Good Offers.

On the 1st of January we intend to enlarge THE TIMES, by the addition of another column to each page and to further improve it by a new dress.

Every new subscriber for the year 1882 can have

THE TIMES FOR NOTHING, from now, till the 1st of January. By subscribing at once, the paper will be sent till January 1883 for the price of one year's subscription.

Each old subscriber who will pay a year in advance previous to Dec. 15th, will receive a copy of

KENDALL'S HORSE BOOK FREE.

We make these offers in order to lessen the number of changes that usually crowd into the month of January, and as we have to reset our mailing list it is desired to have as many as possible of these changes made before that is done.

This enlargement will cost us considerable cash and labor, but the generous support we have received warrants us in making this improvement without any increase in the subscription price.

THE President has appointed Thursday, November 24th, as a National day of Thanksgiving.

NEARLY half of the horses in and around New York are suffering from the disease called "Pink eye."

ONE of the train robbers, recently sentenced to seventy years imprisonment, has already died of home sickness.

THE Independent vote seemed to be out and pretty lively in all parts of the State. It is seldom so much scratching is done as was done on Tuesday.

THREE girls, the oldest only fifteen years of age, were found drunk on the street in Philadelphia, a few days since. The saloon keepers who sold them the liquor were arrested.

THE prisoners in the Camden, N. J., jail made an attempt to escape on Monday last, by assaulting the warden and then trying to push through the gate as he went out. By free use of his black jack and pistol, the attempt was frustrated.

ON Monday last the manager of the Philadelphia Press received information that the compositors of that office intended to strike on election night, unless promised certain things. The editor forestalled the matter by putting on an entire new force and discharging all the old hands.

The Star Route Frauds.

WASHINGTON, November 10.—In the criminal court this morning Judge Cox rendered a decision in the Star Route cases, discussing principally the question as to the infamy of the crime charged.—The conclusion arrived at was that the crime was infamous, and that the accused should have been proceeded against by indictment. He therefore, sustained the motion expelling the information from the files of the court, and ordered the discharge of the defendants. The case will now be brought before the grand jury.

THE ELECTIONS.

The result of the elections in the various States on Tuesday last is, as near as can be told without the official returns, about as follows:

PENNSYLVANIA.

Bally, the Republican candidate for State Treasurer is elected by about 6500 majority. The Wolfe vote in the State was about 49,000.

NEW YORK

Shows pretty nearly a drawn battle.—Each party elects a portion of the State State ticket, while the Democrats probably have the majority in the legislature. The Republicans also lose one member of Congress.

MASSACHUSETTS

Elects the whole Republican ticket with an increased majority.

VIRGINIA.

Indications in Virginia are that the Mahone party have elected their candidate for Governor, and have also carried the legislature by a good working majority.

WISCONSIN

Is so close that both parties claim the election, but the probabilities are that the Republicans have carried the State by a small majority.

MISSISSIPPI

Has elected a legislature that is three-fourths democratic and the entire democratic State ticket by probably 30,000 majority.

NEBRASKA

Is Republican by a majority of nearly 20,000.

CONNECTICUT

Elects a legislature that will stand, Senate, Dem. 9, Rep. 17; House, 149 Rep., 98 Dem., 1 Greenbacker.

NEW JERSEY.

Elects a legislature that is Republican, but by a reduced majority.

MARYLAND

Shows some Republican gains. The next legislature will be, Senate, 16 democrats, and 10 republicans; a gain of five Senators for the Republicans; House, 59 Dem., 32 Rep.

OFFICIAL VOTE OF PERRY COUNTY.

The result of the election is a surprise to both parties. No election ever was held in this county at which so much scratching and trading was done, as will be seen in the tables below.

The Democrats elect the President Judge, the Register, two Commissioners, Director of the Poor and one Auditor.

The Republicans elect the County Treasurer, District Attorney, one Commissioner and two Auditors.

The vote on State ticket, as compared with vote of 1880, shows a falling off of nearly a thousand votes. The Republicans having a decrease of 613, and the Democrats a decrease of 458, while the amount to be added for the Wolfe vote is only 107.

VOTE OF PRESIDENT IN 1880 AND STATE TREASURER, 1881.

Table with columns: President, State Treas., and various districts (Blain, Bloomfield, Buffalo, etc.) with corresponding vote counts.

PRESIDENT JUDGE, REGISTER AND RECORDER, TREASURER.

Table with columns: Pres. Judge, Register and Rec., Treasurer, and various districts with corresponding vote counts.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY AND COMMISSIONERS.

Table with columns: Dis. At.orney, Commissioners, and various districts with corresponding vote counts.

DIRECTOR OF THE POOR AND AUDITORS.

Table with columns: D's of the Poor, County Auditors, and various districts with corresponding vote counts.

