Days Of Our Lives

Justin started to feel dizzy and passed out on the floor. Victor was worried that it might be because of the phony medicine. Victor consulted his shady doctor and the doctor reassured him it was a common side effect and that it wouldn't produce any permanent damage. Victor's doctor told Justin he shouldn't have any problem with his sex life and that if he really wanted to make love to his wife he could.

At the hospital, Caroline thanked Steve for taking care of the fish market for Sean, but was interrupted when Jack walked in. Caroline was happy to see Jack and thanked him for the flowers. Steve didn't believe his brother's sincerity but Jack said it was because Caroline had been so sweet to him when he was married to Kayla.

had another heart attack.

On the bridge, Reva boldly spoke to Solita in the hopes of triggering her memories of Sonny. Solita asked Reva to leave her alone so Reva started to leave the bridge. At that moment, Solita began to remember the incident of her father beating her and asked Reva to come back. As Reva was comforting her, Solita told her that Sonny slept with Will and her father had thought it was her that degraded the family so he beat her instead of Sonny.

Solita relived the horrible experience of her sister being beaten to death. Reva asked her to mentally open the closet door. Sonny told her that Solita had hung herself. Just then Will appeared on the bridge and caused Sonny to slip. John and Rusty appeared and helped Reva pull Sonny back onto the bridge.

Spring Comedy Series

SPC Presents David Naster

by Tamara Lee Alles
for the Collegian

'My name is Indigo Montoya, you killed my father, prepare to die.' With microphone stand in hand and a grimace on face, this line got David Naster one of the biggest laughs of Saturday night's performance. With drum solos and interplay with the audience, Naster took the crowded Wintergreen Cafe by storm, leaving the audience laughing.

Naster started the night off getting to know the audience, including Mike "Puke" Dortenzo and Eric "Gup" Gustafson. He then moved into his routine which was often interrupted by the enthusiastic crowd. Naster reacted to these disturbances with great ease, using quick comebacks and style to "one up" the audience every time.

At one point in the evening he invited John Bondanella onto the stage to try his hand at being a comedian. After John had completed tasks such as motorcycle riding and picking up "chicks", he was awarded the golden kazoo by Naster who dubbed him "comedian".

One of the more exciting parts of the evening was Naster's drum solo. Mr. Naster asked the audience for requests and received Neil Port's drum solo from YYZ. Naster proceeded to play the piece surprisingly well, considering his drum set- a stool.

Throughout the evening Naster delighted and entertained Behrend students with jokes, silliness, and sensitivity. He continued even to the end when his planned finish failed to come off. Amidst candles, popcorn, and punch Naster thanked the audience and SPC for bringing him to Behrend for a night of laughter and comedy.
