"It was a good opening for the team," explained Head Coach Fred Paulsen on Behrend's 72-49 exhibition win over Ryerson Polytech.

The Lions played a very strong game defensively in which the Rams shot only 38 percent from the floor. Behrend also out rebounded the Rams by a margin of 33-31.

"We went into the game unprepared offensively," said Paulsen who's team shot 44 percent from the floor in the game. In the first half, the Lions shot 52 percent, but in the second half only shot 37 percent. Paulsen expects good shots to be taken and made.

Senior Rick Demski was the scoring leader scoring with 18 points. Guards Randy Baughman and Chris Viscuso each added 14 points to the Lion total. Baughman also led the team in assists with seven dishes.

"The guys still have their habits from last year, and my job will be breaking those habits. They are still learning a new system and style."

On the defensive end, Sophomore Rich Buzalka and Baughman each had seven rebounds. Demski added six boards for the Lions.

Freshman Don Plyler did a fine job running the show when Baughman needed a rest. This will be very important during the long season. He had an assist and didn't commit any turnovers. Freshman Byron Thorne also did well coming off the bench. The forward had four points and also had four boards. Thorne could possibly be the sixth man for the Lion's team.

"The guys still have their habits from last year, and my job will be breaking those habits. They are still learning a new system and style," commented Paulsen about the team's play last Sunday.

Paulsen treated the exhibition game with the Rams as an actual game, so not everyone saw time during the match. Coach Paulsen went with a nine player rotation. Therefore, six players didn't play
