In reply to the question, "what are the wild waves saying?" we would suggest that it must be, "Come and see us next summer, and don't forget we charge fourteen dollars a week for board."

Old Mrs. Walker was reading the market reports in a Charleston paper. "Cotton is declining!" exclaimed the old lady. "Well, I thought as much—the last thread I used was remarkably feeble."

"Yes, sir," said Mr. Gallagher, "It was funny enough to make a donkey laugh. I laughed till I cried." And then, as he saw the smile go round the room he grew red in the face and went away mad.

Said Billington, majestically,— "we musn't be too hard on the young fellows, I suppose I was as big a fool as any of them when I was young." "Yes," replied Fogg, "and you are not an old man now, Billington."

"What I want," said a very pompous debater, "is just a grain of common sense in this matter." "Well," retorted his opponent, quickly, "It will require the efforts of a special Providence to give it to you."

An exchange prints an article headed "How Ollecloth is Made." We have read it through carefully, but have failed to find the information we seek, which is how ollecloth is always made so alflired cold to the bare feet.

A certain gentleman recently lost his wife, and a young miss of six, who came to the funeral, said to his little daughter of about the same age, "Your pa will marry again, won't he?" "Oh yes, but not until after the funeral."

"I'm sitting on the style, Mary," he warbled, as he unconsciously plunked himself on her new white bonnet. "Oh, whisper what thou feelest," she murmured, as she promptly introduced an inch and a half of shawl-pin through his epidermis.

"I declare, John, I never saw such a man! You are always getting some new wrinkle." And the brute calmly replied, "Matilda, you are not, thank fortune, if you had a new wrinkle you would not know where to put it dear."

Expected he would Speak.

A servant girl who lived with a lady in Edinburgh surprised her mistress by giving her warning. The lady inquired the cause, and found it was a sweet-heart.

"And who is the lad?" inquired the mistress.

"Oh, he's a nice lad; a lad that sits in the kirk just forment me."

"Are you sure he intends to marry you?"

"I dare say he does, mem."

"Have you had much of each other's company yet?"

"Not yet."

"When did you converse with him last?"

"Deed, we have not conversed any yet."

"Then how should you suppose that he is going to marry you?"

"Oh," replied the simple girl, "he's been long looking at me, and I think he'll soon be speaking."

Improvement for Mind and Body.

For genuine merit there is no tonic sold that begins to compare with Parker's Ginger Tonic. One 50 cent bottle contains more life and strength restoring power than a bushel of malt or a gallon of pure milk. As an appetizer, blood purifier and kidney correcter, it meets with astonishing success, and invalids find its use promptly followed by renewed energy and vivacity, mental and physical improvement, and gradual restoration to perfect health.
