

Swallows a Lizard.

Peter Lemen, of 360 Atwater street, Detroit is the victim of a most distressing accident and suffers untold agony of body and mind. Two years ago he swallowed a lizard in a glass of water, and the animal has lived and flourished in his stomach, growing to large dimensions, and entailing great misery on the proprietor of his strange abode. Mr. Lemen is now 60 years of age, and has dwindled from 175 pounds (his weight at the time of the accident) to 73 pounds. He now looks like a living skeleton. He has tried all known means to get rid of his tormentor, without success, and now expects death to relieve him.

The lizard can be felt with the hand just below the ribs and above the loins, and when taken hold of can be heard to squeak or cry. A system of poisoning has latterly been resorted to of killing it, but it continues to thrive. It circulates about the stomach, causing Mr. Lemen great pain, and at these times he vomits profusely.—The result is to make him very weak.—The lizard will remain quiet for several hours at a time, and then begin his antics, apparently invigorated by his rest. Mr. Lemen can only rest when the lizard does. The position most conducive to rest is lying flat upon his back. The unfortunate man is a native of Montreal, but has lived in Detroit since he was 15 years old.

Vigilance Committee in Troy.

The Police Commissioners of Troy, N. Y., are unable to agree upon a Superintendent and consequently the city is without any Police. The board met on the 4th inst., and then adjourned for a week.—Some of the ex-officers have been employed as watchmen by the citizens. Roughs in South Troy fired a load of straw in an alley, and the flames communicated to a tenement house, which was destroyed. The Fire Department turned out promptly and prevented a further spread of the fire. The windows of stores in South Troy have been smashed with stones by gangs of young roughs, and several personal fights and assaults have taken place, but nothing yet like a general disturbance. The members of the old police force, who have patrolled the city at night, expected that a force would be appointed on the 6th inst.—They are now getting tired of doing duty for nothing, and some of them will probably stop. No definite plan of action has yet been agreed upon, but the Legislature will be petitioned for relief. Vigilance Committees will be organized in South Troy, if the depredations are continued.

Beat the Crowd.

William Mulloch is a resident of Hedgehog Harbor, Wisconsin. A short time since he incurred the displeasure of a portion of his neighbors, and a committee was appointed to furnish him with a suit of tar and feathers. They called at his residence, built a fire in the yard, with which they warmed the tar, tore open a pillow which they had with them and arranged the feathers ready for use.—They then summoned Mr. Mulloch by gently heaving stones through the window. Being apprised of the intentions of his visitors, William appeared at his door with a Winchester rifle and announced his readiness to participate in the contemplated picnic, and gave notice of his intentions to begin his part of the programme at once. The crowd saw fire in his eye and suddenly decamped, leaving the tar and feathers as trophies of his bloodless victory.

The Clock of a Bank Vault Stops.

The time clock on the vault of the First National Bank, at Minneapolis, got dead and stopped over Sunday, and was not running Monday morning. What they were to do about it became exceedingly interesting to the bank officials as the business hours approached, and they were about telegraphing to Chicago for currency, when the president chanced to think that clockwork can be started occasionally by shaking. A sledge hammer and stick of timber were brought into use, and the time clock responded in a gratifying manner, so that business went on as usual and the financiers recovered from their cold sweat.

A Western Fight.

At El Paso, Ill., on Monday night P. C. Ransom, recently defeated at the municipal election for Mayor, shot and killed Walter Bullock, a lawyer and an old citizen of Woodford county. Bullock was talking to a friend on west Front street, when Ransom passed and overheard a remark about the election. He demanded a retraction of the expression and on Bullock's refusal, drew a revolver and shot him through the head, heart and shoulder. Bullock fell, gasped two or three times and died. Ransom walked down the street, and waited outside the bank till arrested. An infuriated mob followed him to the jail with threats of lynching, but no actual violence was attempted.

Nine new cases of small-pox have appeared at Adams, Mass. There has been 21 cases there in two weeks.
