The Valley Sentinel gravely asks, "are not our country roads too wide?" If he should drive from here to Newport with a skittish horse, he would find places that were at least an inch and a half too narrow, unless he is a remarkable good

On last Sunday Mr. Samuel Liddiek's young son, while in the act of jumping from the top of a cart to a dirt pile, slipped and struck his lower jaw on the edge of a board that was set on edge to hold up the dirt, and was severely hurt. Dr. T. L. Johnston was the attending physician.—Duncannon Record.

Two Juniata township young men, accompanied by two degs and guns, came to Centre two. on a coon hunt. In a short time they were the happy possessors of one dead dog and one coon. One of the hunters shot the young dog by mistake, while the older dog killed the coon. And now one of those young men cares little about coon hunting.

Edward W. Grubb, a Chester county farmer, purchased a cow a few days ago, and on the following morning discover-ed that she was blind of an eye, and the next day she lost the sight of the other. On the third day five valuable cows of his herd were attacked in the same manner, and all acted as though their lungs were badly affected. It is feared that the desease is pleuro pheumonia.

Personal.-The friends of "Father Ziegler" of Bennett Switch, Indiana, recently met, to the number of about a hundred to celebrate his 70th birthday. The meeting was quite a surprise to the old gentleman. The friends had spread a feast, and that with some speeches ena-bled the party to spend a pleasant time.

The funeral of J. P. Cromleigh, whose body was brought in from Colorado, took place at Duncannon on Sunday last. The large circle of friends and the delegation of Masons that were present at the funeral, bore testimony as to his popularity among those who knew him. Mr. C. though a young man, took part in the late war, being a bugler in a cavalry regiment.

While his parents were in the upper part of the house they heard the lad's groans, and upon hastening to his assist ance found him dead. The jury rendered a verdict of "Cause unknown, but supposed to have been heart disease."

A Meteor. - Joseph Hughes and Jacobs, Sr., of this place, last Wednesday evening saw a large meteor in a northeasterly direction. It was so brilliant that it cast a shadow where objects stood. Mr. Hughes says that to his eyes it appeared to be about as large as a man's head. To the eyes of Mr. Jacobs it seemed to be as large as a large sky rocket. It broke into pieces and was extinguished seemingly when over or above the west end of Moyer's ridge. They heard no noise when the flery object fell to pieces. It was between 9 and 10 o'clock in the evening when they saw it. The same manifestation was seen by people in Lewistown, Mifflin county, on the same evening about the same hour. The Lewistown people alleged that when the meteor exploded all the surrounding country was lit up, and there was a sound like the hiss of a rocket.-Miglintown Sentinel.

Juniata County .- We copy the fo llow ing from the Juniata county papers of last week :

Samuel Gabler, of Roxbury, whilst visiting the Grangers' pic-nic felt that his pocket-book was moving out of its place, and torning around quickly selzed a pick-pocket. He was banded over to an officer, and at least one of the light-fingered gentry was brought to grief. But as far as heard from the pick-pockets are ahead.

On Monday last as Alf. Goodheart and Joe Madison, a colored man, were engaged in digging a cistern, on Goodheart's tract at Quarry Hill, and when down about eleven feet they struck a fine stream of water. This is rather singular as the farm is considerably elevated and striking water was the last thing they thought of.

A cow belonging to Mr. W. Vanasdlen, while crossing the Big Spring, became swamped in the mud, and in getting out, broke her right hind leg.—
Mr. Vanasdlen wanted the cow killed, but Mr Frank Hackett said he would cow is now able to stand.

[ From The Valley Sentinel.]

(From The Valley Sentinel.)

During the continuance of a festival at Fairview, under the auspices of the string band, quite a disgraceful scene took place between two women, who had somehow obtained admission. One of them threw the other down and choked her, while the other pulled her hair in return. They were both arrested and gave bail for hearing.

Jno. Mentzer, of near Plainfield, lost a valuable cow a short time ago, which he had insured in the Live Stock Pro-tective association. Mr. Mentzer will receive the amount of insurance next week. Our young friend, Raymond Shearer is the agent of the company, and is placing quite a number of risks.

Mr. Editor:—We have mail three times a week.

Our corn crop is right good. Geo. McMullen says he will have as much as ever per acre. I think we have more corn than any other region in central Pennsylvania—cause, good farming, good rains, and good land. Our potato crop is an sverage one, which is rather below what is produced in other places. We always neglected to farm the root for market and only try to raise a sufficient quantity for home use. We are almost exclusively an agriculturing people, take some stock in "Life Insurance," but none in politics, for if one will be bold enough to enter the arena, he generally gets off with about two votes in convention. This is an old settlement. I came here thirty years ago, and found the remains of an old grist mill that had gone into decay from age. Some of our lands were abandoned along the mountain on account of sterilty more than sixty years ago, the Scotch-Irish farmed the hills and mountain sides then, their children improved the good lands afterward. The news and mountain sides then, their children im-proved the good lands afterwards. The news just reached us that the President is dead. We shed the tear of sympathy with our other fel-low citizens and mourners, and pray that the government may continue shedding its benign influence on all the people, believing that the wheels will roll on as heretofore, and that we are still safe as a great free people under God.

The magazine contains many other interesting articles from the #### Ballou's Magazine.

There is no doubt but that the October number of Ballon's Magazine will attract that careful attention which it deserves; for there is no publication in the country that merits such a generous patronage, owing to the freshness of its articles, the viger and value of its stories, the excellence of its poetry, or the beauty of its illustrations. We know of no magazine that can equal it for variety, and a perusal of one number will satisfy any one that it is worth more as a family visitor than any of the high-priced serials.

Now is the time to subscribe for this popular and cheap magazine. Published by Thomas & Talbor, 23 Hawley Street, Boston, Mass., at only $1.50 per year, post-paid.
