The Carlisle Volunteer is feeling badly because we do not give it individual credit because we do not give it individual credifor our "Cumberland county Items." The editor will find that one article in last week's Times is credited to the "Carlisle Volunteer," and all the others are credited to the Cumberland county papers, and we believe that the Volunteer is one of them—and a very good one too. As several of the articles referred to however, were in several papers. red to however, were in several papers, besides the Folunteer it looks as though the editor of that paper could safely take the medicine it prescribes for us. We do a good deal of work for other papers, which we get no credit for, but instead of growling about it, are pleased to see that we are of use to them.

A horse hitched to the railing in front of Zortman's hotel, last Monday noon, made things lively for about two minutes, in that neighborhood. Without utes, in that neighborhood. Without any seeming provocation or fright he tore his hitching strap and took the pavement in front of Musser & Allen's store on a dead run, making a bee-line for Eby's drug store, the door of which was open. It is supposed there was too much physic there for him, for he sheered off to the right and attempted to force himself and bugget between the large himself and buggy between the large hackmetac tree near the corner, and a hitching post. He managed to get hitching post. He managed to get through himself but left the buggy and a portion of the harness behind. John Snyder and Geo. A Strange Haul.-Recently while Mr. George W. Philips, jr., residing coroner of Second and Liberty streets, was fishing along the flats west of Independence island, using a small net for catching crabs for bait, he brought to the surface a clever sized muscle which held firmly between its shells, the head of a dead water snake, about thirty inches in length. The theory is, that while the shell of the muscle was wide open exposing the meat, the snake thrust its head between the lids and by a quick movement of the mollusk the shells closed on the head of the snake and held it securely till it was drowned. The muscle, strange to say, was alive when captured .- Harrichurg Patriot.

The oldest little daughter of Rev. and Mrs. T. F. Ealy met with what might prove a very serious accident on Tues-day, July 26th, by accidentally stepping with her bare foot on a sharp scythe that was in her uncle Charles Ramsey's hand as they were gathered around the pump. The wound was attended to at once by kind hands and the child's father, who had just started for Peru Mills was overtaken and brought back. The child up to this time of writing was getting along favorably.

On Thursday of last week a dispute arose between Mr. James Coder, of Aca-demia and a Mr. McNamara, a wool merchant of Patterson, in regard to the merchant of Patterson, in regard to the kicking of a dog, which resulted in McNamara striking Mr. C. over the forehead and face with a club, breaking the frontal bone and inflicting an ugly cut on the left cheek bone. Dr. J. M. Brazee was summoned and administered to the wants of the injured man. McNamara was arrested and placed under ball to await the result of Coder's injuries, which are very dangerous, and may yet prove fatal.

Thieves entered the clothing store of Thieves entered the clothing store of D. W. Harley, in this place, on last Thursday night. The entrance to the room was made by prying open the front door, or by prying open one of the double front doors. A chisel taken form the blacksmith shop of Wm. Ellis on Water street was inserted between the two doors, and the leverage thus the two doors, and the leverage thus secured was sufficient to break the cast metal hasp, into which the bolt of the lock had been turned when Mr. Harley retired for the night. The thieves in the store threw the clothing about on the counters, as if searching for some particular kind of suits. A considerable quantity of burnt paper lay about on the floor behind the counters, and from the appearance of the ashes and their locanear inflamable stuff the wonder is that the house was not set on fire, by which act the thieves would have been guilty of the double crime of robbery and arson. From the amount of paper ashes on the floor the light must have been considerable, and the wonder is that it did not attract attention on the street. It is conjectured by some people that probably a number of thieves were engaged in the work, and that some stood away up and down the street to signal the approach of persons travel-ing at night, when the light could have been put out. Two chisels are missing from the Ellis blacksmith shop; the one was found at Harley's store door; the point of the other was found at the same place, but the blade and handle were no where to be found. Coats, pants, shoes, hats and neck-ties were stolen.—Mifflintown Sentinel.

Ambition, competition and over-exertion use up the vital powers of men and women, so that a desire for stimulants seems to be a natural human passion. and drunkenness prevails on account of this necessity for bodily and mental in-vigoration. Parker's Ginger Tonic fair-ly solves the difficult problem, and has brought health and happiness into many desolate homes. It does not tear down an already debilitated system, but builds it up without intoxicating. 26 1m
