The next annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Millers' State Association will be held in Pittsburgh during the time of the State Fair in September. The State Agricultural Society will allot a space of 50 feet by 170 feet with line shafting and motive power free for the display of machinery and mill supplies. This is the first time in this State that an opportunity has been afforded to millers to witness such a display of milling machinery in motion, and it is expected that there will be a large number of millers present from this and other States.

GEN. GRANT used to be called the "silent man," but of late he has got to talking so much that he will no longer be entitled to that name. He had a long talk a few days ago on the Conkling subject with a Chicago reporter in which he makes some strange statements, particularly this one: "There is, or should be, a great deal in Senatorial courtesy, which means simply this: That when the President makes an appointment in any State, and it fails to elicit the approval of the two Senators from that State, the matter ends there, and the nomination is rejected. If the Republican Senators from any State object to any nomination, the rest of the party is expected to support them in the matter without exception." If this is good doctrine the constitution of the United States should be revised to accord with the above version, as this doctrine would virtually take away all responsibility from the President, and it is certainly a strange view for a man to take who has filled that office.

Be Careful about the Powder.

The following is a copy of the law regarding the sale of powder &c:

That any person who shall knowingly and willfully sell, or cause to be sold, to any person under sixteen years of age any cannon, revolver, pistol or other such deadly weapon, or who shall knowingly and willfully sell, or cause to be sold to any such minor any imitation or toy cannon, revolver or pistol so made, constructed or arranged as to be capable of being loaded with gunpowder or other explosive substance, cartridges, shot, slugs or balls, and being exploded, fired off and discharged and thereby become a dangerous or deadly weapon, or who shall knowingly and willfully sell, or cause to be sold, to any such minor any cartridge, gunpowder or other dangerous and explosive substance shall in every case be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding three hundred dollars. Approved the tenth day of June, A. D., 1881.

Wonderful Immigration.

If there is no interruption to the stream of immigration, more than 600,000 foreigners will have landed on our soil during the year 1881. On more than one day, this spring, nearly 7,000 persons landed at the port of New York. The majority are men, and the nationality most largely represented is Germany. They are generally in the prime of life, and of a better class than the average run of immigrants fifteen or twenty years ago. The great mass of these people go West, and settle upon farms. They give business to our railroads, use food products where it is most abundant and cheapest, and create a demand for manufactured goods of all kinds. Some 425,000 came to this country last year. It was the largest immigration in history, but the immigration this year promises to be one third greater. What a compliment it is to our land, and its institutions, that so many people, from all parts of the world, desire to share its blessings.

Houses with People in Them Carried Over Trees in Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 14.—A special dispatch to the Pioneer Press, from Wells, Minnesota, gives the following details of the damage by the storms:—The barn of G. P. Probert was lifted from its foundation and carried fifty feet, then dashed to pieces. The house and all out buildings were unroofed, and all the things scattered beyond recovery.—Two harvesters were lifted into the air, and then dashed to the ground and ruined. Mr. Probert's little girl, who was in the barn, was unhurt, as also were his horses. The dwellings of George Hening and a man named Grady of this town, were destroyed. The storm then passed into Blue county.—In the town of Danville the house of one R. Jones, was rolled over several times, and he and his wife being in it, the woman was severely cut in the neck and face. The large barn on the farm of Mr. Cortes was entirely destroyed. The shanty of Mr. Axtell was picked up like a feather and torn to pieces. The house of Mr. S. E. Ambie was completely wrecked. The house of John Vance was lifted bodily and was carried over tops of high trees and then laid upside downwards. Mrs. Vance, her brother and another lady were in the house and escaped almost without a hurt. The storm seemed to have spent its fury by that time, as no further serious damage is reported. The damage to the crops is not great as there was but little hail.

Important Notice.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
Adjutant General's Office,
Washington, May 16, 1881.

There being now pending in this department great numbers of volunteer pension claims which cannot be satisfactorily verified for want of information which missing records of discontinued volunteer commands would afford, and it having transpired in many instances that officers in the late volunteer forces have still in their possession or under their control books and other records pertaining to their corps, divisions, brigades, regiments, and companies, their attention is called to the fact that all such books and records should be deposited with this office, and they are earnestly requested to cause the same to be forwarded without delay to the Adjutant General of the Army, at Washington, District of Columbia.

No expense, other than postage or proper express charges (when packages exceed four pounds, the limit for mail parcels), can be paid by the Government.

In the interest of the great number of widows, orphans, and disabled soldiers whose claims are involved, the newspapers of the country are requested to give the substance of this circular the greatest publicity.

