

Sports Bits

By Matt Cissne
The Collegian

HERE AT HOME: Senior Soccer players Rick Nese and Shon Fleming were named to the Intercollegiate Soccer Conference All-Star team for the second season in a row. They play in the all-star game next Wednesday at St. Vincent College in Latrobe, PA. Good luck guys and make Behrend proud.

LOST OUT: Once again, St. Petersburg has been rejected. For the seventh time, the city of St. Petersburg, Florida was denied a major league baseball team. In a 9-4 vote by National League owners, the Giants were forced to stay in San Francisco. This vote was representative of the unwillingness of owners to let teams move. The last team to relocate was the Washington Senators who moved to Arlington, Texas and became the Texas Rangers.

BIG BOUT: Heavy-weight boxing champion Evander Holyfield, takes on challenger Riddock Bowe in a 12 round match at the Mirage in Las Vegas, Nevada. Holyfield is 28-0 and Bowe is 31-0. Watch for Holyfield to win a decision and put a blemish on Bowe's perfect record.

EARLY BIRD: I know it is really early, but as of Monday the leading scorer and rebounder in the NBA is Phoenix's Charles Barkley. Go Chuck!

BEST BET: Last week I did not do that well with my picks, but I feel very confident of this one. Miami will beat Buffalo on Monday night. It will not be a blowout like the game earlier this season in Buffalo, but mark my words: Miami will win!

BAD DAY: New York Giants linebacker, Lawrence Taylor ruptured his right achilles tendon Sunday in the Giant's victory over the Green Bay Packers. Taylor, a 12 year veteran, is the NFL's career sack leader and has been in 10 straight pro bowls. He had wanted to retire after this season, but this injury will take five months to rehabilitate. After years of rooting against the Giants, I am sorry to see such a great career end this way.

Happy Birthday-D!

Hall inducts new members

Nine athletes honored

by Matt Cissne
The Collegian

There were trees in Erie Hall! No, the roof did not cave in. The second annual Behrend College Hall of Fame induction ceremony was held last Saturday at Erie Hall.

The gym was transformed into an elaborate banquet hall with trees, a fountain and properly set tables.

This year's inductees were Richard J. Dill, Clarence Stoner, Mary E. Dolak, James J. Davis, David W. Grezelak, Michael Marsh, Roger D. Nolan and E. Joseph Williams.

Senior soccer player Rick Nese, an usher for the banquet, said, "it was very interesting to meet great athletes of the past and to hear of their experiences."

Dill was an honorary inductee for his service to Behrend athletics. He is a member of the Penn State-Behrend Council of Fellows and the Athletic Committee.

Dill graduated from University Park in 1959 after becoming an All-American in lacrosse and lettering in football two seasons. The Richard Dill Service Award,

Say cheese: Newly inducted members of the Athletic Hall of Fame smile for a photo after the ceremony held last week. Dan Jaecks/The Collegian presented annually to the person who has provided outstanding volunteer service to Penn State-Behrend athletics, is named in Dill's honor.

Stoner was inducted for his success as a baseball coach here at Behrend. His Behrend coaching record was an impressive 156-122 and he won the Coach of the Year for District 18 in 1979 and 1981.

He was drafted by the New York Yankees after his junior year of college and was drafted after his senior season, by the Oakland Athletics. He played two years in the minors for the A's before coming here to coach and teach physical education.

Dolak was a member of the volleyball, basketball and softball teams at Behrend. She was selected to the second team Keystone Conference softball team in the spring of 1979. Dolak also won both the Scholar/Athlete and Athlete of the Year awards in 1979.

(Continued on 11)

Striike: Dan Jaecks bowls a game in the intramural event held at Eastway.

Intramurals move on

by Hal Coffey
The Collegian

With the end of the fall semester only four weeks away, the intramural program has burst into high gear.

On Sunday, 130 bowlers participated at Eastway Lanes, in men's and women's singles, men's team, and coed divisions. Greg Berlin won the men's title with a 583 series. Mark MacPherson, 570, and Tom Lytle, 557, finished second and third respectively. Berlin had the high game with a 234.

The men's team division had a peculiar ending. It seems that a member of the unnamed team of Berlin, Lytle and Ray Huggins had the 2-3-5 pins left for his second shot in the tenth. He decided to just screw around and throw a heavy spin. He guttered the ball, and his team lost by one pin to the Gangsters of Love, Jeff Cowan, Scott DeFoggi, Chad Dworsky, and Jim Bowen, who averaged 158 per game.

The women's singles champ was Sue Mazur, with a 424 series. Second and third were Becky Durkin and Beth Demacio respectively. The high female game was by Lori Royer, a 202.

The coed division found the Von Cousin team of Bob DiDominico, Becky Durkin, and Trish Thibido winning with a total of 1665, 23 pins better than their nearest competitor.

Intramural tennis finally came to a conclusion in the men's singles and doubles categories.

In the "A" flight singles, Karl Van Tassel bested Mike Chichwak, 6-2, 6-1. "B" flight had Hal Kauffman cruising past Sean Tucker, 6-2, 6-1 also.

(Continued on 10)