

Shocking Story from Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 2.—Smallpox and typhoid fever are very prevalent in Pittsburg, and it is feared that this winter the former disease will be epidemic. Some results of an investigation now in progress by the Board of Health will give an idea as to some of the causes of the unhealthiness of the city. On Belford avenue, almost in the heart of Pittsburg, is a large graveyard used by colored people. Yesterday morning Mr. Timmis, the sexton, came to the office of the Board at the request of the Health Officer. He told the Board that he had been sexton of the cemetery for about two years and a half. During that time he said, there were a great many double interments, one body being buried above another. This appeared to be practised as a matter of economy. People in the neighborhood complained that a horrible, deadly stench arose from the graveyard, and the sexton said it was true that such was the case. Whenever there were two or three hot, dry days the graves would crack open and from the apertures smoke would arise, giving forth a very unpleasant smell. He knew of several families who frequently had to close the doors and windows of their houses to keep it out. One family the Posters, moved away on account of it. At times it was impossible to go through the grounds without being made sick by the awful stench. This was caused by the interment of bodies one on top of the other, in some instances these bodies filling the grave to within six inches of the top. His instructions were to dig all graves five and a half feet, providing the digging was not too hard, and he had time to do it; if not then dig them as deep as he could—just deep enough to hide the box. He said he always dug them five feet or nearly that, but when they would put in two thirty inch boxes the graves would be filled to the top. Scarcely a night passed but he saw twenty to thirty dogs prowling around through the grounds, and almost every morning during the late hot spell he had to cover up the boxes that had been laid bare. This was especially true in the case of a Mrs. Woods who had been buried on the top of her husband's body, the "rough box" being almost on a line with the ground: the dogs never got further than the outside of the boxes.—The fences were in such a dilapidated condition that it was impossible to keep the dogs out of the grounds.

Married in Haste.

A special telegram from Richmond, Va., reports excitement there in social circles over the betrayal into marriage of a young lady by a man calling himself Thos. Marvin. The dispatch says: She possesses a noble character, and in person is an exceedingly pretty blonde of less than 25. About three weeks ago her attention was called to an advertisement in a Hartford, Conn., religious newspaper purporting to be from a widower in Ohio, who desired to secure the services of a governess to take charge of his little girl, about six or eight years old. The lady quickly decided to apply for the position. Marvin came to Richmond with letters of introduction, representing him to be of ample fortune, ect. He proposed marriage, was accepted by the lady, settled $20,000 on his wife, and they started for Niagara. After they were gone the First National bank discovered that an $800 draft it had cashed for him was a forgery. The first intelligence from the unhappy girl was a telegram from Albion, N. Y., in which she inquired if the fatal accident to her mother in Salem, Va., reported in a Northern newspaper was true. It would seem that Marvin had carried the lady to Albion, where he had hoped to practice his forgery schemes upon wealthy friends of hers there, and in order to get rid of her had manufactured and had published the false story of the fatal accident to her mother, doubtless hoping that this would cause her to at once return to Richmond, and thus leave the way clear to him to desert her. As soon as the friends of the victim realized Marvin's imposition two of them promptly left here to join her. The bank officers, who had been duped by the widower, placed the case in the hands of detectives, who telegraphed to Albion to have Marvin arrested. The reply came back that there were two men of that name in that city, and inquiring which one was wanted. The imposter learning that the officers were on his track fled, and is supposed to have gone in the direction of Canada. The lady's friends found her at Albion. In order to avoid all publicity she would consent only to travel at night. She is expected on the Northern train which arrives here to-night at a quarter to eleven o'clock.

A Queer Case.

NEW YORK, August 1.—Mrs. Walker Campbell, aged 80, has brought suit against her husband, aged 67, to recover bonds valued at $55,000 which she says he has converted to his own use. The couple were married in 1878, and Campbell says he gave up a position worth $5,000 a year to go around with his wife, she promising to settle property on him worth $25,000, and that she gave him bonds which she now sues to recover. They went to Europe, but the wife left with a deposit company the bonds in an envelope indorsed to her husband. He told her when they reached England that he must return immediately to attend to a lawsuit. He came to New York and sold the bonds. Later she gave a release for the bonds. But she says she did not mean the release, and the lawyer told her that between husband and wife it could have no effect. He deserted her again and she has attached all his goods. The matter came up to-day on a motion to vacate the attachment.

An East Indian Bishop has just admitted to holy orders a Mr. Thomas Rickards, till lately a miner at Callington, in Cornwall, who is said, "by constant perseverance, to have taught himself Latin, Greek, Hebrew, German, French, and Syrian;" and this prodigy of learning is now teaching the natives of Burmah.

A young man of western Massachusetts went to Amherst to get a marriage license, and his prospective mother-in-law accompanied him, in order to see to it that he got back in time for the ceremony in the evening; but at Amherst they got drunk together, and were in jail at the hour appointed for the wedding.

On Spring Hill, Allegheny, on Saturday, Louis Meyer tried to shoot a dog and slipping, shot himself in the arm. One of his brothers tried to take the revolver from him to shoot the dog, but in the scuffle that ensued the weapon was discharged, fatally wounding Louis in the abdomen.

The front doors of the new house of William H. Vanderbilt will cost, including settings, $25,000. They are of bronze and fac similis of those of the Church of San Angelo at Rome. Many a man would be glad to put up with a house that didn't cost more than that much.

Happy Friends.

Rev. F. M. Wingburne, Pastor M. E. Church, Mexia, Texas, writes as follows: Several months since I received a supply of St. Jacobs Oil. Retaining two bottles, I distributed the rest among friends. It is a most excellent remedy for pains and aches of various kinds, especially neuralgia and rheumatic affections.—Jackson Daily Patriot.

A Good Foundation.

One of the greatest troubles of our people is weakness of the stomach. As this soon causes indigestion, nervousness and rheumatism, they prevail in every American household. There is positively no need for anybody to suffer from these painful troubles who can buy a 50 ct. bottle of Parker's Ginger Tonic; for this superior medicine always tones up the stomach and nervous system, and keeps the kidneys acting in carrying off the foul matters, thus laying a good foundation for perfect health.
