

The Bloomfield Times. HOUSE, FARM AND GARDEN. Facts About Horses.

An "Equestrian Manager" in England gives the following interesting facts about horses:

It scarcely needs stating that a good memory is indispensable in learning anything. And if a horse has to learn a trick or routine performance, he can only do so by remembering it from time to time of going through it.

I was once driving to Long Milford in Suffolk at a spot where there was a bridge leading over a river. As we approached the bridge, the horse pulled up, and would not move without whipping.

Unless there is a reason to the contrary, we always prefer occupying the same field each time we visit a town. Sometimes it happens that the stud groom, who is generally with the first wagon, forgets which field it is.

When in Southampton some years since, I had to pass up High Street daily and had a different horse almost every day. Whichever horse I had he would slacken speed at the Star Hotel.

I have my opinion, founded upon close and varied observation, that horses can and do convey to each other very exact intelligence by the sounds they produce.

Another example of a different kind. It often happened that I was away from the company for weeks and months at a stretch, and on some of these occasions I had returned along the same road by which the circus was crossing.

It often happened that I was away from the company for weeks and months at a stretch, and on some of these occasions I had returned along the same road by which the circus was crossing.

Mr. John B. Moore finds the early Vermont more productive than the early rose. The mammoth pearl is preferable as a late-keeping sort.

I purchased five bottles of your Hop Bitters of Bishop & Co., last fall, for my daughter, and am well pleased with the Bitters. They did her more good than all the medicine she has taken for six years.

The above is from a very reliable farmer, whose daughter was in poor health for seven or eight years, and could obtain no relief until she used Hop Bitters.
