THE TIMES NEW BLOOMFIELD, PA., JULY 19, 1881.

Terrible Thunder Storm.

A terrible storm passed over New and ran away. They were, with difficulty, recaptured. The minister succeeded, finally, in restoring order in the church, and the services were finished.

A lightning bolt darted out of the clouds

overhanging the suburbs of Brooklyn,

killing Theresa Kelley, aged 12, of 1,746

Dean street. The child was bareheaded.

She had been sent upon an errand, and was at Buffalo avenue and Dean street,

on her way to a grocery for a can of milk and a package of pot cheese. The lightning struck the can in her hand,

and, running up her arm, left a purple

streak in its path. It burned her eyebrows and hair. She was thrown down,

and when first approached was not dead,

but she died soon after being removed to the grocery. Her father, Bernard Kelly, last night removed her body to his home. The place where the accident occurred is sparsely settled. In a garden

close by a laborer named Kenny was digging with a spade. He was paralyzed by the same stroke that killed the girl, and it was over two minutes before he was able to let go of the spade. Then he seemed to have lost the free use of his limbs. The child's body turned black a

NEW YORK, July 15 .- Word was received at police headquarters late this afternoon that three men had stolen

$10,000 in bills at the Grand Central

Depot and escaped. The robbery, upon investigation, was found to have been committed boldly in the open street.

At noon Charles Messersmidt, a clerk

in the employ of Jacob Ruppert, brewer,

drove in a light wagon from the brewery

at Ninety-second Street and Third Avenue, down to deposit a sum of money in the Germania and Nassau

Banks. With him in the wagon was Gustave Akerlon, an office-boy. They carried $9,300 in bills done up in a package, and a bag filled with silver dollars. At Forty-seventh Street their wagon was run into by a vender's

wagon, in which three men were seated.

The supposed peddlers sprang from their wagon, two attacked the clerk,

while the third cut the reins of his horse. In an instant they had seized

the package of bills, and, jumping back

in their cart, drove furiously down

Lexington Avenue, the bag of silver falling in the street, making their escape.

THE TIMES.

The condition of the President at nine o'clock A. M., Monday, was satisfactory to his physicians. They report him as progressing slowly and they think surely towards convalescence, though they do not call him as yet out of danger, and it will be several weeks before all danger will be passed.

Pulse this morning, 88; temperature, 981; respiration, 18.

On Tuesday morning a train on the N. J. Southern R. R., ran off' the track while crossing a bridge near Manchester. One car was dropped into the water and one man was fatally injured and several others badly hurt.

To prove that it takes all kind of people to make a world we note the fact, that a few days ago a Washington woman took some brolled chicken, jellies and other delicacies to the jail with the request that they be given to the assassin, Guiteau. Her request was not granted much to her disgust.

THE dead lock in the Senatorial contest at Albany was broken on Saturday. To fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Platt, Hon, Warner Miller, at present member of Congress for the twenty-second New York district, was elected. No election was made for the short term, in place of Conkling.

A NEW JERSEY militia captain who was indiscrete enough to make a slighting remark about the wounded President, was obliged in consequence to remain in retirement while his company was out on parade the other day and was a witness of the burning of himself in effigy by an excited crowd that would have severely handled himself in person had he fallen in their way. In several other instances men learned that it was a good time to keep either a civil or a silent tongue in their heads.

GUITEAU thinks it was the first shot that made the terrible wound in Mr. Garfield; he says that the President sank down, at that shot. When spoken to on the subject Mr. Garfield said ; "I think so too." He spoke of the terrible shock he received when he felt the bullet, and he says he felt his knees giving away from under him. With the doctors he believes that the arm shot, which only grazed the skin, would not have affected him so much. His recollections of the entire affair are very clear.

Threatens to kill Guiteau.

WASHINGTON, July 12. - Secretary

in liquor, and is about 40 years of age He was sent to jail.

A Cool Robbery.

SIDNEY, Iowa, July 12 .- The bank of Davis & Sexton at Riverton was robbed of $4,000. Two men rode into the town about 4 P. M. on horses stolen last night near Sidney, and hitched the animals back of the bank. While Mr. Sexton was getting money from the safe to change a bill for them they leaped over the counter, placed revolvers at his head, took the money, fled to the back door, and rode deliberately away, inviting the crowd to follow. A large company is in pursuit. At the last accounts the robbers were near the Missouri line, and the prospect of their capture is good.

A Queer Way to Prevent Hydrophobia.