By order of the Secretary of War:

R. C. DRUM,

Adjutant General.

A Suspicious Insurance Case.

The Philadelphia North American of Thursday last says: George K. Fisher, fourteen years of age, who lived with Mrs. Munson at 714 Vanhook street, Camden, died suddenly on Tuesday afternoon. Last week Mrs. Munson insured his life with the Prudential Insurance Company, through the agent on Kaighn's avenue above Third, for $77. The rule is to make two payments, when the party is entitled to the policy, and if death happens within a year, one half the amount—in this case $38.50—or if death happens after one year, to the full amount. In this case the weekly dues were five cents, and on Monday the second payment was made and the policy issued. Within twenty-four hours the boy died, and on Tuesday evening the money was demanded. Suspecting something wrong, the agent notified Coroner Jefferis, and he, with County Physician Godfrey, is investigating the matter.

Lawful yet Unlawful.

An amusing case of conflict of laws exists at Greenwood Lake. The lake is partly in New Jersey and partly in New York. Under the New York law fishermen may take black bass after June 1. Yet, if the fisherman's boat happens to drift across the line into the New Jersey part of the lake, he is in danger of the game constable, as the New Jersey law forbids the catching of black bass before July 1. There is a similar conflict at the Delaware River. Bass can be taken on the Pennsylvania side on June 1, but on the New Jersey side not until July.

Painful Accident to a Lady.

Mrs. Robert Napier, residing at 232 Sayford alley, met with a painful accident on Two-and-a-half street yesterday morning as she was on her way to the Broad street market. As she was turning the corner at Broad street she was struck by a large Newfoundland dog and violently thrown to the ground. The concussion breaking her right leg in two places between the knee and ankle. Dr. Orth was at once sent for and rendered the necessary service in the case. The lady is doing as well as can be expected.—Patriot.

A horrible plot to kill workmen was discovered in the Chicago Stove Works on Friday night. Just as two moulders, named Fleure and Sessions, were about to pour moulden iron into one of the moulds, one of them saw that it had been tampered with, and an examination showed that two pounds of gunpowder were hidden in the mould.—Had it not been discovered the fiery metal would have been blown over all the men in the foundry. The crime is attributed to striking moulders who have been hanging about the foundry for months.

A Terrible Leap from a Tower.

CHICAGO, June 15.—About five o'clock last evening a young man, named Hugo Van Malapert, who appears to belong to a noble family in Germany, jumped from the top of the water works tower and was instantly killed. Nobody saw the suicidal jump, but a number of people on the street near the water works saw the body of a man descending through the air, and hurrying to the spot where it fell, found a corpse, which had driven its head a foot deep in the grass plot which surrounds the tower. The fall was from a height of 160 feet.

A Bank President Sent to Prison.

WINDSOR, Vt., June 15.—Silas M. Waite, ex-president of the First National Bank of Brattleboro, came into the United States Court this morning and pleaded guilty to the first and fourth counts of the first indictment against him, charging him with making a false return to the government officials under the national banking act, and was sentenced to six years' imprisonment in the House of Correction.

An Unlucky Shot.

Mr. John M. Drake, living a few miles north of Shelbyville, Ind., saw a cat take a young duck and disappear through a hole in the barn. He seized a shot-gun and fired, missing the cat but hitting a young man named Froeur, son of Albert Froeur, of Shelbyville, putting out an eye, cutting an artery in his neck and filling his face with shot, and also wounding two of his own boys. Mr. Drake was not aware that the boys were about the place.

Philadelphia Police Department.

The Philadelphia Ledger of December 29, 1880, mentions among many others, the case of Chief of Police of that city, Samuel H. Given, Esq., who says he used St. Jacobs Oil in his family, for various painful ailments, with excellent results. He has also heard from many who have used it for rheumatism, that alone of all remedies did them good.—Philadelphia Times.

Miscellaneous News Items.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 14.—An extensive cave-in of a portion of the Diamond mines in this city is hourly expected. Orders were issued to-day by Charles Parrish & Co., the operators, forbidding any employees to enter the mine until further notice.

LANCASTER, June 14.—Miss Elizabeth Shaub was arrested to-day on a charge of killing her infant child, which died and was buried under suspicious circumstances on Friday. The woman was preparing to leave the city when arrested.

Wm. Herndon, Abraham Lincoln's old law partner, and a few years ago one of the most logical and argumentative lawyers of the State and at one time worth considerable property, is a pauper at Springfield, Illinois. He is pointed out by his old friends and associates as a common drunkard.

