Cocaine replacement?

condensed from BrainWork

Scientists at the National Institute for Drug Abuse (NIDA) report that they have created a substance that may lead the way to cocaine substitutes for addiction rehabilitation. The purpose of this research, according to Theresa Kopajtic, was to create substances similar to cocaine, called analogues, used to study cocaine effects on the brain. This new substance is similar to methadone, which is currently being used to replace heroin in drug addiction rehabilitation.

Only You Can Prevent Forest Fires.

IF YOU'RE INTO DOPE, YOU MIGHT AS WELL SMOKE THIS.

There's one sure way to see your future go up in smoke. Do drugs. Last year alone, America's businesses lost more than $60 billion to drugs. So this year, most of the Fortune 500 will be administering drug tests. If you fail the test, you're out of a job. The message is simple. Doing drugs could blow your whole education.

WE'RE PUTTING DRUGS OUT OF BUSINESS.

Somalia's desperate living conditions

Years of civil war have led to anarchy in Somalia, where living conditions are very grim:

Daily life in Somalia

- No food, except rations from relief agencies
- No safe water for drinking or bathing
- No functioning medical facilities
- No electricity, conventional telephone system or other utilities
- No banking system or standard exchange rates for currency
- Few markets and shops still exist; no regular business hours
- No safe transportation; air travel is limited to relief flights; almost all vehicles are robbed at gunpoint daily; no railroad, taxis or buses; a few ships sail between the Gulf states and Mogadishu, but they are unsafe
- Virtually no newspapers or broadcast media
