Rat-Killing Extraordinary.

The most extraordinary rat killing match probably ever witnessed in this city occurred in the rear of the Eighth district police station recently. There is a slaughter house adjoining it on the east. The, rata had burrowed beneath the sidewalk from the slaughter house into the cellar of the station and thence found their way into the building, defying the able-bodied tom-cats and boldly invading the lodging rooms and nibbling the toes of the slumbarers. The butcher, whose establishment was the banqueting hall for the rodents, decided to dig up his pavement, fill up the rat holes and repave. When the lairs were uncovered and the subteranean passages, in numbers sufficiently labyrinthean to satisfy a dozen Sylvanus Cobbs, were opened up, a stream of rats poured forth. The butcher, with the quickness of a terrior, snatched rat after rat as they ran from the boles and dashed them against the brick wall. He continued this lightning work until be bad killed 185 in less than an hour. He did not receive a wound while destroying the pests. Some of the policemen who witnessed the slaughter offered to match the slayer to kill rats at an exhibition. -Philadelphia Times.

A Good Dog.

This morning, about 4 o'clock, Mr. A. Priestly, of 1111 Spring Garden street, was awakened from a sound sleep by his young Newfoundland dog, who occupied the same chamber with himself. The dog aroused his master by leaping on the bed and pawing his face. Upon being fully aroused Mr. Priestly discovered, to his great alarm, that his house was on fire and that his sleeping apartment was filled with suffocating smoke.

Hastily escaping from his perilous position, carrying his faithful and intelligent friend with him, he gave the alarm, and with the aid of the fire department, the flames, which had originated in the kitchen were spedily extinguished, with a probable loss of $1,000.

Mr. Priestly's family is out of the city, and he is confident that but for the warning given by the dog he would have been suffocated. The animal was so much overcome by the smoke as to be unable to stand when carried into the yard. The friends of intelligent brutes will be pleased to learn that he is in a fair way of recovery, and the intelligence displayed by him will no doubt again start the question whether it was instinct or reason prompted his actions. -Phila. A Catfish's Deadyl Bite.

Audrew Norman a prominent farmer living a few miles north of Newcomerstown Ohio, is now lying in a critical condition from the effects of what is supposed to be blood-poisoning. His case is a very singuthe and remarkable one. He was fishing a few weeks ago, and while holding a huge cattish it horned him through the hand .-He suddenly became very ill and his hand and arm began swelling to enormous proportions. He has not since been able to leave his house and his sufferings are intense, his whole body at times being very much bloated and swollen. The most singular part of the case is that when Mr. Norman received the wound be was seized with the horrible thought that it would prove fatal, and although several weeks have now elapsed, this awful foreboding still clings to him and he seems unable to divest his mind of the dreadful conclusion.

The New Comet.

William R. Brooks, of the Red Horse observatory, Phelps, N. Y., announces, under date of August 15, that Schaelberles' comet which, at the time of discovery, and for some time after, was only visible in the moraing northeastern sky, can now be seen in the evening low down in the north northwest. Good observations were obtained by me last evening and the evening previous, before moon rise. The nucleus is bright, large, and very diffused; the tail narrow and straight, and pointing tewards polaris. Although it will be nearest the sun and earth about the twentieth inst., it may develop unusual brilliancy after its porihelion passage and should be attentively watched.

Rather Romantic.

A letter written from Salem Va says: One of the most remarkable characters of the day arrived here on Friday night. He was no other than a colored man named Dr. William Key, from Shelbyville, Tenn. When the war closed he found himself free and his old master and mistress pennidess. His former owners gave him a fair education while a slave, which he made use of by entering college and becoming a veterinary surgeon and an M. D. With the knowledge thus gained be invented a Riniment, the sale of which has netted him a fortune. While on the high road to prosperity he never lost sight of his former friends- his old master and mistress-but kept them up in there former style of living while they remained on earth. He then undertook the education of their son by sending him to college; and for these reasons I style William Key a remarkable man, because there are not many ex-slaves that would have done as he did. He carries the strongest testamonials I ever read. It is signed by the Mayor of Shelbyville, and the Clerk and Sheriff of Bedford county, Tenn.

Attempt to Wreck a Train.

GALVESTON, Texas, August 16 .- A special to the News from San Antonio says : "An unsuccessful attempt was made yesterday to wreck an excursion train, having on board 550 men, women and children, by laying cross ties across the track. The train was going at the rate of thirty miles an hour, and the engine striking the ties threw them in every direction. Five men who were riding on the cow-catcher were badly bruised."

A Bad Woman.

Hiram Berry of Louisville took a young wife, though he is 70. His sons and daughters made so much trouble on the subject that he reluctantly obtained a divorce, the character of the bride enabling him to regain his freedom without difficulty. But he could not voluntarily give her up, after all, and at the end of a few months he sought to renew his courtship. She threw a can of concentrated lye into his face, burning him so seriously that he may never see again.

What a Woman Dug For.

A policeman saw a woman digging in her garden at Paris, Ky., before daylight. She was not noted for industrious habits, and therefore he covertly watched her until she brought out a box containing $10,000, the proceeds of a bank robbery.

A sewing machine needle got into a Northfield, Minn., woman's big toe and worked through, coming out of the top of her foot in sixteen days.

Speaking of Governors suggests the mention of an item we received from Mr. Henry A. Knight, Foreman at Charles Waters & Co.'s Governor and Valve Works, Boston, Mass.: I have used St. Jacobs Oil amoung our employees and find that it never fails to cure. The men are delight-ed with the wonderful effects of the Oil, as it has cured them of bruises, burns, etc.[New Albany Ledger Standard.]
