

THE FREE LANCE goes to press under a slightly different management, owing to the failure of C. T. Wade, an Associate Editor, to return to college; and the acceptance of a position in Pittsburg by C. E. Denney, the Business Manager. We are very sorry to lose these men; but trust that the new men appointed to fill the vacancies will do credit to themselves, to their class, and to THE LANCE. A financial statement will be published by the retiring Business Manager in our next issue.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

This issue of "The Free Lance" has been sent to you even though you may not previously have been a subscriber. It is your duty to become a subscriber, since this magazine is the only one published by the student body, all classes having equal voice in its management. The subscription price—$1.00 per year—is within the reach of all. Unless a written refusal is mailed to us or dropped into the box in "The Free Lance" office before October 25th, you will be considered a regular subscriber.

*H. C. GLENWRIGHT, } Bus. Mgr's.
L. E. YOUNG, }*

"The Free Lance" offers a prize of Five Dollars for the best original story of over 2000 words submitted by a student, other than a member of the Staff, to the Editor before November 25th.

The three Senior Editors will judge the relative merits of the stories submitted, the right being reserved to reject any or all of them.

"The Free Lance" offers a prize of Five Dollars for the best scientific article written upon any popular subject of the day, which shall be submitted by a student to the Editor before November 25th.

The three Senior Editors will appoint a committee of three Professors, who will judge the relative merits of the articles submitted, the right however being reserved by the Editors to reject any or all of them.