

THE TIMES.

Local Department.

PENNSYLVANIA R. R.—MIDDLE DIVISION.

On and after Monday, May 16th, 1881, Passenger Trains will run as follows:

Table with columns for Westward and Eastward routes, listing stations like Philadelphia, Harrisburg, and Newport with corresponding times.

For cheap Straw Hats go to Mortimer's. He has received a new supply.

The shad fishing at Newport has not been a great success, though a few nice ones have been caught.

Another drove of horses were shipped from this county last week, Monday, and some very fine cattle on Tuesday.

In Decatur twp., Millin Co., a young man named John Wray was killed by a stroke of lightning on Tuesday last.

Rain here is somewhat needed, though the slight shower of Saturday night helped matters a little.

In passing through Lancaster county on Saturday we saw some fields where the corn was up nicely. In this county some are hardly done planting yet.

Mr. Eshleman informs us that instead of eight tons of tobacco having been shipped by the Newport Tobacco Co., it was eight carloads or about sixty tons.

Ninety in the shade, was the record of the thermometer here on Tuesday and Wednesday last, and ninety-three on Thursday and Friday.

The greatest humbug of a show ever yet seen, was in town on Thursday evening. The troupe consisted of a long haired man, a short skirted woman, a poor old horse, and a buck board wagon. "As a failure it was a success."

Mr. David Clouser who was so unfortunate as to lose a horse two weeks ago, last week lost a good heifer. The cause of her death he could not tell. David seems to be having more of his share of bad luck.

The valuable horse belonging to Calder's livery stables, Harrisburg, which recently broke its leg by a fall, has been put into a "sling," the fracture has been set and the animal is getting along as well as can be expected.

Darkness is no longer to prevail in this borough, the town council having erected street lamps and provided for the lighting of them such nights as the moon is not supposed to shine. The lamps are handsome and shed a good light.

One day last week Constable Klinepeter of Newport, arrested and placed in the jail in this place, Samuel Kepner and James Bagar, charged with stealing a trunk, the property of Rev. J. W. Ely. The trunk was taken from a wagon in East Newport, near Amos Watts' residence.

While two young men named Houck and Duff were engaged in cutting down a tree near Saulsburg, Huntingdon county, on Friday a week, the tree suddenly fell upon and instantly killed young Houck. The deceased was about 15 years of age and the son of a widow.

Mrs. Light of Newport while going to Duncannon with her son-in-law who resides in Centre twp., was thrown backwards out of the wagon by the sudden starting of the horse. Fortunately her injuries were only a severe shock and some slight bruises.

Charley, a little two-year old son of Mr. John Adams of this borough, fell out of bed one morning last week, his head striking an earthen-ware spittoon, breaking the top of the spittoon into many fragments and cutting his head severely in several places. His wounds bled profusely and Dr. Strickler was called in to dress them.

A new method of utilizing lime stone is rapidly coming into favor. Instead of burning it into lime, as has been the custom heretofore, when wanted for fertilizing purposes, it is crushed and ground into powder and then sown upon the land after the manner of plaster. It is said to be of more benefit and a great saving.

Monday morning at the Harrisburg depot part of the harness broke on a horse attached to an Adams express wagon. The horse became unruly and beginning to kick, the driver was compelled to jump from his seat. The animal then ran away, taking a course down Railroad street. At the corner of Chestnut he ran into Brenneman's green house, smashing glass, breaking flower pots and damaging plants. When captured it was discovered he had paid dearly for his freak, a long piece of glass had penetrated the horse's shoulder, and an artery had been severed. He was removed to the company's stables, where an attempt was made to stop the flow of blood, but it was unsuccessful and the horse bled to death in a short time.

Maple Sugar.—A very fine lot of Maple Sugar just received from Ohio and for sale by F. MORTIMER.

The new Schedule which went into effect on Monday makes some changes it will be well to remember.