James M. Wilson, Prohibitory Candidate for State Treasurer, had 4 votes in Bloomfield, 2 in Carroll, 2 in Centre, 7 in Greenwood, 3 in Landsburg, 1 in Liverpool B., 9 in Newport, 4 in Oliver, 7 in Saville, and 1 in Watts—total 40 votes.

R. W. Jackson, Greenback candidate, had no vote in the county.

MAJORITIES—Noble's (D) majority 15; Barnett D., 859; Weise, R., 12; Shall, R., 245; Sheaffer, R. 50; Barner D. 17; Black, D., 23; Bletstine, D. 84; Sheibley, D., Cree, R., and Fleckinger, R., Auditors elected.

Life in New York.

Three small children were huddled together last night on some bedding, which, with other household goods, was strewn upon the sidewalk in front of 281 Mulberry street. They were children of Mrs. Reilly, whose husband Patrick went away a month ago and has not returned.

Changed his Mind.

A man had a curious race for life near Meriden, Conn. He swallowed a large dose of morphine, intending suicide, but quickly changed his mind, and started for the nearest physician, who was two miles away. He felt the dangerous drowsiness stealing over him, and ran with all his might. The exercise kept him awake, but his mouth became parched, his eyes filmy, and his strength less.

A Very Mean Girl.

Ella Weather cared nothing for any of the young men of Lawrenceville, Ill., but for devilry made several believe she was in love with them. One of her latest tricks was to invite Albert Micholis and John Tenehan to call on the same evening, telling each that the other was particularly odious to her, and amusing herself with the quarrel which she felt sure would arise. The result was more serious than words. The rivals had a fierce encounter, and Tenehan was killed.

New York Death Traps.

Two tenement houses in New York, city fell at an early hour on Wednesday morning last, burying the occupants in the ruins. The fire alarm was sounded which brought firemen to the rescue, and they succeeded in digging out quite a number, some unhurt and others badly injured. Nine dead bodies have already been found. The cause of the disaster was a weak foundation.

Singular Accident.

On Sunday week a young daughter of Capt H. Chapman, Cape Cod, Mass., in endeavoring to pull out a bureau drawer, shook it so hard as to cause the mirror, which was on the top of the bureau, to fall, striking her in such a way as to almost sever the nose from her face.

NEW YORK, November 10.—The elevator in the Belvidere hotel fell this afternoon from the fifth story to the basement, the hoisting rope having given way. Six persons who were in the car, were all more or less injured. John Mercer, a porter, will probably die.

Escape of a Murderer.

LITTLE ROCK, November 7.—Martin Goldworthy, in jail at Paris, Logan county, for murder, escaped yesterday, by leaving his mother in his cell and wearing a portion of her clothing to disguise him as he passed out.

Miscellaneous News Items.

The stock-yards hotel at Indianapolis having raised the price of board, the stock-yard men have struck, and declined to patronize the hotel bar, which was the only money-making part of the institution.

A Towanda, Ill., farmer paid a Bloomington teamster $6 for the return of a lost package of $2,000 in currency. He said, however, he would have paid $100 reward, but the $2,000 returned was the exact amount required to lift the debt off his farm.

The other day a drover was shot near Shawangunk, N. Y., by some unknown person, who was doubtless after $1,450 which the drover had. The assailant fled because of fright without obtaining anything. The drover was found insensible. He is unknown, and it is thought will die.

The military commission from Mass. to inquire into the alleged misconduct of the Ninth Mass. Regiment, on the Yorktown Centennial trip began its investigation at Richmond, Va., last week and examined a number of witnesses. The evidence will not be made public until the report of the commission is made. The depositions were made under oath, and some of them are exceedingly damaging to the good name of the regiment.

A singular discovery was made in St. Louis a few days ago. A gang of men engaged in digging the foundation for a new refinery uncovered the mouth of a well fifty feet deep drilled through the solid rock. It was filled with clay, but when cleaned out, rapidly filled with pure water. No one appears to have known of its existence.

A lynching party met at Socorro, New Mexico a few days ago to hang a robber. After the business had been completed, and before the meeting adjourned, it was discovered that two of their number were mounted on stolen horses. They were arrested and brought before an improvised court, and in a few minutes were suspended alongside of the first victim.

A peculiar charge was made against two prisoners at the Central Criminal Court in London the other day. Some time ago one had been sentenced to two months' imprisonment, and the other to one. But at the prison they exchanged names, the consequence being that the one that had really the longest sentence was released first. The other excused himself by saying he was hard up at the time, and was willing to serve a second month for a consideration. The two were found guilty of conspiracy, and sentenced—one to six months at hard labor, the other to three months.

