

Russell scholar in History, 1896. He obtained the degree of M. A. at Harvard in 1897, taking highest honors in History and Government. In 1899 he received at Harvard the degree of Ph. D., and was Assistant Professor of History and Government at that institution 1898-1899.

Dr. Trenholme was awarded the Harris Fellowship in 1899 and spent the following year studying in England and on the continent. On returning to this country he was appointed Professor of English and History in the Western University at London, Ont., 1900-01.

Although feeling the loss of Prof. Becker, we believe that in Dr. Trenholme the Faculty have secured a strong man and that in his department there will be a constant growth and progress.

PROF. J. Q. ADAMS.

The English department, already strong, has been still further strengthened by the acquisition of the services of a new instructor, Prof. J. Q. Adams.

Prof. Adams was born at Utica, Mich., Feb. 10, 1872. He graduated at the Utica High school in 1890, from whence he entered the Literary department of the University of Michigan in Oct., 1890. After his graduation from the University in 1894 Prof. Adams engaged in business for one year. In '95 he entered the Law department of the University of Michigan and graduated in 1898: before his graduation from the Law school he was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court of Michigan.

Since 1898 Prof. Adams has spent his time in traveling and in teaching. As teacher he has held the following positions: Oratory, Central University of Kentucky, Richmond, Ky.; Instructor in Oratory, University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn. During the last summer Prof. Adams was assistant to Prof. T. C. Livelblood, the Professor of Oratory at the University of Michigan.
