Fiesta on cultures takes place tonight

by Julie Tibolla
Collegian Staff Writer

A celebration of cultures will take place tonight in the Reed Winter Garden between 6 and 9 pm.

Africa, Asia, Egypt, Germany, India, Ireland, Israel, Korea, and Jamaica are just some of the countries being represented.

The art, food, customs, history, dance, and literature of each country will be displayed, all through the students' own initiatives.

"Why shouldn't anyone go? People should take pride in their cultural heritage. If you don't go, you're limiting yourself," responded Student Services Assistant Elvage Murphy.

"In order to be a success in life, you have to learn how to

Behrend master plan revealed

by Lea Gotch
Collegian Staff Writer

Behrend College will be going through a transformation over the next 10 to 15 years. A Master Plan for change has been devised that includes future buildings and facilities, parking, roads, walkways, and campus aesthetics.

In the immediate future, changes include the Erie Hall renovations, added parking, a new library, and three new residence halls.

Also in the plan are an athletic complex, new athletic fields, new academic and research buildings, more residence halls, a performing arts center, and additions to the student union and dining hall.

Erie Hall

The Erie Hall renovations which began April 2 will be finished before classes begin in August according to Provost and Dean John M. Lilley.

Changes involve extending the gym area and completely renovating the lower level interior including the locker rooms, weight room, and offices.

As the result of a study done by national experts, a new plan for parking was recently completed.

Three new lots will be built this summer. A 220 car capacity lot will be located behind the maintenance building, one behind Hammermill and Nick, and one on the other side of Jordan Road near Station Road.

A new parking fee will also be in effect beginning fall semester 1990. Faculty, staff, and students will be required to pay $8.00 per month for parking.

"That income will add 450 parking spaces," said Lilley.

New residence halls

Three new residence halls will be ready for occupancy fall semester 1991. They will provide housing for 192 students.

One will be located immediately above Perry Hall. The other two will be behind this one forming a horseshoe that opens toward Jordan Road.

The parking lot below the apartments will be shortened to accommodate the buildings.

"These residence halls will be a style like nothing on campus and they will be very attractive,"

AIDS expert Keeling will speak at Behrend to highlight Wellness Week

An emphasis on prevention is the thrust of Wellness Awareness week April 16 through 20, culminating with AIDS expert Dr. Richard Keeling's speech.

Keeling will speak on Tuesday April 17 in the Reed Lecture Hall.

His speech is the last of Behrend's speaker series.

In keeping with the series' theme of issues for the 1990s, Keeling will be addressing "AIDS in the 1990s: New Challenges and New Hopes."

According to a survey with which Keeling is closely associated, roughly three out of every thousand university graduates test positive for the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) that precedes the AIDS disease. This number is increasingly the result of heterosexual contact.

In addition to Keeling's lecture, Behrend has planned a variety of Wellness Awareness events.

Programs range from how to avoid sexual assault to cholesterol and diabetes screening.

Alpha Phi Omega and Students Against Drink Trivia will be sponsoring a "Car Bash," letting students take out their Twenty five community health organizations will be in the Wintergreen Atrium on Monday from 10 am to 4 pm.

Erie Rape Crisis staff members will discuss ways of avoiding sexual assault in Lawrence Lobby Monday night at 7 pm.

Guitarist Marty O'Connor will be the final event scheduled for the week.