A contemplated jail delivery in Jersey City was frustrated a few days ago by the fortunate discovery of a written communication from one of the prisoners, which was picked up in the vicinity. A man serving a sentence for selling lottery tickets was at once suspected by the janitor, and when his wife called on a visit a short time after the discovery was made, she was searched and the desired articles, consisting of files, putty, black paint, etc., were found in her possession.

The Decatur (Iowa) Republican says: A very remarkable accident happened here a few days ago. The little two-year old son of Scott Smith, seeing his mother use a small basket with which he had been playing to lower something which she wanted to keep cool into the well, watched his opportunity attempted to look for the basket and in doing so fell into the well, which is thirty-two feet deep, with two and a half feet of water. The little fellow must have fell in head first, as his hair was found to be full of sand. The first intimation Mrs. Smith had of the child's fearful fall was on hearing him call from the bottom of the well: "Ma, take 'e baby! Ma take 'e baby!" There was a wild hurrying to and fro and the baby was finally rescued, nearly drowned.

CHICHESTER, Ulster County, June 7.—There was a porcupine hunt on the mountains near here on Saturday night. Men and dogs engaged in it, and one of the dogs came out of the battle with his jaws filled with porcupine quills, some of them six inches in length. The porcupine was killed, and it weighed fifty pounds. The dog was in a pitiful condition. The porcupine quills had been thrust into almost every part of the jaw, and four of them were jabbed into the roof of the dog's mouth, the butt ends being just visible. Many of the quills were pulled out with the fingers, one of the hunter's holding the animal's head between his legs while another performed the operation. To pull the quills out of the roof of the mouth, the owner of the dog took the animal to the chair factory, and placing its head in a wooden vice, screwed up just hard enough to hold it, plucked the quills out one by one with a pair of nippers, the dog howling with pain during the operation.

Two negroes were put on the auction block, much in the style of slavery days, at Lexington, Ky., a few days ago. They had been sentenced to a year's servitude apiece for vagrancy, and their labor for that term was what was offered for sale.—A cattle auctioneer was the salesman, and the men were critically examined, with many pokes and pinches, just as slaves used to be. The first to be put up was a fat old fellow, and the bidding advanced very slowly to $20. "Bless my soul," cried the auctioneer. "I recollect the time when he'd bring $500—a hale, hearty old nigger like him. Twenty, twenty, twenty; any advance on twenty? Go up and examine him, gentlemen. He's able to do a good day's work yet, breaking rock or breaking hemp, or even working on a railroad. Look how sleek and fat he is.—Look at his arms and legs." He was knocked down to Col. Craig, a railroad contractor, for $34. The other negro was younger and stronger. Craig wanted him, but he was bought for $112 by a man who meant to put him to work street sprinkling. This sale was the first held, under a new Kentucky tramp law.

St. Louis, Mo., June 14.—Additional accounts of the cyclone in the northwestern portion of Missouri are to the effect that a very large amount of property was destroyed. A considerable number of lives were lost and a great many persons were injured. Among those known to have been killed outright are P. C. Nelson, C. E. Maynard, Miss Maynard, Mrs. G. Roberts and child and a man whose name is unknown. The injured, so far as reported, are Miss A. Gee, who will die; Miss Mangard, severely; William Miller, dangerously; Robert Miller, seriously bruised; Israel Wood, wife and children, all more or less seriously injured. Frank Burke and party, fourteen persons, were all injured; John Cott and family, all injured; the children have since died; William Ricks, severely injured; Mrs. Ricks, fatally injured; Mrs. Richard, right arm and ribs broken. Scores of houses were blown down or otherwise wrecked, fully two thirds of them being unoccupied, the families being away from home either at church or visiting. Otherwise the loss of life would have been frightful. In Western Iowa the destruction was principally from hail, which in some places was said to be the size and shape of door knobs and weighing over a pound each, and covering the ground to the depth of six inches.—Calves, hogs and poultry were killed, and cattle and horses badly bruised.

Bogus Certificates.

It is no vile drugged stuff, pretending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, barks, &c., and puffed up by long bogus certificates of pretended miraculous cures, but a simple, pure, effective medicine, made of well known valuable remedies, that furnishes its own certificates by its cures. We refer to Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines. See another column.

How to Save.

All men and women who work hard with mind or body are subject to periodical attacks of biliousness, which may end in disordered kidneys or liver and dangerous illness. A 50 ct. or $1.00 bottle of Parker's Ginger Tonic will keep these organs active, and by preventing the attack save you much sickness, loss of time and great expense. Many families are kept in perfect health by using the Tonic when spring or fall sickness threatens. Delay at such times means danger.—Detroit Press. See other column. 221m