The Millintown Accommodation runs as a passenger train, taking no freight and goes east from Newport at 8:50 A. M., arriving at Harrisburg at 10 A. M., returning leaves Harrisburg 5 P. M., reaching Newport 6:30.

Horse Sale.—At the horse sale of Ensminger & Sheaffer on Saturday, the prices brought were as follows:

1st horse bought by James A. Gray for $167. 50; 2nd by Lemuel Jones for $150; 3rd by Farnk Swarner for $150; 4th by Rev. J. Johnson for $120; 5th by Samuel McKeehan for $110; 6th by Emanuel Cori for $105.50; 7th by Andrew Collier for $73.50; 8th by Emanuel Cori for $125; 9th by James Flynn for $73; 10th by Emanuel Cori for $65; 11th Wm. Orr for $185; 12th by John Clouser for $20.25.

The horses were all sold that were offered.

Clara Selders, a young lady aged about nineteen years, a domestic in the family of George Noll, Sr., residing about three miles northeast of Millersburg, Dauphin county, met with a sad and unexpected death a few days ago, under peculiar circumstances. Being subject to epileptic attacks, or falling fits, and alone in the spring house, engaged in washing, it is supposed that, under one of these attacks, she fell upon the floor, with her head resting in the milk trough, where she was found lying on her face, and life extinct, about eight o'clock in the morning. The depth of the water in which her head lay when found, was a trifle over four inches.

A Queer Freak.—Mr. Ben McIntire of this place has a Tom cat that has taken a particular liking to a brood of chickens. For some time the cat has assumed charge of them, and will lie quiet with a look of intense satisfaction as the chicks huddle up to him. At other times he will play with them as though they were kittens, taking care not to hurt them. He will if fed, let them pick at a piece of meat while he will stand and look on, and by many other acts he shows his regard for his feathered family. It is certainly a curious freak of the cat, and the chicks, now as large as quails, seem to enjoy the peculiar friendship as well as he does.

This is very different from the actions of a cat we had. He would lie down with a chicken every time he got a chance, but the chicken was always inside.

A Child's Narrow Escape.—On Wednesday afternoon a three year old daughter of Mr. A. S. Klinepeter of this place came near killing herself. She had by some means got hold of a double bitted axe and carried it up the board walk and up on to the porch. At that place she fell striking on one bit of the axe which cut a deep gash in her throat two inches long. The cut was just back of the wind pipe and came within a quarter of an inch of severing the carotid artery. The child bled profusely and for a time the family were fearful that the hurt was fatal. Dr. Bollinger was sent for and after he had stopped the flow of blood and dressed the wound it was found that no bad results need be feared.

Bad Crocks.—Our readers will remember of a case of poisoning which occurred near Dillsburg a couple of weeks since, from eating apple butter which had been preserved in ordinary clay crocks defective in their glazing. Members of this family continue to suffer from the effect of this poisoning, while in the same region other families have been affected in like manner. The apple butter turns white and has an unnatural sweetness. Large quantities have been found to be tainted and have been destroyed. In one of the crocks, after the butter had been emptied, a number of wasps took refuge, and were afterward found to be all dead. The affair continues to excite intense interest among the people of that part of York county and in Cumberland which is on the line near New Lisburn. The maker of the crocks will lose the trade of the people in that locality.

A Peculiar Accident.—Yesterday a clock in Mr. C. R. Comming's jewelry store on Market street, was heard to give an unusual click, and shortly afterwards it was noticed the timepiece had stopped. An examination revealed the fact that the spring had broken into fifty-seven pieces, nearly all of which are of the same length. The clock has been running regularly right straight along and no one has tampered with it lately. What caused the spring to break is a mystery.—Patriot.

