

THE HONESDALE CITIZEN : THURSDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 10, 1908.

THE CITIZEN

H. WILSON, Editors and Publishers.

THURSDAY MORNING, SEPT. 10, 1908.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

NATIONAL
FOR PRESIDENT.
W. HOWARD TAFT, of Ohio.

FOR THE PRESIDENT,
JAMES E. SHERMAN, of New York.

FOR ELECTOR AT LARGE
MORRIS L. CLOTHIER, of Philadelphia.
BENJAMIN F. JONES, Jr., of Pittsfield.
FOR DIRECTOR ELECTORS.

Dir.
1-John Durt	17-W. S. Settle
2-H. A. Davis	18-W. F. McLean
3-H. C. Chisholm	19-C. G. Stineham
4-E. A. Gamble	20-Thomases Shulley
5-E. W. Larson	21-W. P. McLean
6-E. W. Larson	22-W. F. McLean
7-C. H. Sted	23-J. T. Horner
8-J. H. Abbott	24-Judge J. T. Farley
9-J. H. Abbott	25-Judge J. T. Farley
10-J. H. Abbott	26-Herman Simon
11-J. L. Newell	27-T. T. Johnson
12-J. L. Newell	28-J. L. Ross
13-A. H. Miller	29-O. C. Shultz
14-W. T. McNamee	30-C. A. Baldwin
15-J. T. Walker, Jr.	31-H. L. Whisman

STATE.
FOR JUDGE OF SUPERIOR COURT.
WM. D. PORTER, of Allentown.

DISTRICT.

FOR CONGRESS,
CHARLES C. PRATT, of Scranton.

COUNTRY.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE,
W. E. PERINIAN, of Mount Pleasant.

FOR SECRETARY.

M. LEE BREKMAN, of Honesdale.

FOR PROPHETICANT, ETC.

WALLACE J. BARNES, of Berlin.
FOR BROTHERS AND BROTHERS,
ALFRED O. BLAKE, of Bethany.

FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONERS,

J. K. BORNHECK, of Eddystone,
THOMAS C. MADDEN, of Ivie.

FOR COUNTY AUDITORS,

ARTHUR W. LARABEE, of Scranton,
W. BROOK LESHER, of Sterling.

FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY,

MYRON E. SIMONS, of Honesdale.

Election Tuesday, November 4, 1908.

The Coming Election in Maine.

The State election in Maine will be held next Monday. Unlike the Vermont State elections, however, it is not to be regarded as in any substantial sense an indication of the result of the Presidential election to be held in November.

When the Republican majority at the Vermont State election in September has fallen below 25,000, the Republicans can hardly be said to have been defeated in the following November. This has happened twice—in 1884 and 1892, and on both occasions Grover Cleveland was elected President. In Maine, there has been no such sequence between State and Presidential elections. In September, 1890, the Republicans lost the Governorship by 189, but in November Garfield was elected President, and carried the State by a plurality of 5,886 over Hayes, who had a plurality of 4,225 over all opponents. In 1894, Hayes was elected the Governor by a plurality of 19,851, but Cleveland was elected President. In 1900, a Republican was elected Governor by a plurality of 12,521, but in November Cleveland was again elected President.

For the past four years, the State elections in Maine have been largely affected by the question of Prohibition. In 1904, Cobb, Republican, was elected Governor by a plurality of 36,800, with a Legislature having a Republican majority of 23 in the Senate and 39 in the House. In 1905, the Legislature passed the "Sturgis law," for the enforcement of the constitutional prohibition of the sale of liquor. The operation of this law gave much dissatisfaction, and in 1906, while Cobb was re-elected, his plurality was only 7,968, and the Republican majority in the Legislature was cut down to 15 in the Senate and 25 in the House. In 1907 the Legislature repealed the Sturgis law, but the repeal bill was vetoed by Governor Cobb. An unsuccessful effort was also made for the re-submission to the people of the question of prohibition.

This year the question of resubmission is a direct issue. The Republicans State Convention declared against it, and in favor of prohibition, while the Democratic Convention decided for resubmission and for the repeal of the Sturgis law.

The candidates for Governor are:

Clinton T. U. T. U. are contending for a trip to Hawley to attend the convention.

Many improvements are street lamps and a good school.

Albert Beebe who recently returned from the Philippine Islands is now a teacher in the public schools in Boston.

Nothing is known about the little fair cross having been gathered. But soon more buildings will be erected.

Clinton.

NOTICE.—The Clinton Center Baptist Church has been improved by being repapered, which work was done in a very satisfactory manner by Messrs. Herms and Associates, of Cambridge.

The high school was closed last Monday evening by visiting her grandmother in Connecticut, and from there will go to the West Chester State Normal School.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hector came home from Port Jervis to visit their mother, who was very ill. On their arrival here they found that she had just gone to Port Jervis, so they made each other happy.

Clinton. Mrs. Oliver of Scranton visited him last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spry both have the grip of severe colds.

Mrs. Wheeler is expected to entertain the Society on the 16th inst. It has been arranged for the meeting to be held at the Hotel Penn.

The W. T. U. are continuing a much-needed improvement in street lamps and a good school.

Albert Beebe who recently returned from the Philippine Islands is now a teacher in the public schools in Boston.

Nothing is known about the little fair cross having been gathered. But soon more buildings will be erected.

Clinton.

NOTICE.—A notice given in the columns of the "Daily Advertiser" on Sept. 10, 1908, states that the subject of the trust of $100,000 will stand at the hands of John H. T. T. U. on the 1st day of October, 1908, from the 2d to the 4th of October, 1908, for the purpose of recovering the money and rights of the trust.

John H. T. T. U. is the son of Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.

Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.

Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.

Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.

Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.

Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.

Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.

Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.

Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.

Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.

Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.

Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.

Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.

Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.

Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.

Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.

Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.

Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.

Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.

Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.

Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.

Dr. Francis A. Smith, who was a son of Dr. Francis Joseph Smith (father and grandfather of Z. B. A. Smith) and wife, born in Brussels, and came to this country with his father in 1777, when his father became an American army man. He married in 1801, becoming a druggist and physician and marrying Margaret Tracy. Their daughter was Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, at one time a tavern keeper in New York City, and died at sea.

Elizabeth, wife of Dr. George Wells, died at sea.