PARIS, Nov. 9.—The superior of the "Missions Etrangeres" in this city has received a dispatch from Hong Kong to-day announcing that a terribly disastrous typhoon has ravaged western Tonquin. Two hundred churches, thirty-four presbyteries and colleges and two thousand houses have been reduced to ruins. Sixty thousand Christians have lost all their possessions. The suffering is frightful.

A culprit was recently tried in a German court of justice for a murder and robbery. The Judge, before summing up the evidence for the jury's consideration, asked the prisoner whether he had anything to say for himself. "Only this, your Honor," replied the latter; "it was not a murder, but a suicide." Judge—"How do you make that out?" Prisoner—"In this way your Honor. The deceased, for years before his death, went about everywhere saying that he was determined to put an end to himself; but he never had the courage to do so. At last his irresolution moved me to pity; so to save him from disappointment, and, more especially, from being worse than his word, I suicided him." Judge—"That is all very well; but what made you take his watch?" Prisoner—"When he was dead he did not require a watch. I did, and so I very naturally put it in my pocket. Besides, he was an old friend of mine, and I wasted something to remember him by."

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11, 1881. Within a few days the preliminary skirmishes will begin. A week hence Members will begin to arrive to settle themselves for the winter, and the candidates will have their headquarters open for business. There is scarcely a doubt that the Republicans will control the organization. They have a majority of one over all, according to the latest figures, counting the vacancies filled by the election just held. Yet there are contingencies which may render the situation doubtful enough to be interesting. If the Greenback Members find that by shrewd management they can control the balance of power, it is not improbable that they will act unaided; though four of the nine have pretty strong Republican antecedents.

Judge Kelley, of Pennsylvania, was elected as a straight Republican; but he is a thorough Greenbacker, and it has been suggested that if he were nominated by that party for Speaker he would withhold his vote, as did Judge Davis in the Senate, and thus deprive the Republicans of their majority. Of course this could not help the Democrats, and it would accomplish nothing beyond the opening the way to a possible combination against the Republicans. But the chances are ten to one that the latter will come out ahead against all contingencies.

It is expected here that the appointment of a New Yorker as Secretary of the Treasury will have considerable influence upon the Speakership contest. Mr. Hancock, of New York, has been regarded as having the inside track, but now it is thought the West will come to the front, with a positive demand that New York shall not have all the big things, and it will do no good to recall Ohio. They say, by the way, that all office seekers who come here now register from New York just as they quite recently all came from Ohio. This may do for a joke, but New York, in spite of her size and importance, is not likely to carry off as much as Ohio did when she had the swing. Mr. Hancock has been here working up his canvass, catching such Members as have straggled in. Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, is also here, hard at work. Not many Members have been here yet, but the candidates are carrying on a lively correspondence. Mr. Kiefer, of Ohio, has been here and will soon return again. He still has faith in Ohio's star, and hopes to capture the prize. Mr. Kasson, of Iowa, has not yet put in appearance. His chances and qualifications are equal to any candidate mentioned, but there are some objections to his pronounced tariff views. Mr. Davis, of Illinois, second Chicago district, is also mentioned for the position, though he is not seeking it. This latter fact is a strong recommendation, and the selection would be a thoroughly good one. The friends of Mr. Randall are anxious that he should receive the compliment of the Democratic caucus nomination, and it may be that he will get it. But there are many of the Democratic Members, particularly from the South, who are determined that Mr. Randall shall receive no more honor at the hands of the Democratic party of the House, either of a substantial or of a complimentary character.

The new Secretary of the Treasury has taken rooms at the Arlington, where he will reside this winter. He has assumed charge of his office and is credited with a purpose to stir things up considerably in that Department. Besides calling a halt in the present rapid paying off of the National debt—the idea being that this generation is bearing too much of the burden and that internal revenue taxes may be reduced—it is said we are to have a number of important changes in the personnel of the Department. Assistant Secretaries Upton and French and all the old ring will, if the reports are correct, be called upon to make room for new men. There are changes in the atmosphere all around, and we shall hear of them when Congress meets. The contrast between the action of Attorney General MacVeagh, who is determined to get out of the Cabinet, and Secretary of the Navy Hunt, who seems equally determined to stay in, excites much comment here. The President is more anxious to get rid of Hunt than of any other member of the old Cabinet, but the latter sticks to him like a leech and follows him wherever he goes; in fact does everything but get down on his knees and beg to be retained.

Music Hath Charms, ect.

One of the great manufacturing interests of Boston, is the Emerson Piano Company, whose pianos are used with high appreciation and satisfaction throughout the world. In a recent conversation with Mr. Joseph Gramer, one of the proprietors, that gentleman remarked: I have used that splendid remedy, St. Jacobs Oil, in my family, and found it so very beneficial that I will never be without it. It has cured me of a severe case of rheumatism, after other remedies had failed.—St. Louis Western Watchman.
