The different types of surveys determine whether the Office of Economic Development at Behrend can approve a survey or whether it must be sent to University Park.

Administrative and exempt studies are taken unanimously and cause no harm to the study subjects, according to Light. Expedited surveys are not unanimous, however, and can consist of elements of physical testing as well as true animal research.

Studies such as animal research and other surveys involving human participation which may involve violations of humane laws must be approved through University Park.

"Most surveys are approved right here at Behrend on the same day they're submitted," said Light. "The survey restrictions are really there to protect the people who take part in them and helps avoid legal suits."

ODK fundraiser to benefit Emerson Elementary

Elementary School and help sponsor the construction of a playground for the students," said Todd Huth, ODK president.

Last year ODK raised almost $350, which went to the Second Harvest Food Bank.

Donation cans will be placed at various locations on campus, including the Rub Desk and Bruno's. Committee Chairman Marty Jackson said charts will be posted around campus to keep students informed on the campaign's progress.

ODK is a national junior/senior honors society that promotes scholarship and leadership.

BEIRUT, LEBANON -- Israeli artillery and aircraft blasted Arab guerrilla targets in southern Lebanon on Tuesday, and Shiite Muslim militia unleashed barrages of rockets on Israel in a second day of escalating violence. A teenager was killed and 11 people were wounded by the Israeli attacks, officials said. No casualties were reported in Israel.

Nation

MANCHESTER, NEW HAMPSHIRE -- President Bush was victorious Tuesday night in the New Hampshire presidential primary, but not by a wide margin. 57 percent voted for President Bush, while challenger Patrick J. Buchanan won more than 40 percent of the vote. Former Sen. Paul E. Tsongas of Massachusetts won the five-way Democratic race, gaining 33 percent in partial returns and ratifying his front-runner status. Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton came in second. Sen. Bob Kerry had a narrow lead over Tom Harkin of Iowa in the race for third, while California Gov. Jerry Brown was running fifth.

WASHINGTON -- The Federal Reserve Board, in a new bid to stimulate a sluggish economy, announced Tuesday it was reducing the amount of money banks must hold in reserve. The action could make more than $8 billion available for new loans. The Fed said it was cutting the required reserves from 12 percent to 10 percent on April 2.

PITTSBURGH -- California University of Pennsylvania administrators are investigating student complaints about a class with an unusually high failure rate: 33 of 37 students received poor or failing grades. Professor Edward Brown handed 22 F's, 11 D's and four C's to students in his Minority Group Relations class and refuses to explain why those grades were given. Students are able to take the course over again this semester -- with another professor teaching.

Local

ERIE -- Police are trying to piece together events that led to two suspected arson fires and the shooting death of a Lake City man. Larry Morgan, 47, was found in The Paradise Health Club, 1006 East Lake Road, with a gunshot wound to the head. Police said Morgan was the manager of the Paradise Health Club, Inc., one of two buildings that burned early Tuesday morning. Morgan was a partner of George Askins, who owns Partners Tavern, 4712 East Lake Road, the second building that burned almost simultaneously with the health club building. The tavern has long been associated with topless and exotic dancing. So far, investigators are treating Morgan's death as a homicide until further investigation reveals otherwise.
