

Lauffer Sets ECAC Goal

by Hal Coffey
The Collegian

Even without large crowds or big name players, the Penn-State Behrend golf team is a group of young men, as freshman Jamie Baker puts it, "having a great time playing a sport we all enjoy."

That may be enough if it wasn't for the coach/athletic director, Herb Lauffer's goals of "solving the enigma" of a team score of 335 and having a member of the squad have a round under 80 strokes. After last year's "roller coaster" season, Coach Lauffer would like the team to be "better focused and consistent."

It seems that Lauffer's twenty-four years as a coach at Behrend are paying off for the team. So far this year, Behrend golf has competed in two tournaments, the Gannon and Edinboro Invationals. At Gannon, freshman Kevin Orlosky, shot an impressive score of 81 in his first collegiate match. Freshmen Jake Nasits and Jamie Baker, also performed well, as the team finished 14th of nineteen teams, with a score of 339. Next at Edinboro, Nasits became a medalist with a score of 82. Behind sophomores Del Profit and Matt Lambo plus Baker's 85, the team finished 7th of ten teams shooting a 337.

With three of the five starters being freshman, Lauffer believes that the team may be inexperienced but, "better than the previous year's group at this point in the season."

With room for improvement, this team can only get better. Lauffer would love to see the squad qualify for the ECAC Championships in mid-October

"There they go again ... what is it with these morons? No matter who's at bat, no matter what happens on the field, all they do is 'boo' ..."