A live lord has visited Cumberland valley, and people over there are happy over the fact. His visit to this country is for the purpose of viewing our railroad enterprises. While at Carlisle the Duke made a visit to the Indian school, and gave the boys some good advice. This Duke's name is George Granville Sutherland, Levison Tower, Duke of Sutherland. He is a large agriculturist, and his estates are pretty large as will be seen from the following short description of them. The population of the Duke's estate, as taken a few years since, was 24,000. In order to satisfactorily manage the small kingdom the estate is divided into three districts, each under a superintendent, who communicates with the Duke through a general agent. In addition to these three factors a ground officer is maintained in every parish, and also an agriculturist, who instructs the tenantry in the best methods of farming. Since 1811 four hundred and thirty miles of road have been constructed through the estates, some thirty hotels have been erected, thousands of acres of land which were supposed to be worth less for cultivation have been reclaimed and made productive by means of scientific agriculture, large forests have been planted, improved breeds of cattle of all sorts have been distributed through the country and a large fishing village established, which gives employment to many thousands of persons. Savings banks have been instituted, schools are erected in every direction, hospitals built and everything that a benevolent ingenuity could devise has been done to maintain the independence, increase the comforts and promote the happiness of the people.—The Duke is an able engineer as well as a scientific agriculturist. He has a very large interest in the English and Scotch railroads. He is not simply an investor but understands thoroughly the working of a railroad, from running an engine down to the smallest minutiae.

Cumberland County.—We copy the following from the Cumberland papers of last week:

About 11:30 Sunday morning an alarm of fire decimated the congregations of our churches. It was a shed on the property occupied by Mrs. Stuart, on North Hanover beyond Penn street, and resulted from a defective flue and the use of pine wood. The flames were extinguished before much damage was done.

Rev. G. H. Slaybaugh, lately pastor of the Lutheran church of New Kingston and Churchtown, has accepted a clerkship in the U. S. Treasury Department, at Washington. Mr. S. has been suffering from an ailment which he contracted during the late war, and he tries a change of occupations with the hopes that it may improve his health.

Juniata County.—We copy the following from the Juniata county papers of last week:

Mr. William Rice, of Perry county, came to the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Philip Kilmer, Jr., in Turbett twp., about two weeks ago, where he took ill soon after arriving, and he is so ill that his death is momentarily expected. He is about 82 years of age.—Port Royal Times.

Nancy Heller, aged about 12, years, daughter of Beneville Heller, of Fernmanagh twp., was seized by a severe cough on Tuesday night, the 3rd inst. All efforts to break or abate the cough failed, and the child continued coughing for several hours when she died. Interment in Union Cemetery on Thursday, the 5th inst.

On Wednesday night of last week thieves visited the premises of Mr. David Herzler, in Turbett twp., and prying open the door of the spring house, secured a lot of bread, cakes, pies and applebutter. They paid the kitchen a visit and took therefrom a table cloth and some tinware. The thieves concluded to eat a rhubarb pie before taking their departure, and in order to sweeten it a little they used some salt for that purpose supposing it to be white sugar, but it didn't prove palatable eating, so they left the pie behind.

A Waterloo correspondent to the Port Royal Times says: On last Sabbath our eyes beheld an unusual sight, it was the burial of two children, a little girl 8 years old and a boy aged six years, of Jacob Shearer. They were both at school on Thursday preceding their demise and on Sabbath morning they were both dead. The little girl died on Saturday and the boy on the following night, they died of scarlet fever and were both buried in one grave. Mr. Shearer has been sadly bereaved, as it is not yet two months since his wife died.

FOR THE TIMES, LEADVILLE, Col., May 9, 1881.

