Brief Items.

Boy Wanted to learn the Printing business. Apply at this office.

The People's Freight road has been running at its full capacity for the past two weeks with wheat and bark.

J. F. Ring of Tyrone, had his horse entered a few nights since as is supposed by tramps, who robbed him of money and valuables to the amount of $1,000.

The Sioux Fishing Club, which last year camped near Newport, have decided to camp on the Catawissa, near Columbia, this summer.

Isn't it funny, but true nevertheless, that if you want to get worms for fish bait you can't find any, but go and dig garden and in five minutes time you turn out lots of them.

S. A. D., your communication is hardly just to the party you refer to and had better not be published, and if you know who he was, you would prefer that it should not be.

We acknowledge the receipt of a piece of music from Lee & Walker, 1113 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, entitled, "Col. Thos. A. Scott's Funeral March." The piece of music has on the first page a short sketch of Col. Scott.

Some fields of corn in this vicinity have been plowed up and replanted, the seed proving worthless. A farmer suggests as a remedy for future trouble that greater care be taken in the fall with the corn intended for seed.

From the Altoona Tribune of Wednesday, we learn that a six-year old son of Martin V. Orner, well-known in Pfoutz's Valley, this county, fell from a hay loft and was seriously, if not fatally injured.

The question that Esq. Clouser, six lawyers, and thirty or forty witnesses was trying to decide on Saturday, was, whether a certain horse sold by Singer Whitmer to John Mibich was "dumb" or not, and is not yet decided.

Millersburg people have been troubled with burglars lately and are disposed to lay the blame on Perry county. A boat missing from Millersburg the night after the robberies were committed was found on this side of the river near Mt. Patrick.

On Monday morning in taking down the old stable in the rear of Ensminger's Hotel, to make room for a new one, Alonzo Clouser, of this place, was struck on the head and badly cut by the falling of a log.

An infant child of William Silke, formerly of Lebanon, but at present residing in Union twp., Dauphin county, was suffocated on Tuesday by a cat laying itself on the face of the babe, as the mother was but temporarily absent in the garden. The child was but seven weeks old, and must have suffered great pain, as the blood was oozing from its nose after the cat was taken away.

The Newport News says: An accident occurred on Duncan's Island on Monday last which might have resulted in the death or serious injury to Mrs. Briner, daughter and daughter-in-law. They came to Pines' store in a spring wagon and in turning their horse he backed over an embankment, throwing the three ladies to the bottom, and the wagon and horse on top of them, the horse in such a position that he was unable to move, which probably saved the lives of all. Assistance being near soon extricated the ladies from their perilous position, and then removing the harness from the horse, succeeded in getting him out, and strange to say all escaped injury except Miss B., who received a few scratches by coming in contact with some briars.

Personal.—We were sorry to learn of the death of Mr. Moses F. Noll, formerly of Tyrone twp., this county. His death occurred on the 22nd inst., in Morris county, Kansas, to which place he moved several years since. His illness only lasted from Thursday till Sunday.

Among the former residents of this vicinity who were home on Sunday, were Charley Withrow, Ward Rice, and James S. McKee. They are all looking well.

Charles Foy, one of the Perry county boys, now living in Renova, is here on a visit. Several others from this vicinity are working there, and all are doing well.

Some Women.—There is no doubt but Mr. Jesse Clouser of this place feels relieved. It is natural that he should, for Dr. Strickler on Saturday succeeded in taking from him a tape worm over twenty-nine feet in length. The worm was alive when it came out, and lived over an hour.

Very Unfortunate.—Dr. Abraham Lesher of the vicinity of Chambersburg, lost a cow one day last week in a singular manner. The animal in some way broke the planking of a well on the premises, and fell into it. The well is thirty feet deep and was about half filled with water. It is supposed that the animal had been in the well for some time before she was discovered. She still had her head above the water, but was almost dead from exhaustion. It was found impossible to get her out alive, and a rope attached to a windless was put around her neck, and the windless turned with crowbars until the animal was brought to the surface. The cow was a valuable animal and would in a short time have come in fresh.

