KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE!
THE MOST SUCCESSFUL REMEDY EVER discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. Read Proof Below.

From Rev. N. P. Granger, Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District, St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1880.

DR. J. B. KENDALL & CO., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by Spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ring-bone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found.
Respectfully yours,
P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell!
Stoughton, Mass., March 16th, 1880.
B. J. Kendall & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed TWO BONE SPAVINS with Kendal-l's Spavin Cure, one very large one, don't know how long the Spavin had been there, I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off, and two months for the small one. I have used 12 bottles.
The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me its sale will be very great.
Respectfully yours,
CHAS. E. PARKER.

Is sure in effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, and yet is penetrating and powerful to reach any deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or any other enlargement, if used for several days, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects. It is used full strength with perfect safety at all seasons of the year.

Send address for Illustrated Circular, which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unequalled success, to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.
Price $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All Druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors.

FANCY Goods and Notions. Some new articles, Cheap. F. MORTIMER.

A young lady at a ball called her beau an Indian, because he was on her trail all the time.

"The better I know men the more I admire dogs," is the remark of a French cynic.

An old tin kettle may not point a moral, but we have known it to adorn a table.

"That man," said a servant of his master, "is so reserved that I would never know anything of his private af-airs if I did not open his letters."

"You are found of money for itself!"
"Oh! no," said Johnsonburg, "I am fond of it for myself."

"Patrick," said the priest, "how much hay did you steal?"
"Well, I may as well confess to your Riverence for the whole stack, for I'm going after the balance to-night."

Ice is very difficult stuff to handle.
It takes an ice-man sometimes half an hour to get a ten-pound chunk into the refrigerator at he house where there is a good-looking cook.

An auctioneer, by birth a native of the Green Isle of course, caused to be printed on his handbills at a recent sale:
"Every article sold goes to the highest bidder unless some gentleman bids more."

In the ladies' cabins on the Hoboken ferry-boats the following notice has recently been posted:
"The seats in this cabin are for ladies.
Gentlemen will please not occupy them until the ladies are seated."

A Southern clergyman says he would prefer to trundle a wheelbarrow at fifty cents a day than be William H.
Vanderbilt, rolling on wealth and idleness. That's very silly. Mr. Vanderbilt can also trundle a barrow if he wants to.

Sweet simplicity sometimes contains the sharpest sarcasm. A lawyer said to his client an honest farmer, "Did you go to your opponent and try to settle with him?" "I did, your honor," was the reply. "And what did he say?"
"Why, sir, he told me to go to the devil."
"And what did you do then, sir?" "I came straight to you."

How The Dog Went Off
"You remember Jim Smith's dog don't you Mr. Editor," said the old man as he came in softly.

Well at the shooting match the other day he got at the box where the fellows kept their greased cartridges, and he eat twenty of them. He did for sartin."

"Did it kill him?" asked the Editor with some interest.

"No he seemed to feel better for it, but about 10 o'clock that night he went off."

"No!" exclaimed the editor, with more interest than he had yet displayed.

"By George! Did he make a big noise?
Did he though? Hurt anybody?"

"No," the old man said, "rising to go, "reckon not; he just went off with Bill Hockenbury, that comes to see Roger's big red-haired girl." He came back next mornin'."

Didn't Give the Boy a Chance.
It was Sunday evening. Angelica had invited her "best young man" to the evening meal. Everything had passed off harmoniously until Angelica's seven-year old brother broke the blissful silence by exclaiming, "Oh, ma! yer oughter seen Mr. Lighted the other night, when he called to take Angle to the drill; he looked so nice sittin' 'long side of her with his arm—"

"Fred!" screamed the maiden, whose face began to assume the color of a well-done crab—quickly placing her hand over the boy's mouth. "Yer oughter seen him," continued the persistent informant, after gaining his breath, and the embarrassed girl's hand was removed; "he had his arm—" "Freddie," shouted the mother, as in her frantic attempts to reach the boy's articular ap-pendage she upset the contents of the teapot in Mr. Lighted's lap, making numerous Russian war maps over his new lavender pantaloon. "I was just going to say," the half-frightened boy pleaded, between a cry and an injured whine, "he had his arm—" "You!" boy! thundered the father, "away to the wood-shed." And the boy made for the nearest exit, exclaiming as he waltzed, "I was only going to say Mr. Lighted had his army clothes on, and I leave it to him if he didn't." And the boy was permitted to return, and the remainder of the meal was spent in explanations from the family in regard to the number of times Freddie had to be "talked to" for using his fingers for a ladle.
