

Commuter Council's 24-hour dance marathon raised over a thousand dollars for the United Way

by John Sweet
Collegian Staff Writer

The Winter Garden became the stomping grounds of seven individuals during the Commuter Council's 24-hour Dance Marathon which took place last weekend.

Contestants included two couples and three individuals. Among them were the winning team of Jen Tomasino and Jason Ardrey who danced for the entire 24 hours. Their efforts helped raise $379.20 for the United Way.

David Angiolieri was the only other contestant to go the distance, raising $296.10 The other dancers included Too Rearick and Karlene William, Debra J. Blose and William Cho.

Maurica George of WPSE provided most of the jockeying that helped keep the dancers in step.

"I'd like to thank the radio club, especially Ricky George and the fraternities that helped. They were a big support," said Jen Warren, the Commuter Council member who organized the event.

A total of $1,010.70 was raised for the United Way.