As Susie Hunt, a twelve year old girl, was playing with a pet cat at her home, 6 Adams street, Hoboken, on Sunday evening, the animal scratched her slightly on the hand. This angered the girl, and she gave the cat a severe beating. A few minutes after, while the girl was sitting in a chair reading, the cat sprang upon her and fastened its teeth in her nose. The girl's mother, who witnessed the occurrence, seized the cat, and cutting its head off, washed the girl's face with the blood, in order, as she said, to prevent hydrophobia.

Heavily Insured.

A letter from Westminster, Carroll county, Md., dated the 12th inst., says: Robert Bell, colored, died in this city last night, aged somewhere in the eighties. His life was known to have been insured for a large aggregate sum, and his death and insurance polleles were the chief topics of conversation to day. Quite a number are interested in the policies, and the whole amount is estimated at $200,000. It is said that $174,000 have been taken on his life during the past two or three weeks, one syndicate investing $55,000.

A Father's Terrible Mistake.

At Lyons, Ohio, some time ago the post office was robbed and since that time Postmaster C. E. Carmon has been very watchful for the burglars. About 2 o'clock Saturday morning his attention was aroused by seeing a figure on the roof of the house and he fired the contents of a breech-loading carbine through the head of the supposed burglar. Examination revealed the horrible fact that he had killed his 14-year old son Elmer, who had gone out either in a fit of somnambulism or to seek relief from the terrible heat.

A Woman Killed by Lightning.

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., July 12 .-During the terrible thunder storm of yesterday morning the house of John Brandt, near Callicoon depot, Sullivan county, was struck by lightning and Mrs. Brandt was instantly killed. Her body was horribly mutilated. The house and the dead woman's clothes were fired, but the flames were extinguished before much damaged was done. The lightning struck in three other milk snake, some eight feet in length and as large around as a lamp post. It escaped from a box in Denney's saloou, where it had been placed, and all Shelby county is standing on chairs, holding up its skirts and screaming.

13" On Monday night Miss Missouri Sikes, aged 13, adopted in the family of Mr. Ramsey, of Montgomery county, Ga., heard of the death of her brother Frank, at his home in Houston county. The news so shocked her nervous system that she retired to her room and was soon afterward found in a dying condition. She died soon afterward.

ton A German visited Delaware Water Gap a few days ago on a tour of pleasure, and while wandering over the rocks missed his footing and rolled to the bottom a distance of about ten feet. When he gained his feet he made a minute examination of his various bruises, after which he took up his line of march for the hotel, with the remark : "I dinks dese peauties of nature vas blayed out."

OSKALOOSA, Iowa, July 12 .- The hardest rain for years visited this region yesterday afternoon and last night. Cellars have been flooded, bridges washed out, and railroad tracks greatly damaged. Reports are coming in from the country of losses of stock, fences, and buildings on the low lands. The rainfall by actual measurement was five and one-fourth inches. Nothing like this has been known for years.

Tour young men broke into the house of Joanna Sullivan, at Landsfield, Berkshire county, Mass., last Saturday night, and taking her from her bed into the open air, brutally tarred and feathered her. The assault is thought to have been provoked by the woman's habit of getting herself and neighbors into the local courts by petty suits. Two of the perpetrators have been arrested.

Hupson, Wis., Joly 11 .- Fourteen cars of a freight train on the Chleago, St. Paul, Minnesota and Omaha railroad broke loose yesterday and started backwards down a steep grade towards North Hudson, acquiring a remarkable speed. At the depot they crashed into another freight train, killing its engineer, George Trider. The engine and several cars were badly damaged, the loss being estimated at $40,000.

MILWAUREE, July 11 .- A special dispatch from Menomenee says two desperadoes shot and killed Under Sheriff Coleman of Duun county and Charles Coleman, sheriff of Peppin county, Wis. The murderers are the Williams brothers, horse thieves from Illinois. They escaped after shooting the officers and are armed with Winchester rifles. A heavy reward is offered for their capture.

13"A bee tree was cut down on the lands of the Lackawanna Iron and Coal Company a few days ago, when a nest of large black suakes was found in the hollow of the tree below the bee combs. The bees and snakes entered through the same hole, which was located about thirty feet above the ground, and the fact that the combs of the bees contained no honey, the supposition is that their near neighbors had devoured the fruits of their toil as fast as it was gathered.

new" Mr. Orlando Weatherbee, says an danger is past in the President's case, the Vice-President returns to New York city. His interview with Mrs. Garfield yesterday was very agreeable, many circumstances making it more so than their first after the shooting of the President.

It is pretty well settled that for the present, at least, there will be no discrimination made on account of politics, in the discharges from the pension office. Over oue hundred persons will be dismissed this week, the reduction being made necessary by the limited appropriation for the payment of clerks, etc., but, according to present advices, efficiency only will be considered in selecting the victime. It may be said in this connection that the new commissioner is making several changes in the office which promise to be beneficial.