Killed.—John Wormley of Tyrone township was killed on Thursday last. He was helping put up a foot-log over Sherman's Creek near Thos. Morrow's when by some means the log slipped from its place and striking on the back of his head crushed him into the water. For a moment he was not missed, till the blood rising on the water, caused a search. He was at once got out by his comrades, but died in about an hour, speaking but once after the accident.—He leaves a wife and three children to mourn his sudden death. Several others were slightly injured.

A Railroad to Bloomfield received the following notice in a recent issue of the Philadelphia Times: The New Bloomfield journals are agitating the construction of a railroad from that place to Newport, to connect with the Pennsylvania Railroad, and it is stated in the Democrat that one gentleman proposes to subscribe $5,000 if the additional $12,000 needed to grade and bridge the line shall be subscribed by others. New Bloomfield is the county town of Perry and it is surprising that it has been without a railroad connection until this late day, when it is but six miles distant from the great trunk line of the State, and there could be no doubt of the success of the enterprise if the citizens to be directly benefited would give the aid the improvement can justly demand at their hands. It is an enterprise that can command aid outside of Perry county, but the way to get help is for the people most interested first to help themselves.

Methodism in Perry County.—The following information, was gathered from the minutes of Annual Session of Central Penn's Conference, which convened in March last, at York, Pa.:

There are five full charges—Blain, New Bloomfield, Newport, Duncannon and Liverpool, and parts of three others—Marysville, Thompsontown and Port Royal. They contain twenty preaching places. At these are found 1242 full members, and 116 probationers.

They paid to support of the Gospel, $4,636.

To superannuated preachers, $126.

To cause of missions, $411.

To other benevolence, $92.

For removal of debts on churches and parsonages, current expenses, and improvements of church property, $3,542.

Value of church and parsonage property, $51,200.

Cumberland County.—We copy the following from the Cumberland papers of last week:

Jas. S. Powell had his hand entirely severed from his arm by a circular saw at the planing mill of Mosser, Shoop & Sadler, in New Cumberland, on Saturday last.

On Monday last, a boy named Ambrose Peckard, aged about fourteen, residing at Jacksonville, while acting as a self-constituted conductor of the Harrisburg and Potomac Railroad, attempted to couple some freight cars, at the above place, and had the first three fingers of his left hand caught between the bull noses, which amputated two at the first joint and the third was so badly bruised that it had to be amputated at the same place. Dr. S. N. Ecker was called, who dressed the wounded fingers in the most skillful manner.

The Newville Enterprise gives an account of an ovarian tumor, removed from Mrs. Gilbert, of Green Spring. The patient had suffered for a number of years, and though repeatedly urged by her friends to have an operation performed, she would not consent until it became evident that she could not possibly live a week longer unless she obtained relief. While the physicians in consultation could give but little encouragement, on account of the size of the tumor and other serious complications, it was decided to perform the operation as a last resort. The tumor measured sixty-one inches around and together with its surrounding liquid weighed seventy-five pounds. Mrs. Gilbert did not long survive the operation; she died on Thursday.

Juniata County.—We copy the following from the Juniata county papers of last week:

On Wednesday morning of last week a valuable cow belonging to Hon. John Balsbach was killed by Pacific express west at the Market street crossing, in this place.—Port Royal Times.

The infant child of Mr. A. J. Pettitt died suddenly on Monday morning of last week from some unknown cause. The child appeared to be in good health when the parents retired to bed with it, but when they awoke in the morning the spirit of the darling child had taken its everlasting flight.—Id.

A hen belonging to Mrs. Naylor, of Fayette township, this county, recently hatched a brood of thirteen chickens among which was one that had four legs, one eye on the top of its head, and no wings. It lived but a short time. So a Coccolamus correspondent informs us.

C. D. Shellenberger, a well-known citizen of Fayette township, cut the instep of his foot about six weeks ago. The wound got sore and sickened him, and now he is so ill that his life is despaired of.

These nets are said to be a great improvement over any style yet made, while the price they will be sold at, is no greater than is asked for the poorer article.
