Lady spikers split final home tri-match in Erie Hall

Behrend tops Washington & Jefferson, loses to Mercyhurst

The Behrend women's volleyball team played their last home tri-match of the year this past Thursday. They ended up splitting the matches, beating Washington & Jefferson (15-5, 11-15, 15-10) before losing to the Lakers of Mercyhurst (16-14, 6-15, 7-15).

The lady spikers played very well against Washington & Jefferson, as most of the team saw action during the win. Behrend ended the match with a team total of eleven serving aces, thirty-two saves, thirty-four kills and seven blocks.

Behrend continued their excellent play into the first game against Mercyhurst, winning it 16-14. Things took a turn for the worse as Behrend's setter, Sue Nichols, suffered a sprained ankle. The Behrend girls had trouble adjusting to a new offense, losing the final two games.

Kelly Kingston had an outstanding evening, smashing sixteen kill spikes while adding two blocking assists and two blocks to her effort. Erica Scribner also played very well, contributing five solo blocks, thirteen saves, and fourteen kills. Pam Allshouse and Kellie Jordan had six serving aces each.

Behrend's coach, Janet Wilson, stated that she was happy with how the girls had played. She also mentioned that injuries hurt the team in the match, just as they have plagued the team all year.

...injuries hurt the team in the match, just as they have plagued the team all year.

The Lady Lion's volleyball team closes their season this Tuesday, travelling to Ohio to take on Wooster and Defiance Colleges in their final tri-match of the year.

University of Arizona woman wins battle to join rugby team

(CPS)- A University of Arizona woman has won her fight for a chance to play on the school's rugby team.

A campus discipline committee ordered the team to give student Jodi Orliss a chance to try out for the team Oct. 12, threatening to deny the team student fees and the use of UA facilities if it refused.

Denying Orlliss the chance to try out violated UA's "non-discrimination" policies, said Ann Parker, student activities program coordinator.

Orlliss filed an official complaint against the rugby club Sept. 20, charging the club refused to let her play on the team because she is female. "It's a contact sport, and that's what I wanted to play," Orlliss said.

Orlliss, a power lifter who competes for the American Drug Free Powerlifting Association, has bench pressed 175 pounds and dead lifted 355 pounds.

But rugby is completely new to her. "I've never played it in my life," Orlliss said. "But it doesn't seem that bad. I'm sure I'm going to play on the beginning team."

"It's really become an issue when it didn't have to be," claimed club President Larry Carnicelli. "There are guys on our team, myself included, who were taught that you don't hit a girl," he said. "Rugby's a very physical sport."
