"The Free Lance," vice Mr. J. Warren Miller, '97, resigned.*

To the old students who have returned as usual to their various duties and accustomed places, the FREE LANCE gives greeting and wishes them a pleasant and a successful year. To all these students it appeals for renewed efforts for the best interests of the institution, especially of the members of the class which will soon leave its "footprints upon the sands" does it ask if there isn't some custom or precedent which it can establish or associate its name with, which will not only perpetuate the existence of those
