walk about, and was at church Sunday morning. He went to bed in the evening and died almost without a struggle.—Shippensburg News.

Mrs. Margaret, wife of George Gensler, of Mt. Holly Springs, formerly of this place, burned her hands in a shocking manner, last week, whilst attempting to place a piece of zinc under the parlor stove, which was very hot at the time, and which was about falling over on a little son of that lady. The little fellow's life was no doubt saved by his faithful mother, who prevented the stove from falling upon him, but her suffering is extremely severe.

Road Proceedings.—The following road business was transacted at the late court: The petition of a number of the citizens of Oliver twp., and the borough of Newport, asking the Court to appoint proper persons to view and lay out a road to lead from Fourth street, Newport, to a point at or near the mouth of Purgatory Run, Oliver twp., was presented, and order granted as prayed for, with John R. Smith, Henry Backwater and Joseph P. Beator as viewers.

Petition to view and lay out public road from a point near George Front's blacksmith shop, to a point in public road near lands of S. H. Baker, in Greenwood twp. Wm. Cook, Wm. Lindsay and Jos. Luper, viewers.

Order to view a private road through lands of Leah Carl, in Oliver twp., confirmed in se. Petition to change and vacate public road from point near east end of Centre church lane, in Madison twp., on road leading to Newport, to a point on road from Waggoner's to Sandy Hill, at or near George Wolf's, in Saville twp. J. Woods, Wm. A. Kline and Wm. Gray, viewers.

Petition to view a site for a county bridge over Laurel Run, at or near P. Lightner's mill, in Tyrone twp. W. Bentley, Samuel Robert, C. Stouffer, J. W. Huston, John McCord and David Fair, viewers.

Order to view site for county bridge over Big Buffalo creek, at Emanuel Smith's, in Tuscarora township.

FOR THE TIMES. BLAIN, Perry Co., Pa., April 20, 1881.

EDITOR OF THE TIMES.—I take this method of saying, through the columns of your paper, that I extend my cordial thanks and best regards to the band and others, for the delightful music which they furnished in light does last night in front of the Parsonage.

Mrs. Ely has been visiting friends in Philadelphia and Harrisburg, also McVeytown, and had in company with myself just returned. Her health has improved very much and she appears to be hale and vigorous.

Allow me to name some of the pieces of music played by the band at the Parsonage.

- 1. "Tapping on the Window-Pane."—Quick step.
2. "Iona."—Quick step.
3. "Hall Soldier there'll be rest by and by."
4. "Helirotte."—Schottische.
5. "General Sherman."—Quick step.
6. "Home Sweet Home."

After the guests who had assembled at the Parsonage had enjoyed the serenade, thanks were returned to the boys with a request to call again. I observed a marked improvement by the band in many respects. Our boys practice frequently and are destined to take rank among the Bands throughout the County. Yours Respectfully, J. W. ELY.

FOR THE TIMES. Killed in Jail.

An affray or drunken fight occurred in the Clearfield county jail during the afternoon of Friday the 8th inst., in which Edward Goodman was stabbed and almost instantly killed by a fellow prisoner named George Evans.

Goodman, a sturdy, rather fine looking young coal miner about 19 years of age, was committed by a Du Bois Justice the day before on a charge of larceny. On the day of the killing, his brother Patrick Goodman, drove up to the jail in a buggy with a woman whom he claimed was his sister, but who proved to be an abandoned woman. Both were admitted, then went out, probably for more whiskey, and were admitted a second time. The cells of all the prisoners (except that of John Newling, who is under sentence of death for the murder of a man named Pennington, at Houtsdale) are opened during the day, giving them free access to the several cells and the corridors. They have lately employed themselves making small fanily carved and varnished bureaus and dressing cases filled up with drawers and mirrors, from old cigar boxes and have had pocket-knives allowed them for the purpose. It seems the woman had trafficked with Evans for one of these articles and then he refused to give it to her, offering her only an inferior one, whereupon Goodman expostulated with him and they came to blows. The woman tried to part them but Pat Goodman rushed into the cell and forced her out. Goodman got Evans down and after giving him several blows left him on the left side, but one of the ribs seems to have glanced it and it closed and cut his thumb. A second blow glanced the forehead, and as the post mortem examination showed, passed through the lung and entered the left ventricle of the heart. Goodman rushed out crying, "I am stabbed," walked down the steps to the lower corridor and fell dead.

Evans is a young man of about twenty, also a miner, and is under conviction of manslaughter for killing a Swede named Hogenson, and seriously wounding another named Bergstrom, in a drunken brawl that occurred on the way to a brothel in Houtsdale, in June 1880, and is confined pending an application for a new trial which is yet undisposed of. He is, though so young, a desperate character, being blamed with the death of an Orceola stable boy some time ago, and also with violently assaulting a fellow workman with a sharp coal pick during the late strike, the man only saving his life by dodging backwards, when the pick grazed his breast and passed down between his person and his clothes. His attorneys depend principally for a new trial upon the alleged suppression of evidence by the prosecuting attorney. The defense set up being that in the melee the wounded Swede shot his companion, in proof of which they displayed the bullet taken from the body of the murdered man, which had a concave base and unlike any American make, from which they argued that it was shot from the revolver of the Swede, which he had brought with him from Sweden a few months before. The prosecution claimed that the Swede, who fled as soon as wounded and was found next morning almost dead had lost his revolver in the flight and that he had no remaining cartridges either. But the defense subsequently discovered that the Commonwealth's attorneys had seen and handled some of the Swede's remaining cartridges and concealed the fact though they exactly corresponded with the bullet taken from the dead Swede's body. It is generally agreed however that a new trial would result in a verdict of murder, as despite the above, the case was but lily tried for the Commonwealth.

Immediately after the killing in the jail much excitement was caused by the report that a party had entered the jail, killed a man and escaped. This was caused by the brother and the woman immediately driving off in the buggy. They were overtaken by the Sheriff and detained as witnesses at the inquest when they were discharged. The flourishing of a revolver by the brother in the cell and the brag of how he could break out caused an unfounded report that they had entered to aid the prisoners in escaping. They seem to have had no purpose in their visit different from other visitors of their class, and the bad result can only be attributed to bad passions inflamed by bad whiskey, had through bad prison discipline.

D. H. S. Clearfield, Pa., April 14, 1881.

J. Russell Manning, M. D., V. S., for twenty-five years a practical Stock Raiser and Veterinary Surgeon, has written a book called the "Illustrated Stock Doctor and Live Stock Encyclopedia," and we learn that it is attracting special attention. He has treated the subject with a mastery hand, and any person interested in Horses, Cows, Sheep, Swine and Poultry, would do well to obtain a copy at once. It tells how to buy, sell, breed, shelter, train, etc., how to know and cure disease, and in language all can understand. The Publishers have rendered it object teaching, by illustrating it with over 400 fine engravings. It is by far the most complete and valuable book lately issued by subscription, and we do not wonder that agents make money rapidly selling it. Published by the well-known firm of HUBBARD BROTHERS, of Philadelphia.