Blaine received in his mail yesterday a postal card postmarked St. Louis, Mo., but without signature, upon. which the writer stated that he had carefully watched the reports relative to Presiden t Garfield and should not be satisfied with the simple incarceration of Guiteau in an insane asylum or for a term of years in the penitentiary, but that he had vowed by all that was holy to take vengeance for the suffering needlessly caused President Garfield, and to kill Guiteau himself, which statement he desired not to be forgotten.

A Merited Retribution.

In Heard county, Ga., a fellow named Waldrop committed an assault on the wife of Dr. John Mitchell and then murdered her. There was no doubt of his guilt and after two days search by the friends of the deceased, he was arrested. That night a body of armed men took him from jail and led him to the spot where he committed the crime, tied him with wires to a stake and then placing pine around him burned him to death. His screams rang out on the quiet country air, and the flames lit up the scene with lurid glare. The death struggles were horrid, but not a man stirred. Standing in a circle around the human sacrifice, they looked with stolid indifference at the horrid explation of his crime. From first to last the officers made no effort to save the prisoner for a legal doom. If they had it would have been futile, for popular passion was frenzied. Waldrop was 23 years old, and a man of good address.

The Murderous Toy Pistol in Baltimore.

A Baltimore paper says : There have been a remarkable number of fatalities here among children injured by exploding paper caps on toy pistols within the past few days. Up to this evening eight children and youths have died of lockjaw, superinduced by what appeared to be trifling burns.

than the barrels hold and then putting from one to four gallons less into a barrel than it will hold, thus cheating the merchants out of from four to eight gallons of oil in every barrel. This has been asserted in the Drug Reporter, and the publisher of the Bradford Star says he has tested a number of barrels and found the charges to be true whilst the barrels of all other dealers tested had ful measure. If the charge is true the sooner all dealers stop buying the oil made by this company the better.

Racing Ahead of a Locomotive.

RHINECLIFF, N. Y., July 11. - A crowd of persons at the Hudson River depot in this city on Saturday afternoon were horrified to see a team of horses racing down the railroad track ahead of a rapidly moving train. A teamster, to make a short cut, had attempted to cross the track above the depot instead of at the regular crossing. Just as he got on the track he heard a loud screech from a locomotive's whistle, and, turning around, saw a train almost upon him. He put the whip to his horses, and when he turned off the track at the station the locomotive grazed the rear end of his wagon. It was voted the narrowest escape that crowd had ever seen.

Shocking Wife Murder in Maine.

BATH, Me., July 12 .- Benjamin Crossman, a drawtender on Hodgdon's Island, Sheepsscot River, left home yesterday with his wife to go to Wiscasset in a dory. At an early hour this morning he was found in an intoxicated condition on Barter's Island, and being questioned as to his wife, replied : "I have committed a horrible crime and want to be hung." The dory was picked up in the river and found to be smeared with blood from end to end, the inference being that the woman had been literally chopped in pleces and thrown overboard. Crossman is a peaceable man when not

A Difficult Problem Solved.

Ambition, competition and over-exertion use up the vital powers of men and women, so that a desire for stimulants seems to be a natural human passion, and drunkenness prevails on account of this necessity for bodily and mental in-vigoration. Parker's Ginger Tonic fair-ly solves the difficult problem, and has brought health and happiness into many desplate homes. It does not than down desolate homes. It does not tear down an already debilitated system, but builds it up without intoxicating.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 13, 1881. Against the opinion of any one else, Guiteau has held that the first bullet fired by him was the one which so seriously wounded the President. He was so near the object of his wrath and was so perfectly cool, that he could hardly have missed the exact figure of the President, but, supposing the President to have swayed to one side, as Guiteau says he did, after the first shot, it is easy to see that even a well aimed second bullet might miss the intended. point. The President now agrees with Guiteau that the first bullet made the serious wound. The opinion of Senator Blaine, who is said to have been remarkable cool, during the scene, would be valuable, but he refuses to talk for publication. Col. Rockwell, intimate friend of the President, says the latter, if he recovers, would not accept the money now being subscribed for him. Neither, it is believed, would Mrs. Garfield in the unhappy event of a fatal result to the President's wound. The few dozens of people who make up this quarter of a million will doubtless find pleasure in so doing, and we have no right to question the motives of any of them. But any necessary provision for those a murdered President should leave behind him should be made in such a way that the recipients will feel that all the people united in it, and this can only be done by acts of Congress, the payment of the President's salary for a full term and a pension for services as commander in chief of the army, both of which appropriations are sanctioned by precedent-will answer the purpose. For the sake of the eminent proprieties of the case, and because of the desire of every citizen to be represented in such case, this would seem to be the better way of treating the subject.
