

Behrend's Weekly Newspaper

The Collegian

Thursday, November 19, 1992

Vol. XLI

No. 10

Experience put to the test

Students temporarily run station

by Arnel Balcita
The Collegian

Since Sunday, November 15, students have taken charge of WPSE, Behrend's information radio station. Yet the tempo hasn't dragged.

Fred Anzivino, WPSE station manager, and his wife, Teri, an employee of Rocket 101FM, were involved in a two car collision. Anzivino's blue Honda

According to a hospital aide, Anzivino suffered a broken leg and ankle and sustained a rib injury. He went in for exploratory surgery Monday afternoon.

As of Wednesday afternoon Anzivino was listed in good condition according to St. Vincent personnel.

Anzivino's absence has brought some necessary changes at WPSE. The following four

"I went to see Fred at the hospital and he was telling jokes as usual."

--Steve Pellegrino
Student Station Manager

Civic was eastbound on Route 20, near Highmeyer Road in Harborcreek Township, when it went out of control on the icy road, crossed the center line, and collided with a car driven by Robert Wareham, of 2409 Woodlawn Avenue, Erie. State police at Lawrence Park said slippery road conditions contributed to the accident.

Teri Anzivino suffered a badly bruised leg and hip but was treated and released along with Denise Wareham, a passenger in the other vehicle.

people will assume Anzivino's responsibilities while he is gone: David Shields, Assistant Dean of Student Services, Gloria Mentch, WPSE Traffic Supervisor, Steve Pellegrino, and Valerie Engelleiter.

"Basically, Val and I will be running things and reporting to David Shields," said Pellegrino, Student Station Manager, "Gloria [Mentch] will be working full-time at the Station so that we don't skip a beat as far as advertising is concerned."

(continued on 2)

Sweet Daddy talks

by Andrew Festa
The Collegian

The Wintergreen Cafe was the setting Tuesday night for an open forum called Sweet Daddy's World in which people can speak their minds about given topics.

Sweet Daddy's World, hosted by the Association of Black Collegians' President, Jamele Adams, a fourth semester BDGEN major, heated up early on with Adams' encouragement.

The forum opened with a group of singers, members of ABC, singing "Real Love." Then, Charlena Scott, third semester Nursing, read Sojourner Truth's poem, "Ain't I woman." Finally, the panel was introduced.

The panel consisted of students Kei Fuller and Hassan

Davis, Assistant Professor of Psychology Michael Ichiyama, Professor of English and Womens Studies, Diana Hume George, and Trish Thibodo, Coordinator of Residence Life.

Adams asked the first question: "What do you feel are the big facets facing women today?"

"Exploitation of women by the media," said Davis. Ichiyama countered by commenting that "there's more male bashing...the man is portrayed as stupid or insensitive." Professor George added, "and as wanting only one thing...you know...the S word."

Adams asked for the definition of 'Feminism.'

Thibodo said, "a feminist is

(continued on 2)

Oops! - Around 3:00 p.m. yesterday, two female students were involved in a two-car collision at the entrance of Turnbull parking lot. One woman was taken to Saint Vincent's Health Center. She was treated and released.

Andrew Festa/The Collegian

Two Engineering Students Receive Scholarships

Gary Johnson
The Collegian

The Plastics Engineering Department has processed two of its students into national award winners.

Tonya Clayburn, a junior, and Greg Berckmiller, a senior, received scholarships and plaques resulting from the substantial achievements they have contributed to their field. They received these awards based on their academic work, community contribution, and overall academic standing.

Clayburn received $750 from the Society for the Advancement of Material and Process Engineering (SAMPE) on the basis of her scholarship, community commitments and professional involvement.

"I was very excited that all the work I had done finally paid off and was recognized," said Clayburn of her success.

"Having a winner from 91 applicants is quite an honor, as each is among the top in their field in the nation,"

- B.J Hunter, SAMPE International President

Applicants for this award must be nominated by a faculty member. Clayburn was nominated by Paul Koch, assistant Professor of Engineering. Chosen from a field of 91 applicants, she will receive a plaque from the northern Ohio chapter of SAMPE at a later date.

"Having a winner from 91 applicants is quite an honor, as each is among the top in their field in the nation," said B.J. Hunter, SAMPE International President.

Berckmiller received a $1500 award through the Plastics Institute of America, Inc.

The Plastics Institute of America, Inc., awards scholarships through the Plastics Pioneers Education Fund to cover tuition and other educational costs.

To receive this gift, a student must retain at least a 3.4 cumulative grade point average, be a U.S. citizen, have completed industrial internships and be involved in a Plastics Engineering Technology Degree Program.