EDITOR TIMES:—It might be of interest to your readers if I give you a short description of this city, as I see in THE TIMES of the 12th of last month. "An exchange says Leadville, Col., has six theatres, six daily papers and not one church." This is false. Leadville is a city containing a population of 15,000 or 20,000 inhabitants, well built, and does a business that runs up in the millions; water works, gas works, telephones which connects all the leading mines with the city, and last but not least the street railway now being constructed. Its business men are noted for solidity and integrity, and are all working for the best interests of the city. It would indeed be surprising if there were no churches, but we have not felt below the pale of civilization, even though Leadville may have a hard name abroad, and gambling is as open a business as the merchants. Yet the church bells ring out their welcome on Sundays to the church goers and lovers of prayer. We are proud of our churches, as the buildings are an ornament to the city, and their congregations exert an influence over the city to a great extent, that is being gradually felt. And for the benefit of that exchange I give you the churches: M. E. Church, Episcopal, Baptist, Congregational, Catholic, and the African M. E. Church, so you see we are not in want of religious service. Another mistake is we have not six dailies, we have but three, viz: Herald, Chronicle, and Democrat; and three theatres, Tabor Opera House, Grand Central, and Academy of Music. There are several concert halls that produce the mimic stage, but are not legitimate theatres. I hope I have given in this brief but concise statement that meets your approbation, and that I have placed your exchange on solid footing in regard to Leadville. More anon. LEADVILLIAN.

FOR THE TIMES, Another Sick, and old Lady Insured. May 9th, 1881.

MR. EDITOR:—For the first time in my life I am tempted to write a communication for publication. I do it with a bleeding heart for the cause of Christ and for the welfare of humanity, am I constrained to lift my voice against one of the prevailing evils of the day. For the last two weeks—like those homely and unsightly birds we sometimes see collected together sitting on fences and trees while passing through the country—have those vultures swooped down as it were and gathered together at the premises of Adam Small, in Centre twp., in the form of life insurance agents, doctors, money sharks and gamblers in human life with a view of bribing him and his wife to give their consent to take out policies on Mrs. Small's life, and she is now sick and not able to raise off of her chair and walk across her room without some one to aid her. On last Wednesday the general agent of the remarkable association recently formed in Ickesburg visited Small's and on the following day four doctors met there also, on which day terms were agreed upon between the parties to take out policies on Mother Small's life. She is now in the market in the new association in Ickesburg, and I am sorry to say that connected with this association is an itinerant minister of the Gospel who ought to be sounding the Gospel trumpet warning sinners of their impending danger and should be traveling over the hills and mountains and through the valleys in pursuit of the lost and perishing, instead of locating and traversing the country in search of the aged, the infirm, the sick and the dying to get subjects to victimize and speculate upon, taking from the unwary their hard earned money. It is high time that those who are in authority would devise measures to stay the evils of speculative life insurance organization.

ONE WHO KNOWS. P. S.—Since the above has been written, Mother Small has died and has gone to rest where the wicked cease from troubling her and where the weary are at rest.

MAGAZINES FOR JUNE. The June number of Ballou's Illustrated Magazine contains a seasonal and well-written illustrated article on Ireland, past and present. It should have an extensive reading.—The thrilling Indian story of "The Crimson Trail" is finished, after killing off all the bad red skins and the white scoundrel. The magazine has a piece of music that is worth more than the price, and has such an assortment of stories and sketches as no other publication in this country can produce, and its amusing department is just immense. It must be read to be appreciated.

Now is the time to subscribe for this popular and cheap magazine. Published by THOMAS & TALBOT, 23 Hawley Street, Boston, Mass., at only $1.50 per year, post-paid.

DEMORET'S MAGAZINE for June has one of the prettiest Oil Chromos imaginable, as a frontispiece. This picture alone is worth more than the cost of the Magazine, and it is wonderful how the publisher can afford to furnish his subscribers with these pretty pictures each month. Besides this oil chromo, there are other illustrations, a pattern, lots of good, recipes and suggestions of value to the ladies, besides stories and other good articles. After looking over a copy of Demoret's Magazine, we don't see how any lady can be content to do without it. Published by W. Jennings Demoret, New York, at $3 per year.

After all, a gentle purgative is the best means of curing headache, liver complaint, biliousness, &c. Use "Sellers' Liver Pills." 104
